Ice Fishing program offers land-based learning for Indigenous children

Selkirk Onashiwin Aboriginal Head Start Program helps preserve traditional knowledge

By Kaitlin Vitt

A group of children and their families were out on the frozen Red River. Some kids are chasing each other, and some are building a snow fort. A few are snowshoeing, while others are roasting wieners and bannock over a fire.

But the real reason they were there is to learn how to ice fish.

The Selkirk Onashiwin Aboriginal-

Head Start Program received funding through the Public Health Agency of Canada and Cabela's to put on a weekly ice fishing program, which started Jan. 9.

"Traditional knowledge has been lost, and we are trying to bring that back to families in order for them to embrace their cultural heritage," said program coordinator Kathy Duncan.

Thanks to the funding, the Head

Start Program has purchased supplies such as ice fishing shelters, portable heaters, fishing rods, an ice auger and other tools required for ice fishing.

"Our goal is to incorporate [a] land-based curriculum, providing and retaining culturally relevant education, which has the capacity of empowering our children by developing their own connections with the land and nature," Duncan said.

Two fishing facilitators, Trevor Rundle and Seth McMahon, helped launch and implement the weekly fishing program. Each week, they set up the fishing area by putting up the shelters, drilling holes, and getting the rods ready for when the kids arrive.

Rundle's daughter and McMahon's sister went through the Head Start Program,

"With both having such a strong previous connection to Head Start, it feels like we have come full circle with their involvement back in the program," Duncan said.

Most of the kids taking part haven't been ice fishing before, so the facilitators show the kids fishing tips and tricks, like how to bait a hook. They also talk about what kind of fish are in the river. And, while in the shelters, people share stories.

"We want to instill a love of culture when it comes to fishing," Duncan said. "We want [the children] to be excited when they know it's a fishing day."

The Onashiwini Aboriginal Head Start Program is a school readiness program for Indigenous three and four-year-old children. The program is funded by the Public Health Agency of Canada and sponsored by the Selkirk Friendship Centre. There is no cost to families, besides putting in volunteer hours.

Onashiwini means to mentor and guide in Ojibway. Through the Head Start Program, children take part in cultural activities, such as Indigenous drumming, powwow lessons and fiddle lessons.

The families of the Head Start children have the opportunity to take part in activities as well, such as the fishing program.

Duncan said parents, grandparents, siblings, aunts and other family members have been joining the three and four-year-olds on the ice. The response from families has been positive.

"It's about the whole family and enjoying a good quality children's activity," she said.

Reading is Sweet at Ruth Hooker School

Aaron's No Frills provides I Love to Read month treat to Ruth Hooker School students

By Katelyn Boulanger

Ruth Hooker School students have extra incentive to power through the pages this I Love to Read Month. In addition to other fun activities, Aaron's No Frills has agreed to donate treats to the local students, but to get those treats the students have to read as much as they can.

Tracy Merkel, librarian at Ruth Hooker School is one of the educators involved with this and other I Love to Read Month activities this month. She says that thanks to a committed school community and committee, this month is packed with many extra reading activities for kids to enjoy.

"We have kindergartners and grade sixes mixed up in our school [for our nest activities]. We divide them all into groups, and then we go into different spaces and then we have the older ones interacting with the younger ones. We had bannock with books were we had two teachers bake bannock and we also had the mayor come in and just do a walk about," said Merkel.

All of these activities involve reading and promoting literacy within the school community, whether it's making an enjoyable atmosphere with a special snack, having students share their love of reading with each other or having a well known person in the community like Mayor Larry Johannson show students that he feels reading and literacy is important.

Merkel feels that events like this are important because they let the students know that it's not just their teachers who value literacy.

"The kids see that other people in our community [feel that] reading is important and that the people you look up to, like the different guests that come in as guest readers, [are taking time out of their days for this]. It's a life skill that they are going to use outside of school and after school," she said.

Some other guest speakers that are coming to the school this month are some Selkirk Steelers, LSSD Superintendent Jerret Long, Councillor Lorie Fiddler with Chuck the Channel Catfish, Selkirk RCMP Officer Paul Human, and some members of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

"[For the Bomber players' visit] We're going to read two stories, one each for 15 minutes. We're going to have questions and answers after. It's pretty exciting for our community," said Merkel.

With all the fun, students will be enjoying many books this month, but it can't always be fun, sometimes the students need a serious challenge. That's where Aaron Hoium from No Frills has stepped in. He has issued a challenge to the students to fill the school's 'candy shop' with pictures of candies they get every time they read. If enough candies are earned to fill the shop then the students will get a sweet treat.

"For the younger ones, they can read books, and then for each book they fill in a paper candy, they colour in the spots on it. Then for the older kids, they can read for 10 minutes and then they can colour them in," said Merkel.

She says that she can already see students in the school reading more. Though as educators they are promoting literacy all year round, I Love to Read Month gives them a chance to emphasize it even more.

"During the winter, when you have to be inside a lot of the time anyways it gives the kids something to do. It really brings the community of our school together," she said.

Mapleton School hosts Ace Burpee for I Love to Read Month

Kids enjoy afternoon of fun with radio host

By Katelyn Boulanger

The teachers at Mapleton School know the secret to teaching their students how fun reading can be; invite Ace Burpee to your school for your I Love to Read Month kickoff event.

Ace Burpee made the stop at the school last week to share his book, The Beaver Book, to let kids know that reading is important and to have some fun.

"I love learning things. I like reading. One of my favourite things is reading about animals. I love learning about animals, I find it so interesting. I love reading about people. I love reading about sports. I love reading about the world and other places. I just love reading," said Burpee at the event.

He also let the students know that you don't have to be the best reader to enjoy reading books.

"Reading is awesome. Learning things is awesome. It doesn't matter if you're a slow reader. When I was little I kept reading the same book over and over and over again and then eventually I went on to other books. It's all cool. It's all good. No pressure," said

Burpee.

After chatting about reading, Burpee read The Beaver Book, which was created out of his song called, The Beaver Song. The book talks about the many things that beavers do and proceeds raised from its sale go towards building new outdoor enclosures for Wildlife Haven's Beavers.

The event was upbeat, with the reading of the story being used as a way to get the students talking. Students went on tangents about kittens, squirrels, and what their houses would be made of if, like beavers, their houses were made out of their favourite foods. There was even a running race at one point all thanks to the sharing of the story.

At the end of the event Burpee left a copy of his book for the school's library along with a copy of Is Something Wrong with Weasel? by Thom Van Dyke and co-authored by Connor Hellebuyck from the Winnipeg Jets.

The school's librarian, Tennille Frost, says that the students were very excited about the event.

"All you heard this morning in the hallways was 'Ace Burpee's coming today. Ace Burpee is coming today.' It was so cute," she said

She feels that it's important to have events like this to let the students know that everyone in the community supports them in their learning and improving their reading.

"It makes them want to read and they should be happy about reading and excited about reading. So, it's important to show that we promote literacy and people in the community support literacy," said Frost.

She hopes that the students enjoy this in-person event.

"After the years we've had I just hope it's fun for them. It's nice to bring these things back to schools," said Frost.

Volunteers gather supplies for 250 Easter baskets for kids

Initiative supports ‘families and children in a time when they’re not remembered’

By Kaitlin Vitt

A team of volunteers is spreading Easter cheer by putting together Easter baskets for children who might not otherwise receive them.

Tanya Pilat, who lives in West St. Paul, and other Discovery Toys representatives are collecting donations to provide more than 250 Easter baskets for children and families staying in Dignity House Inc., Ronald McDonald House and women’s shelters in Manitoba, including Nova House in Selkirk.

“It’s one of those things where we don’t want [children] to be forgotten when other kids are receiving special treats and being celebrated and having those happy memories as a child,” said Pilat.

This is a company-wide initiative for the toy company Discovery Toys. Throughout North America, representatives of Discovery Toys select charities that are meaningful to them and offer support through the Easter basket project.

“It’s a way to help families and children in a time when they’re not remembered, in a sense. Everyone thinks about children at Christmas, and they donate to lots of hampers, but there are other meaningful events that come around throughout the season and throughout the year,” Pilat said.

“We need to celebrate [Christmas], but there are other moments when kids need to be kids and have those fun moments.”

Each basket includes toys, treats and toiletries for children ages one to 16. Because the anticipated numbers of required baskets can change overnight, Pilat says her team gives extra items for emergency intakes as well as to help stock birthday cupboards at the charities.

Since the initiative started in 2015, Pilat said the volunteers have assembled more than 1,200 Easter baskets for charities in Manitoba.

“It’s a lot of work, but it’s such a blessing,” she said. “We get those little notes from shelters after about how they’ve touched specifically someone. It’s very meaningful to us.”

Last year, Pilat’s team received a letter from Dignity House, which provides transitional housing and a recovery program. One woman who was at Dignity House said that the Easter basket program allowed her to connect with her kids in a new way.

“She was so excited to be able to bring an Easter basket to her kids last year. It opened up a conversation, and they had an hour-long dialogue and interaction with the kids,” Pilat said. “You hear those stories, and it makes you realize how meaningful such a small act of kindness is.”

WHO declares COVID an ongoing public health emergency

By Patricia Barrett

Ten more people in Manitoba died from COVID, according to the provincial government's respiratory surveillance report for the period Jan. 22-28 (reporting Week 4). There were 15 deaths reported the previous week.

There were 11 new hospitalizations for COVID in Week 4, with two people admitted to the intensive care unit. The previous week's report showed 10 new hospitalizations with four people admitted to the ICU.

There were 62 new cases of COVID reported in Week 4, a slight decrease from the 59 new cases reported the week before. Provincial data are an undercount of the true number of infections as the government restricts PCR testing and rapid antigen test results aren't tracked.

Despite a decline in new COVID cases, the surveillance report says wastewater data for Winnipeg and Brandon show "sustained" activity.

The government no longer provides in its surveillance reports the names of hospitals and personal care homes experiencing COVID outbreaks.

Manitoba's COVID death toll was 2,418 as of Jan. 21, according to the federal government's COVID webpage. Canada's death toll now stands at 50,380.

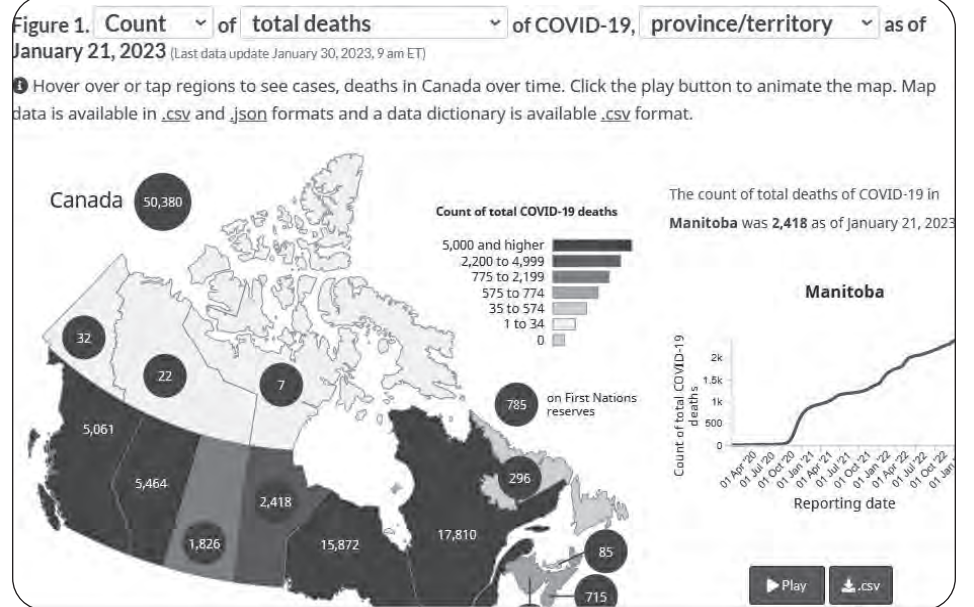

Influenza cases continue to decline. There were nine new cases of influenza A and one case of influenza B reported in Week 4. There were 10 new influenza A cases and zero influenza B reported the previous week.

One person needed hospitalization for influenza in Week 4, but no deaths were reported. There were 18 new hospitalizations the previous week, along with two deaths.

There were 76 respiratory syncytial virus (RSV) cases reported in Week 4, down from the 105 reported the week before.

Other health news:

-The RSV outbreak declared by the Interlake-Eastern Regional Health Authority (IERHA) on Jan. 18 at the Ashern PCH and the gastrointestinal outbreak declared on Jan. 31 at the Betel PCH continue, according to the IERHA's outbreak page (viewed Feb. 5).

-The Eriksdale hospital's ER will be open on Mondays this month, according to a joint notice from IERHA and provincial Shared Health. Outpatient X-ray is available on Mondays and on Thursdays, and lab and ECG services are available Monday to Friday.

The Arborg hospital's ER is available for six out of 15 days during the period Feb. 1-15, either on a 24-7 basis or for 10 hours, according to the IERHA's online ER schedule. The schedule is subject to change.

The World Health Organization released a statement Jan. 30, saying COVID continues to pose a worldwide public health emergency. The statement comes after the receipt of a report from the WHO's International Health Regulations Emergency Committee.

"The WHO Director-General concurs with the advice offered by the Committee regarding the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic and determines that the event continues to constitute a public health emergency of international concern (PHEIC)," says the statement.

The past eight weeks have seen over 170,000 new COVID-related deaths, underscoring the continuing threat the virus poses. Health-care systems are still under pressure and virus surveillance has dropped off.

"While the world is in a better position than it was during the peak of the Omicron transmission one year ago, more than 170,000 COVID-19-related deaths have been reported globally within the last eight weeks," says the statement. "In addition, surveillance and genetic sequencing have declined globally, making it more difficult to track known variants and detect new ones. Health systems are currently struggling with COVID-19 and caring for patients with influenza and respiratory syncytial virus (RSV), health workforce shortages, and fatigued health workers."

-The WHO's epidemiological update for the period Jan. 16-22 shows nearly 1.9 million new COVID cases and over 12,000 new deaths were reported globally over that seven-day period.

Selkirk to experience an evening with William Prince

Holiday Alley has invited Juno Award winning singer-songwriter William Prince to Selkirk... and he said yes taken his music around the world. In the last year, he's performed on stages from England to Nashville and in every corner of Canada.

Since his Juno Award win in 2017, Prince's momentum has continued to build, with each new album adding depth and dimension to an exceptional body of work that has received international acclaim. From national network television appearances, top tier media coverage, and performances at The Grand Ole Opry, and at major international festivals, William Prince has become one of Canada's most respected and celebrated songwriters.

Holiday Alley has provided a stage for hundreds of local acts in its six years but this is the first year it has attracted a headliner of international renown like William Prince. It's a welcome opportunity to fundraise for Holiday Alley's festival of art, lights, sound, culture and creativity hosted in November every year.

"When we launched in 2017, Holiday Alley was Selkirk's platform to celebrate and showcase local arts and culture. But we've grown. And so has Selkirk's appetite for great music and outstanding performers. We want to continue to promote our city as a destination for artists and audiences. What better way to do this than presenting William Prince, live and in concert," said Shirley Muir, Holiday Alley Co-Founder.

There are only 200 tickets on sale for this rare intimate evening with William Prince. The event takes place at 7 p.m. on March 3 at Christ Church, 227 McLean Avenue, Selkirk. Tickets go on sale on February 10th, and can be found <https://holidayalleywilliamprince.eventbrite.ca>.

Wonderfully wintry Gimli Harbour Trail pulls visitors; surprise features coming

By Patricia Barrett

The Gimli Chamber of Commerce's Destination Brand Committee celebrated the opening of the Gimli Harbour Trail, which has already seen skaters and other winter sports fans take to the ice in droves to enjoy its twists and turns and Mother Nature's reasonable temperatures.

The roughly one-kilometre-long trail on Lake Winnipeg opened Jan. 15 and includes three ice rinks. The big rink has already been completed. A little rink and crokicurl (a hybrid game of curling and the board game Crokinole) rink are in the process of being built.

The ice trail, which is protected by the harbour's walls, snakes past berths, runs along the Namao research vessel that's moored in the harbour and includes a warm-up shack by the big rink and hay bales. It's part of the area's winter village, which encompasses all the entertainment offered on the lake. There are also land trails through quiet forests for skiers, snowshoers and hikers.

The chamber's Destination Brand committee chair Cheryl Buhler said the committee is partnering with the Gimli Community Development Corporation (CDC), the RM of Gimli, the Gimli Ice Festival committee and other stakeholders to bring the winter village and all it entails to Gimli.

"We all know Gimli is a wonderful place to spend the summer at the lake, as well as in the lake, and we want everyone to know it's an amazing all-year-round destination," said Buhler, who owns the Robin's Donuts coffee shop in town and is past co-chair of the chamber. "There's so much to see, experience and enjoy during the winter season on the lake that you simply don't want to miss. There's ice fishing day or night, skating on a lighted trail on one of the largest lakes in Canada, skiing on groomed trails, playing crokicurl, shopping at local boutiques and so much more."

The mystery box will be transformed into something wonderfully wintry to delight visitors.

The Destination Brand Committee creates tourism opportunities, helping to make Gimli a first-choice destination for visitors from across the province and beyond.

An ice road from Goldfield Drive by the library leads out to the fish huts (fiski kofi in Icelandic) on the lake and includes several culs-de sac so that you can find the "perfect ice-fishing neighborhood," said Buhler. There are plenty of huts for rent seven days a week, including heated overnight fishing campers available from Stringer Rentals.

Visitors enjoying ice and snow sports in Gimli have plenty of restaurants and coffee shops to choose from when they get the nibbles, and boutiques and other stores for those seeking a little retail therapy.

Going forward, Buhler said there will be a number of "reveals" springing up along the skating trail and near the harbour. The top fun features are top secret for now, but they're guaranteed to brighten up and entertain visitors.

"Every week we're going to unveil different features," she said.

The Gimli CDC and the Gimli Ice Festival will be helping maintain the ice trails and the rinks.

Stony Mountain ice tower a sight to see

By Autumn Fehr

It's a bird. It's a plane. It's an ice tower.

Located two miles east of Stony Mountain, the ice tower is a new take on a traditional rock climb. This winter, the tower is bigger and better than last year.

In early winter 2022, with the help of friends who were also climbers, Ryan Munro put up two hydro poles, then he started flooding water over it once temperatures were -20 C and below.

This was critical, as if you flood over when it's warmer, you just get a giant skating rink at the bottom.

In previous years, the Munro family had a 22-foot-tall tower in their backyard with only two sides. This year, they got a good deal on hydro poles, so they decided to make it bigger and better by expanding to four sides. The 35-foot tower has three hydro poles in a triangle with 8-foot sections in between each pole. They flooded the front and back two sides so climbers could climb inside. People can climb any path up, even on the aretes. Each side is a different level of difficulty.

Ice axes and crampons are attached to your boots to climb up the ice tower. They are like spikes on the bottom that stick out the front to sink into the ice as you kick your feet in, to stand up as you climb.

The climber wears a harness attached to a rope that goes through anchors at the top. The other end is attached to the belayer's harness using a belay device on the ground that feeds the rope through so they can pull up the rope as the climber climbs to make the fall safe, and not so long if they were to fall. Many safety checks are involved, and you must trust your partner before climbing on.

There are various boots and harnesses in women's and men's sizes to use on location.

The ice climb is not open to the public. Ryan and his wife, Brittany Munro, are very involved in rock climbing outside in the spring and fall, so the ice climb is a way to keep up their endurance training for the warmer months. However, with the magnitude of the climb, it's not an activity meant for everyone.

The climb can be quite physically demanding for beginners, but it is fun, said Brittany Munro.

Aside from the couple, they have only had others climb the tower who understand the risks and have previous climbing experience.

The ice climb is free of charge to try. Anyone can view it anytime from the road. Those interested in trying the ice tower climb can reach out to Brittany at brittany.munro39@gmail.com.

Located two miles east of Stony Mountain, the ice tower is a new take on a traditional rock climb. The ice tower is not open to the public but is available to try by appointment only – it is available most evenings. The activity is free of charge, with gear available in various sizes.

Free provincial park entry for month of February

Enjoy winter by exploring provincial parks

Submitted by the Manitoba government

The Manitoba government will once again offer free park entry for the entire month of February so Manitobans and visitors can take advantage of the many winter activities available in provincial parks, Environment, Climate and Parks Minister Jeff Wharton announced.

"In Manitoba's provincial parks, winter is a season worth celebrating," said Wharton. "Our government is pleased to make it easier for Manitobans to participate in invigorating, enjoyable winter experiences surrounded by our province's natural beauty."

Vehicle permits are not required in any provincial park in February, but Snopasses are still required for snowmobiles using trails. Entrance fees still apply in national parks.

Provincial parks have groomed trails for a variety of activities including cross-country skiing, fat biking, snowshoeing and hiking. Paint Lake, Spruce Woods and Turtle Mountain provincial parks also offer outdoor skating areas, hockey rinks and toboggan hills. Hecla/Grindstone Provincial Park has ice-fishing shelters on Lake Winnipeg that are free to use.

Manitobans are encouraged to check trail conditions before visiting parks. Trail maps and updated reports can be found at: https://www.gov.mb.ca/sd/parks/recreation-and-activities/trail_conditions/index.html.

Trail users are reminded to only use trails for designated activities, keep dogs on leash and practise the principles of "Leave No Trace."

Park interpreters in Birds Hill, Spruce Woods and Whiteshell provincial parks offer numerous guided programs to enrich visitor experiences. Highlights for the month of February include wolf howl hikes, snowshoe treks, ski clinics, quinzhee building and ice fishing. Event details and registration information can be found at www.manitobaparks.com.

Teachers can also book free guided field trips to Birds Hill, Spruce Woods and Whiteshell provincial parks, along with virtual programs to bring park interpreters into classrooms.

Annual park vehicle permits will be available for purchase beginning on March 1. To purchase a permit, visit www.manitobaenergycanada.ca.

For more information on winter activities and interpretive programs in provincial parks, email ParkInterpretation@gov.mb.ca or visit www.manitobaparks.com.

Garry Theatre important piece in Selkirk's future

Residents help decide future of historic building

Submitted by the City of Selkirk

There was a time when folks lined up to see the latest movie playing at the Garry Theatre and those lines returned recently when the city engaged the public to hear what they want the storied theatre's future to be.

Some of the lines were actual, with people at the theatre for the open houses during Holiday Alley and some were virtual, with online completion of surveys, but either way, you made it clear the Garry is important to you.

"We were thrilled with the response rate, the impressive number of people who completed the survey," said Jeff Palmer, a community planner with Urban Systems, part of the team responsible for developing the Garry's business plan.

"The City of Selkirk did a great job with promoting everything and the take up of people in the community responding was through the roof and really positive."

The city purchased the Garry Theatre in 2021 with the intention of it becoming a community-run space.

Small single screen theatres have become increasingly unfeasible in recent years and countless numbers have closed their doors across the country. The Garry's previous owner, Landmark Cinemas, accepted that reality and shuttered the Garry, along with three others, in May 2020.

From Day 1 the city's intention was to gauge public opinion on possible future uses for the iconic movie house.

Selkirk CAO Duane Nicol said he has confidence that if there's a desire to reinvent the Garry Theatre, community members will come together with the gusto and enthusiasm needed to create something great.

"Running a theatre is outside of the city's scope of practice. We are truly living our mission statement here by acting as a 'catalyst for partnerships that enhance opportunity and quality of life for all citizens'. We're acting as a hub for the community to come together and envision and take ownership over this asset. What we've seen in our scan is that the most successful projects of this kind are the result of community leadership," said Nicol.

A total of 1,158 people took the survey and their response to the city purchasing the Garry was overwhelmingly positive. Palmer said they were more than pleased with the response, as they had only anticipated receiving between 200 and 300 responses.

Palmer said when a survey moves such a high number of people to participate, it can mean one of two things.

"Usually it means that you feel very strongly about a project - either you love it or hate it. Most often in our line of work, it means you're really opposed to a project. But in this case, it was the complete opposite. It was overwhelming support," Palmer said.

"I don't recall hearing from anyone that they thought buying the theatre was a bad idea. There was very strong support for purchasing the theatre, regardless of what it becomes, so that's good. It was an ambitious move and so we applaud the city for taking that initiative."

Palmer and Urban System's Hillary Beattie even went to the Lord Selkirk Regional Comprehensive Secondary School and brought students in Global Issues Teacher Kevin Lopuck's class into the fray - and they had plenty to say as well.

Vanessa Figus, marketing and communications coordinator with the city, said including young people in future plans is crucial.

"Not only did we engage the community in the form of a survey and the open house; we went to the high school and got the youth involved, because their opinion matters too," Figus said.

Students were also hired to help out at the open house.

Love for the theatre was revealed in the survey which asked respondents for their favourite memory of the Garry.

"Lots of people talked about spending time there with family and friends, popcorn and affordable movies, and it just shows how important the Garry Theatre is to people in Selkirk, which was great to see," Palmer said.

Sixty-two per cent of survey respondents were city residents, 31 per cent said they work in Selkirk, 30 per cent visit regularly and 16 per cent said they used to call Selkirk home. Five per cent own a business and seven per cent checked the 'other' box.

Ellie Longbottom, Selkirk's culture coordinator, said the non-resident response to the survey showed the reach the theatre has.

"The respondents weren't all from Selkirk," Longbottom said.

"They were people who work in Selkirk, who visit here regularly. People from surrounding communities took an interest in doing this survey as well, because Selkirk is a hub, and those people feel the Garry is important too."

The survey revealed that the top three most desired events to be hosted at the theatre were - movies, musical concerts and theatrical performances. The top three amenities were - a stage, licenced bar and dance room/ coffee shop.

Beattie said, among the impressive numbers gleaned from the survey, was the percentage of respondents who were willing to help out at the theatre.

"It was great to see how many people who responded said that they would be willing to volunteer at the theatre in the future in some capacity," Beattie said.

"Almost half of the respondents, 47 per cent, said they would be willing to volunteer either during construction or once the theatre is up and running. That was really remarkable to see."

Urban Systems will now determine the feasibility of all realistic survey suggestions and will present a draft business plan to the city this spring. A second round of public consultation will take place shortly after.

Transfer drained pasta to skillet along with lemon zest and smoked provolone cheese, tossing well to coat. Serve immediately with fresh parsley and Parmesan cheese, if desired.

Ask the Money Lady

Dear Money Lady: I have life insurance and I was considering getting disability and critical illness insurance too. It's a lot more expensive, and I don't know whether I should spend the money on it. I'm self-employed. What do you think? Doug

That's a great question Doug – and my answer is a resounding Yes! I want to share with you a story about a long-time client of mine who was gracious enough to allow me to share it with you. Once you read it, you will see why any type of personal insurance is never quite enough, especially when you are self-employed. Today, income protection (disability insurance) is often overlooked and considered too costly by most Canadians, who often feel they have sufficient insurance with their employer. Instead, most people concentrate on life insurance only; however, it is important to remember that 95 per cent of accidents do not result in a death and you are more apt to be badly hurt, disabled or in some way unable to continue working as you did before.

The story begins with a past client of mine, (we will call him Dr. X) that had a very successful dental practice and after discussing his situation agreed to purchase a guaranteed renewable disability income policy that would give him income protection for his business. Dr. X would always call me and complain about the payments but knew that he had to protect his business income since he was the primary breadwinner in the family. He had four girls and a wife that did not work. Dr. X had a big Honda Goldwing motorcycle that he rode in the summers and decided to join a friend by taking a motorcycle driving course at a local college. The friend was a new driver and was not yet licensed. This course apparently had something for all – promising to provide new driving techniques for already licensed drivers, like Dr. X. So, the two men went to the course one Saturday, however they were not allowed to use their own motorcycles. The school provided learning bikes and Dr. X was given a dirt bike. Well, let's just say that didn't work out well. Dr. X flipped the bike and was badly hurt. He broke four fingers on his right hand and shattered his elbow, ulna, and wrist. With no use of his right hand or arm, Dr. X was forced into retirement at age 51 and thanks to his disability insurance could expect a tax exempted monthly income of $18,600 until he turned 65.

The moral of the story is that you never know what will happen in the future and unfortunately, no one is immune to career change or failure, personal accidents, or financial ruin. Things just happen. Life has a way of taking us on a rollercoaster ride of ups and downs and insurance is there for the "what if's" that we hope never actually materialize. Insurance is costly and I know most Canadians will often make excuses to avoid the added expenses to their already tight budgeted lifestyle. But maybe we shouldn't be so quick to decline it. Those people that live paycheque to paycheque nowadays are especially vulnerable, and could be placed in a very comprising position if they were severely hurt and could not work again. Planning for your future must include planning for possible unexpected events. I know that insurance is expensive however, I have yet to come across someone who got an insurance payout, and said: "I got too much insurance money – take some back." On the contrary, after something happens, they always wish they had more.

Here is an insurance stat to leave you with: one third of Canadians aged 35 or older will suffer a disability lasting at least 6 months before they reach 65. Of those who suffer a disability between age 35 and 65, 50% of them will have the disability for 5 years or more and 30% will be disabled for life. If you want to consider critical illness insurance, remember 2.4 million Canadians are diagnosed with a critical illness every year. Here are the stats: cancer affects 2 out of every 5 people in Canada, 97,000 Canadians will have a heart attack or stroke every year and 58% of critical illness claims come from men with a median age of 54. Remember, it is your responsibility to protect yourself and your family.

Good Luck and Best Wishes,

Money Lady

BACK TO THE BEGINNING of GIMLI SNOWMOBILE CENTRE

Dennis, Sheila and Raymond Vigfusson

In the fall of 1968 Raymond Vigfusson and his brother Gilbert started Vigfusson Bros Ski-doo Sales and Service on Kernstead Road in Winnipeg Beach. Ray did not know at the time, but it would be the beginning of a 54-year business that is still flourishing today. They had acquired the business from Richard Isfeld who owned Rent-A-Boggan in Sandy Hook and Interlake Sports in Winnipeg. Back then the snowmobile business was only seasonal as Ray who was also an electrician by trade, wanted something to keep him busy over the long winters

Ray ran the business from his family home garage in Winnipeg Beach for 17 years after Gilbert left the business in 1970. In 1974 the business name changed to Ray's Electric Ski-doo Sales and Service and was moved to the new family home on Hwy 9 in Winnipeg Beach. It was during this time Raymond's brother-in-law Lorne Magnusson joined him in the business.

By 1985 the business had outgrown the family garage and moved to the location at 109097 Hwy 9 in Gimli and became Gimli Snowmobile Centre. In 1991 son Dennis joined, working along side his parents as wife/mother Lorraine had taken over the bookkeeping for the business from Lorne. In 1996 an addition to the building was essential to continue to have room to grow the business and properly serve their customers.

As well as selling and servicing Ski-doods, Ray and Dennis took on the new Bombardier Sea-doo personal watercraft line up in 1990 and in 1999 the Bombardier ATV line up was added. In 2003 Bombardier became known as BRP (Bombardier Recreational Products) and Sea-doo jet boats were added to the inventory available to purchase from Gimli Snowmobile Ray's first Skidoo that he sold back in 1968 came back to him in 1986 and is proudly displayed inside the new showroom.

Center in 2004. In 2006 the Bombardier ATV was renamed Can-am ATV and in 2011 the Can-am Side by Side line up was taken on as well. The addition of the watercraft and off road vehicles changed the business from one season to year round. Ray retired from electrical work and he and Dennis juggled all that was required to keep up with the increased customers and service work. At this point Dennis decided to center his attention on new machine and parts sales. In 2007 daughter Sheila began working with the family dealership adding to the impeccable customer service experience. Due to the expanding business, additional staff have been hired on throughout the years. Gimli Snowmobile Centre has been very fortunate to have long time, knowledgeable employees who have contributed greatly to the success of the service end of the business as well. To choose to deal with Gimli Snowmobile Centre is choosing an operation that sets the standard when it comes to both customer satisfaction and after sales service. The dealership has been recognized several times by BRP as District dealer of the year and in 2003 won the highest award of National Dealer of the year.

In 2021 Gimli Snowmobile Centre purchased the former Gimli Home Hardware building next door to their shop and have completely renovated it to house their new showroom, clothing, parts and accessories. They also acquired the new Sea-doo Switch pontoon line up which is available now for 2023.

"Our customers have become our good friends and we enjoy having them come back to see us year after year"

There are not too many family-owned businesses who have been around as long as Gimli Snowmobile Centre. If you want to feel important as a customer, head to Gimli Snowmobile Centre for that good old fashioned, friendly neighborhood service you will receive from the entire team at Gimli snowmobile Centre. Call 204-642-7017 or head to www.gimlisnowmobilecentre.ca

Not having a truck or trailer didn't stop an early customer from hauling his new snowmobile home... he simply put in on his car!

Viterra Championships take place this week in Neepawa

By Ty Dilello

The 2023 Viterra Championships will take place in Neepawa this week from Feb. 8-12 at the Yellowhead Arena.

Team Matt Dunstone of the Fort Rouge Curling Club (featuring Gimli's B.J. Neufeld and Colton Lott) will come into the event as the favourite and number one seed.

After curling out of Saskatchewan for the last Olympic cycle, it's Dunstone's first appearance at the Manitoba men's curling championship since 2017. As a junior, Dunstone was a finalist at the Viterra in 2016, losing in the championship game to Mike McEwen.

The revamped Dunstone rink, which also includes former Olympic gold medalist Ryan Harnden throwing lead stones, has had a world-class season as they are currently ranked number two in all of Canada. Out of the nine events that they've played this year, they have reached the playoff round in eight of them. They won a title at Red Deer and Morris, and lost a couple of finals too.

Reid Carruthers and his squad from the Morris Curling Club will enter the event as the number two seed. After booting off third Jason Gunnlaugson from the team before Christmas, Team Carruthers will be curling at the Viterra with only three players.

It should be noted that regardless if they win or lose in Neepawa, both Dunstone and Carruthers will be at the Tim Hortons Brier as either Team Manitoba or a Wild Card.

Rounding out the top five seeds at this week's Viterra Championships are Fort Rouge's Ryan Wiebe, Fort Garry's Corey Chambers and Fort Rouge's Braden Calvert.

The event has been held in Neepawa twice in the past, the most recent being in 2013.

The Viterra Championships is a modified double knockout event that begins Wednesday morning and goes until Sunday afternoon. The first round matchups are as follows:

Joey Witherspoon, Assiniboine Memorial VS (15) Daniel Birchard, Pembina

(1) Reid Carruthers, Morris VS Rob Van Kommer, Carberry

Steelers whip Wolverines twice last weekend

By Brian Bowman

The Selkirk Steelers had a great weekend against the Waywayseecappo Wolverines.

Selkirk won both games of the home-and-home series after an impressive 5-2 win in Waywayseecappo on Saturday evening.

"We played really structured hockey for six periods and got some good goaltending," said Steelers' head coach Hudson Friesen. "We also got some secondary scoring so that was great."

The Steelers trailed 2-1 in the second period but closed out the game with four unanswered goals.

"It was very nice to see. We had a bit of a slow start coming off the bus. Our first period wasn't where we would like it to be," Friesen said. "But then we got back to our game and got our forecheck established. We had a really good shift in the second where we got two goals in about 15 seconds to kind of get us going and we didn't look back from there."

Lucas Brennan continued his stellar play this season with a hat trick. He now has a league-leading 36 goals.

Aidan Anderson and Joel Purdom also scored for Selkirk while Tyson Smith chipped in with three assists and Mathieu Moreira added a pair of helpers.

The Dairy Farmers of Manitoba High School Athlete of the Week is Brennan Feschuk of the Lord Selkirk Royals hockey team.

Feschuk has been a key contributor for the Royals as they ramp up for the playoffs. Throughout January, he had seven points in six games bringing his season total to seven goals and 12 assists for 19 points in 21 games.

"Brennan is a tenacious forward and key contributor to shutting down the opposition in the defensive zone," said Royals' head coach Michael Buffie.

Earlier this year, Feschuk also put in a strong performance on the volleyball court where he helped lead the Royals to a Final Four appearance.

In Grade 12, he maintains a 90 per cent academic average while balancing his time between the volleyball and hockey programs.

Cartier Cormier has been terrific since they were put together.

"They've been awesome. Ever since we threw those guys together, I think it was back in mid-November, and they have been great," Friesen said. "They're one of the top lines in the league when they're going. They all bring a different element to that line."

Kurt Rookes and Ben Roulette scored for the Wolverines.

Joshua Kirton made 29 saves for the win.

On Friday, the Steelers downed the Wolverines 4-1 in Selkirk.

Ethan Brown led Selkirk with a pair of second-period goals, which included a shorthanded marker.

Owen Johnston and Cameron Hibbert also tallied for the Steelers.

Sean Williams replied with a third-period goal for the Wolverines.

With the two wins, Selkirk now has a 16-23-3-1 record and 36 points to occupy sixth place in the seven-team MGEU East Division.

The Steelers are just one point back of the Winnipeg Blues with two games in hand heading into this week's action.

But Selkirk is 10 points behind the Niverville Nighthawks for the fourth and final playoff spot in the division.

Selkirk played the Portage Terriers on Tuesday but no score was available.

The Steelers will host the Steinbach Pistons on Saturday (7:30 p.m.) and then play the Winnipeg Freeze at the Scotiabank hockey for all centre Sunday (6 p.m.).

In off-ice news, Cormier was selected as the MJHL's Chevrolet Rookie of the Month for January.

He scored six goals and collected 13 points in eight games.

Fishermen remain in first place with win over Lundar

Staff

The Selkirk Fishermen remain in first place after a much-needed win over the Lundar Falcons on Sunday afternoon.

Selkirk doubled Lundar 4-2 in Capital Region Junior Hockey League action at the Recreation Complex.

The Fishermen battled back from a 2-0 second-period deficit.

The Falcons' Ryan Benson scored in the first period and then Riley Zdan made it 2-0 with a power-play marker in the second.

Peyton Moneyas had a great game for the Fishermen, scoring three goals and adding an assist.

He started the comeback in the second with a goal and then Kasen Andrushko struck with the man advantage in the third to tie the score at 2-2.

Moneyas netted a power-play goal about six minutes later and then he added an empty-net goal with Falcons' goaltender Jordan Armstrong pulled for an extra attacker.

Selkirk played the St. Malo Warriors this past Tuesday but no score was available.

The Fishermen had 65 points heading into that game, six ahead of second-place St. Malo.

The Fishermen will visit the Arborg Ice Dawgs Saturday (7:30 p.m.) and the North Winnipeg Satellites next Tuesday (8 p.m.).

In off-ice news, Selkirk had three players named CRJHL all stars.

Forward Jordan Donald, goaltender Owen Derewianchuk, and defensemen Cale Jonski each were selected.

Donald, the Fishermen captain, has scored 18 goals and 15 assists in 22 games while Cale Jonski has one goal to go with 21 assists.

Derewianchuk has a record of 10 wins, one loss, a tie, and an overtime loss.

He also has a league-leading six shutouts, a 0.84 goals-against average, and a .965 save percentage.

Skoryk sensational in win over SJR

By Brian Bowman

Kayla Skoryk had a game she will never, ever forget last Thursday.

Skoryk scored three late goals - including the game winner just 13 seconds in overtime - to lift the Selkirk Royals to a wild 4-3 comeback victory over the St. John's Ravenscourt Eagles in Manitoba Women's High School Hockey League action.

"She played well the whole game. She got three goals in a matter of three minutes to get the win for us," said Royals' head coach Todd Cook.

Selkirk trailed 2-0 in the third period before mounting the impressive comeback.

After a scoreless first period, the Eagles' Heidi

Blahy and Kate Steiman tallied in the second.

Selkirk's Serena Reeb cut that lead in half with a power-play goal in the third (she had three points in the game) but SJR's Nina Bowes converted on a penalty shot with four minutes remaining in the third period.

"The one thing with them all year is (our team) never has given up," Cook said. "It was good on them."

That's when Skoryk took over the game. She scored with 2:45 left in the third and then tallied again with just 15 seconds remaining in regulation time to tie the score at 3-3.

Sarah Ernstberger earned the win in goal.

On Friday, Selkirk was defeated 5-1 by the Garden City Fighting Gophers.

Reeb scored a first-period goal for the Royals.

Garden City goals came from Madison Balazovic (two), Alyssa Downing, Hope Nerbas, and Abigail Pott.

Selkirk played the JH Bruns Broncos on Monday but no score was available.

In Winnipeg High School Hockey League action, the Royals edged the Miles Macdonell Buckeyes 3-2 in overtime last Friday at Terry Sawchuk Arena.

Ben Desjarlais scored the game winner in OT.

The Buckeyes' Brendan Melnic, on the power play, and the Royals' Deegan Teixeira traded first-period goals.

Miles Macdonell's Keenan Blackburn (power play) and Selkirk's Andrew Denoon scored in the third.

On Jan. 30, Selkirk doubled the Vincent Massey Trojans 4-2 at the Recreation Complex.

Selkirk's Ryan Cromie snapped a 2-2 third-period tie with a pair of goals.

Mikey Monchak scored a first-period goal for the Royals and then Brennan Feschuk tallied in the second.

Denoon had two assists in the game.

Braeden Lukas and Carson Robertson replied for the Trojans.

Jonny Enns-Demchuk earned the win in goal.

You sang your songs that made us cheer. Tried to tell a story we did not hear. The struggles you had, that we hoped you'd get through; Were heartache for us, because we loved you. You're a son, a father, a brother and more. Losing you seemed to slam that door. It's been a year of pain and one of sorrow, Hoping things will get better, with every tomorrow. Not a second goes by can we believe you're gone. You were humorous, loving and caring. That was our Don.

-May we see you in paradise. Dad and your loving family

OBITUARY

Patrick (Pat) Miles Lee
July 20th, 1957 – January 28th, 2023

It is with great sadness and heavy hearts we announce the passing of our beloved husband, father, brother, uncle, grandpa, and friend. Peacefully but unexpected at the age of 65 with loved ones by his side he was cocooned and given his wings to fly in heaven.

He is survived by his wife Lynn (Gyurek); his daughters Jenna (Cory) Vanlandegham, Kelsey (Mark) Groom, Christa Lee (Skylur); his grandchildren Hailey, Declan, Mason; sister Michal Lee and sister-in-law Annette Lee; as well as his mother-in-law Frances Gyurek; sisters-in-law Wendy Taylor, Sharon (Clayton) Thom, Sheila (Jimmy) Unique, Brenda (Gary Colibaba) Gyurek; his brother-in-law Mark (Carla) Gyurek. He is also survived by many nieces, nephews, and cousins.

He was predeceased by his mother Vernon Levesque and his brother Markum Lee.

Patrick did most of his growing up in Victoria Beach, Manitoba among his many family and friends. His mother took Pat and his siblings to live on many Manitoba reserves as his mother was a school teacher.

He eventually made his way to Regina where he met his wife Lynn and started a family. They had three beautiful daughters. Pat and Lynn made their home in Pense, Saskatchewan in the late 80's where they raised their family.

Pat started his career with QSI Interiors at a very young age. He brought his family to Winnipeg in 2000 to continue his career building his empire with QSI Interiors and leading the Wall and Ceiling industry to new heights. He retired in 2016.

Upon retiring he spent his days at Hillside Beach with his family and friends. He was an active member of the Victoria Beach/Hillside community either volunteering his time, keeping up with family, friends and participating in community interests.

Pat could be found at the nearest golf course, fishing the waves, or curling at the nearest community center. He had a great interest in classic car restoration and car shows.

Patrick Lee was an exceptional man who loved his family and all of those he met. He was the most selfless most caring human being with a big heart. He was humble and kind. He was a hero and a mentor to many. Everywhere Pat went he left a piece of himself and touched hearts all around the globe.

A service will be held to celebrate Patrick's life on Saturday, February 11th, 2023, at 1:00 p.m. at Gilbert Funeral Home, 309 Eveline St, Selkirk, MB. Pat's family requests that you bring a photo in memory of Pat and post it on the board as you walk into the memorial service.

In lieu of flowers, please donate to Manitoba Harvest or K9 Advocates of Manitoba.

OBITUARY

Ronda Truthwaite

Peacefully, with her family at her side, Ronda Truthwaite, aged 63 years of Winnipeg (formerly Lockport), passed away on February 1, 2023 at the Grace Hospital. Ronda lost her short but valiant battle with cancer that was further complicated by her Type 1 Diabetes.

Left to mourn her passing is her husband Greg Helm, her two daughters Amanda (Tom) and Alana (Derrick), her four cherished grandchildren Ainsley, Lorelai, Mason, Kacey and her four-legged little buddy Forrest. She is also survived by her siblings Keri, Jeff (Cindy), and Stuart (Krista); as well as many aunts, uncles, nieces, and nephews which includes Corey who she shared a special bond with. Ronda was predeceased by her parents Ronald and Lorna Truthwaite.

She was born in Selkirk, MB on October 7, 1959 and was raised in Lockport, MB. She loved growing up in the country, spending time with her family, tobogganing, skating on the slough and chasing her beloved dogs around. After graduating from high school in Selkirk, Greg and Ronda moved to Winnipeg to start their family. Ronda worked for the Western Canada Lotteries Corporation for nearly 25 years where she was a dedicated employee. Impressively while being a loving mother, career woman and with little free time to spare, Ronda's drive to improve her business skillset led her to enroll in evening courses at Red River College. Because of her strong work ethic and additional education, she received several promotions and was a supervisor upon early retirement in 1995. Ronda retired due to her declining vision from diabetic complications. The CNIB was invaluable during this difficult time while she learned to navigate her disability. Her resilience always led her to overcome adversity. Several lifelong friends were made during her involvement with the CNIB and Ronda treasured all the times they spent together over the years.

Ronda loved to travel to hot southern destinations, shopping, casino trips, trivia, card games, spa days and talking on the phone for hours with loved ones. She would never pass up an opportunity for a walk either outdoors or at the mall. She loved being in the presence of friends and family whom she valued the most. She had a great sense of humor which ensured there was never a dull moment when she was around.

Her role as Grandma Boo was her most cherished role. She was very hands-on during playtime and was a child at heart. She was always thinking of her grandchildren and knew how to make each of them feel special and loved.

The family would like to express their gratitude for the care and compassion that Dr. Cho, the nurses and the staff on the 4th floor, 5th floor, and ER gave to Mom over the past year at the Grace Hospital.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the CNIB or CancerCare Manitoba. Alternatively, please consider donating blood to Canadian Blood Services who were essential in her fight against cancer.

In keeping with her wishes cremation has taken place and a celebration of her life will be held on Thursday, February 23, 2023 at 2:00 p.m. in the Gilbert Funeral Chapel, Selkirk, MB.

Condolences may be left on her tribute wall at www.gilbertfuneralhome.com

OBITUARY

Hans "Peter" Orlick
April 20, 1946 - February 2, 2023

It is with great sadness that we announce the passing of our beloved husband, father and Opa on February 2, 2023 with family by his side, at the Selkirk Regional Health Centre.

Peter is survived by his wife Valerie of 55 years, daughter Kerrie (Jim), sons Peter and Christopher and sister-in-law Lorraine. He is remembered by his dedicated granddaughter Kimberly as well as his other grandchildren Lorne, Darren, Rose, Harly, Kristen, Aliyah, Kyle (Miranda) and Rhianne, and endeared friends Aurora, Paula and Vanessa. Peter is also survived by family members in Germany.

Peter was born in Marburg, Germany and moved to Winnipeg as a child. He completed the drafting program at Tec Voc and went to work for Crippen Acres while attending U of M to complete courses in design and technology. He moved to Toronto and worked for Ontario Hydro for only a few years before returning to Manitoba. He worked at Atomic Energy of Canada in Pinawa where he and Valerie raised their family. In the late 1980's the family moved to Beausejour. After Peter left work at AECL he continued doing design work privately right up until his last days.

Peter had a zest for life and was always busy. He loved the outdoors, hiking, canoeing, skiing, fishing, golfing, playing baseball and especially pickle ball. He was a big fan of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers football. In his younger years he played the violin with the Winnipeg Symphony Orchestra. He loved music of all kinds, often dancing and singing along to a favorite tune with volume cranked up loud. He enjoyed painting, photography, history and stamp collecting. Peter had a great sense of humour and never took life too seriously. He loved to travel and he and Valerie made their winter home in both Texas and Mexico where they met many new friends. In the summertime Peter enjoyed sitting around a camp fire with music and a drink or two.

Peter was always involved in the community. He was involved with the Beausejour/Brokenhead Recreation Commission and volunteered at the Splash pool. He helped at the Manitoba Games and the Players Cup and was nominated for the Premier's Volunteer Service Award. Peter had a passionate involvement with Habitat for Humanity for years and helped to design and build homes for families in the community. He was on several committees in his condo building and rarely turned down a Whist or Bingo game, a coffee date or a potluck dinner. Peter will be missed by the many people he met throughout his life.

Thank you to everyone at Cancer Care and the Selkirk Regional Health Centre especially the caring staff on Medicine 1 during his last days. In lieu of flowers donations can be made in Peter's memory to Habitat for Humanity Selkirk Chapter.

Cremation has already taken place. In accordance with Peter's wishes and his love of warm weather, a celebration of life will be held in the summertime.

Friends and family are invited to visit Peter's memorial page at www.interlakecremation.ca, where memories and condolences may be shared.

OBITUARY

Evelyn Francis Epps
January 12, 1923 - January 30, 2023

We are sad to announce the passing of our mother, grandmother, and great-grandmother at the Selkirk Regional Health Centre after a brief illness. Family gathered to celebrate her 100th birthday a few weeks before on January 12. She was able to enjoy the visit and well wishes of all.

Born in Hepburn, Saskatchewan, she moved to Selkirk with her family in 1954. With husband Rodger they ran Epps Dry Cleaners for 21 years. She was always a working mother and held positions as seamstress, home care worker, and ceramics teacher. She volunteered in her church and became president of the Selkirk General Hospital Auxiliary.

In the last century she witnessed the dust bowl, the great depression, the visit of a king and a queen, the second world war, the inventions of the computer and the internet. She was well known for her roast beef and Yorkshire pudding when family gathered around her table. A basketball and bowling champion. An artist and quilter. Her extended family were her passion and source of pride.

She was predeceased by husband Rodger, sons-in-law Brian Eastman and Lorne Heshka, and great-grandson Massimo Arquilla.

She is survived by children Joan Heshka, Janice (Wesely) Pearson, Jacquelyn Eastman, John (Lynne) Epps, Jennifer (Kevin) Little, and Jodi (Marie) Epps. She will be missed by 19 grandchildren and 21 great-grandchildren.

The family is grateful to the staff of the Winnipeg Health Sciences Centre and the Selkirk Regional Health Centre for the superb care they provided. Medical and palliative care staff in Selkirk made sure her stay with them was comfortable and accommodated her many visitors.

A celebration of Evelyn's life is planned for the summer.

Memorial donations may be made to the Selkirk Regional Health Centre.
