MMIWG2S+ event brings focus to healing on National Day of Action

Our community's advocates come together on Oct. 4

By Katelyn Boulanger

Emphasizing the need for healing and awareness the National Day of Action for MMIWG2S+ event at the Gaynor Family Regional Library last week showcased the many people in our community that won't let the missing and murdered be forgotten.

The event was called Ziibaaska'iganan Ga Gii Ge Shimoon or Jingle Dress Healing Dance and in addition to the dancing featured drums, a sacred fire, and discussions about the ways in which we as a community need to both heal and do more so that fewer people join the list of murdered and missing Índigenous women, girls and two-spirit people which is already too long. The event started with Scabe/Fire Keeper Grey Wolf who explained the meaning behind the scared fire and how to offer tobacco to the fire.

"My job is to be sure that this is taken care of properly. So, nobody gets hurt as we walk out of here. As we see what goes on, we want to understand. As a Scabe, we do a lot of work to make sure that this line of work is our traditional way of life. A lot of this was taken away from us and we're fighting that back to get our spirit back," said Wolf.

Tammy Wolfe, co-chair of the MB MMIW2S+ Coalition then explained that Oct. 4 is both the provincial day of awareness and education and the National Day of Action for missing and murdered Indigenous women, girls, two-spirit, and gender-diverse people before the opening prayer.

Jaime Grasby provided the opening prayer explaining that by coming together today the memory of our ancestors will not be forgotten.

Grasby then explained that tobacco

On Sept. 30, at 5:30 p.m., Selkirk RCMP received a report of a stranded boat out on Hardmans Lakes, located on the south shore of Lake Winnipeg. The two boaters (81, 59), who were out fishing, advised police that their boat had run aground on a sand dune and they were unable to free themselves.

With daylight quickly fading, two vessels, one from the Selkirk RCMP Detachment and the other from the RCMP Marine unit, were launched in an effort to locate the stranded vessel.

The stranded boaters could only say they were somewhere north of the Netley boat launch when their cell phone died.

RCMP contacted the Matlock Fire Department for assistance who provided additional vessels and volunteers to support in the search.

After 6 hours of searching, the stranded boaters were located and safely brought back to shore.

RCMP would like to remind the public for their safety that the minimum safety equipment requirements for a motorized craft, no greater than 6 metres (19'8") in length, are the following:

- An appropriately sized Canadian-approved personal flotation device or life jacket for each person on board
- A buoyant heaving line (15 metres in length)
- Manual propelling device or anchor with at least 15 metres of rope, cable or chain
- Bailer or hand pump
- Sound-signalling device
- Navigation lights if the craft is used between sunset and sunrise, or during periods of reduced visibility, i.e. mist and rain

- A class 5BC fire extinguisher for any craft equipped with an inboard motor or fixed fuel tank
- A waterproof flashlight or 3 Canadian-approved flares (Type A, B or C flares)
- A vessel license if your craft is outfitted, even temporarily with any motor of 10 hp (7.5kW) or more

was the first medicine given to the First Nations people by the Creator and the significance of tobacco ties as part of prayer and ceremony. Participants were then given the chance to offer tobacco ties to the sacred fire.

Wolfe then spoke about her story of her mother's death 20 years ago and how that loss has affected her entire life and will continue to affect her future

Jocelyn White, the granddaughter of the creator of the jingle dress dance Maggie White, then led the way from the scared fire to the amphitheatre shaped sculptural mural, Manidoonsag Imaa Mikinaako-Minisiing Sacred Spirits Of Turtle Island where the rest of the ceremony took place.

Jeannie White Bird co-chair of the MB MMIW2S+ Coalition welcomed the group and thanked them for taking part in this ceremony. She then explained how the Manidoonsag Imaa Mikinaako-Minisiing Sacred Spirits Of Turtle Island came together and some of the many teachings that have been incorporated into it in order to honour MMIW2S+ people. This mural acknowledges their loss as well as ways that healing takes place in our local Indigenous culture.

After her teaching, she asked that

White be given the space to dance on her own around the circle of the amphitheatre as the jingle dress dance originated as a healing dance.

Lorie Fiddler, representing the City of Selkirk then said a few words. "Over the decades, there's been such a national tragedy. I think all of these events really lend to making a difference and taking action. Seeing everybody here today, it sheds a light, and it tells us we want justice, we want action, we want closure, and we want it to stop."

Speaker Courtney Bear then spoke about her direct experience of her family losing her aunt Kimberly Clarke to violence. She spoke of the trauma of that experience and how it affects not just their past but that the grief is now part of their lives.

"The grief and the sorrow have affected my family. It has everlasting effects," said Bear.

She emphasized that there is a lack of support for the families of the MMIŴG2S+ community.

"I have questions that are still unanswered. How is that possible? We as a family have been re-victimized and had to deal with all that," she said.

She went on to explain that aspects of the justice system such as parole hearings bring all of the grief back and that support for the families is greatly lacking.

"What about our victims? What about our families? What about our healing plans? What about the support?" said Bear.

Attendees then participated in a

The event ended with a walk from the library to the Selkirk Friendship Centre where a meal was shared.

Manitoba releases second respiratory virus update

Vaccination important for high risk group

Submitted by the government of Manitoba

Manitoba Health advises that the first shipments of updated COVID-19 and seasonal flu vaccines are now being sent throughout the province, beginning with high-priority locations such as personal care homes and hospitals. It is expected these vaccines will begin to be more widely available to members of the public in the next few weeks, though some sites may have stock earlier than others.

People can begin accessing the updated flu and COVID-19 vaccines as soon as they are available. The online vaccine finder at www.gov.mb.ca/ covid19/vaccine.html#finder will be updated with new locations and clinic details as they are submitted to the province. There are many ways people can access their vaccines, either by booking directly with a pharmacy or medical clinic, using the online booking tool at https://patient.petal-health.com/login?groupId=6032, calling 1-844-MAN-VACC (1-844-626-8222) or by looking for upcoming community vaccine clinics.

An advertising campaign encouraging Manitobans to stay on track with their vaccinations will launch province-wide shortly. Manitoba Health has also created a central online resource at www.manitoba.ca/protect-MB to help people find information about COVID-19, seasonal flu and pneumococcal vaccines, including how to book.

The updated Moderna vaccine is currently being distributed to vaccine sites. More COVID-19 vaccines will continue to arrive over the coming weeks to ensure sufficient supply for all Manitobans who want to be immunized.

The respiratory virus season last year affected many younger children. Public health strongly recommends the seasonal flu vaccine for children aged six months to under five years old. Vaccination against both COV-ID-19 and seasonal flu is particularly important for people at higher risk of severe outcomes including:

- adults 65 years of age or older;
- residents of long-term care homes or other congregate living settings;
- individuals with underlying medical conditions that place them at higher risk;
- individuals who are pregnant or breastfeeding;
- individuals in or from First Nations, Métis and Inuit communities:
- members of racialized and other equity-deserving communities; and
- people who provide essential community services.

More detailed lists of people at risk from COVID-19 and seasonal flu are available at www.gov.mb.ca/covid19/vaccine.html and www.gov. mb.ca/health/flu/index.html. People who have questions about COV-ID-19 or seasonal flu immunizations should speak with their health-care provider or call Health Links-Info Santé at 1-888-315-9257 (toll-free) or 204-788-8200.

Public health officials would like to remind Manitobans it is safe and effective to receive more than one vaccine at a time.

There are many ways Manitobans can protect themselves, their families and the community during the upcoming respiratory virus season including:

- choosing to be immunized against COVID-19 and the flu;
- staying home when you're sick,

until you feel better and no longer have a fever;

- choosing to wear a mask as an extra layer of protection;
- washing your hands or using hand sanitizer regularly;
- covering your coughs and sneezes; and
- regularly cleaning and disinfecting shared surfaces and objects.

Rapid tests and PCR testing are only recommended for people who are at high risk for serious outcomes as they need to know if they have COVID-19 to receive treatment options such as antivirals. Treatment must be started within days of symptoms appearing, so it is important to know if you are eligible and seek testing as soon as possible. For more information about accessing treatment, speak with your health-care provider or call Health Links-Info Santé.

Rapid test kits continue to be available at no cost at many locations across the province. For more information about testing, including an online map of locations where rapid tests may be available, visit: www. gov.mb.ca/covid19/testing.html.

Supports and resources continue to be available for people with long COVID. If you continue to have CO-VID-19 symptoms, including fatigue, shortness of breath or brain fog, more than three months after being sick, visit https://sharedhealthmb.ca/ long-covid for more information or contact your health-care provider. It is important to note that PCR or rapid test results are not required for a person to be diagnosed with long COVID or to be referred for follow-up care.

A weekly epidemiology update on COVID-19 and seasonal flu is posted every Friday at www.gov.mb.ca/ health/publichealth/surveillance/ influenza/index.html.

Selkirk talks truth and reconciliation and harm reduction

MHRN hosts event discussing ways that Truth and Reconciliation and harm reduction can come together in our community

By Katelyn Boulanger

On Sept. 29 The Manitoba Harm Reduction Network (MHRN) teamed up with knowledgeable panelists to present a conversation about the ways in which harm reduction efforts and Truth and Reconciliation can work together to create a safer community.

"We'll talk about the connections between harm reduction, and reconciliation. We'll talk a little bit about what reconciliation is, and to me a huge part of the reconciliation is action,' said Tristan Dreilich, Network Coordinator Selkirk, for the MHRN at the opening of the event.

The panelists who fielded questions and gave their expert opinions were Chelsea Grove who is an advocate, community mobilizer and frontline harm reductionist, Jen Meixner an assistant professor and social worker and Jeannie White Bird a knowledge keeper and community mobilizer.

However, before the questions started flowing, White Bird led the discussion with a teaching.

She first shared her story of being taken from her family as part of the 60s Scoop. This left her disconnected from her culture and to regain that knowledge she as an adult immersed herself in traditional teachings.

She then spoke about tobacco and its story of disconnection from tradition.

"This is our traditional tobacco," said White Bird raising the tobacco plant she was holding. "It was manipulated and became toxic and poisonous," she said holding up a package of cigarettes. "The spirit was attempted to be removed by marketing by the government manipulating it," White bird explained.

However, she ended her teaching by speaking about how we can go back to using tobacco as medicine as it was originally intended and encouraged those wanting to participate in reconciliation to grow it.

After the teaching the questions started and Dreilich opened up by asking about the connections between harm reduction and reconciliation and where to begin.

Grove spoke about her story and how reconciling and helping others is something that is very difficult to start

"I think that we need to remember, that the intention is centered in action, and acknowledging the truth, not just the truth of what happened as something that's happened in the past but that's something that continues to happen. The truth and the realities that we live with today, because there are people that are struggling today and we have to acknowledge the truth in that in order to move forward. Harm reduction is another one of those concepts again, that to me it's philosophy, it's a way of thinking, it can be a framework, but there has to be action to that, as well," said Meixner.

White Bird agreed with Meixner voicing some ways that we can make change. She suggested that approaching all of our political candidates toexplain the importance of harm reduction as a start but also address the underlying causes of addiction such as poverty, hopelessness, racism, and discrimination.

The second question set to the panel was what role does community have in harm reduction and what role does community have in reconciliation?

Grove opened the answers by talking about the need for safe non-judgmental spaces on a community level.

"When I was doing supply distribution, as an example, I had people coming all the time to pick up supplies because they didn't want to go downtown. That office is a pretty cool, not judgmental place but some people don't want to go into that building because of the way they think it looks."

Meixner believes that we need to start by acknowledging our roles in our community - how we might be benefitting or perpetuating systemic problems - and then we need to take responsibility for our community.

"When you believe that your neighbour's wellbeing is your responsibility because we're connected because we're in the same community, you have an investment interest in that community. Everybody is healthy and that's your responsibility and that's your role," she said.

White Bird spoke about recognizing where we are and what tools we have. She said that sometimes substances are being used by people as a tool to get them through and that people need to understand that substance use is sometimes how people stay alive. Having a community that is understanding and doesn't give up on people is important.

to step up [and work on] to imagine a better place for all of us?"

As a final question, Dreilich turned to the future asking, "What does reconciliation and harm reduction need White Bird started by saying it was

10 The Selkirk Record Thursday, October 12, 2023 Selkirk Tire owners retiring, business becoming Fountain Tire

By Patricia Barrett

After decades of going the distance for their customers, the owners of Selkirk Tire have retired and sold the business to a partner of a large Canadian auto service company.

Mark and Sue Medock sold their business to Fountain Tire and celebrated the transition with the new owner a few weeks ago.

Selkirk Tire earned loyal customers from across the Interlake and has the distinction of being the oldest independently owned Goodyear dealer in western Canada. After 30 years of owning Selkirk Tire, Sue said their retirement is "super sentimental" and they're going to miss their staff and all the customers who have become like family.

"We have amazing staff. We have some staff that have been with us since the beginning. It's hard to leave now when everything is working like a well-oiled machine," she said. "We're friends with most of our customers; they become your friends."

Mark said he has mixed feelings about retiring as Selkirk Tire has been a staple in town for so long, and they've created long-lasting relationships with three generations of customers.

"Selkirk Tire has been operating for 60 years. Everybody knows the business and our family. We've developed three generations of customers over the years," he said.

Mark's dad, Michael, founded Selkirk Tire in 1964 after he moved from Teulon where he owned a trucking business. There was no tire shop in Selkirk at that time and he became one of the first select dealers (in Manitoba) for Goodyear, an American company that offers a full range of tires for cars and trucks.

Mark took over Selkirk Tire in 1990 after his dad retired, he and Sue went on to purchase the business in 1993. They took it forward, diversifying by offering automotive repair and servicing and seasonal tire storage. With a reputation for honesty and reliability, they earned a large customer base across the Triple S region – Selkirk, St. Andrews and St. Clements – as well as other communities throughout the Interlake.

"I grew up in the shop and pretty much did tires for most of my life," said Mark. "I moved to Calgary to learn the business in another city and worked for a big tire company out there for about two years. Then I moved back to Selkirk to take over the business."

His best piece of advice regarding tires shouldn't come as any surprise to Manitobans.

"My best advice is to buy good winter tires. All season tires don't cut it in this climate," said Mark. "And you get what you pay for because there are so many cheap [inferior] products out there."

The couple said some of the highlights over the years include Selkirk Tire celebrating 50 years in the community, getting to ride in Goodyear's Blimp, and attending Goodyear's annual conventions, which not only furthered their knowledge of the tire business, but also provided them with great entertainment from the likes of Tony Bennet, Huey Lewis and the News, Jerry Seinfeld, Tim McGraw and Faith Hill.

"We always found the convention very motivating. We would attend classes and learn about the new products and services and the things we could do. That always re-energized us and motivated us every year," said Sue. "And they had amazing entertainment."

Having lived in Selkirk their whole lives, the Medocks said their involvement in the community and their support for community events was as important to them as it had been for Mark's dad. They would take part in events such as the Fair and Rodeo Parade and the Highland Gathering, support minor hockey including purchasing jackets for the kids, support the Huntington's Ride, golf tournaments, Lobsterfest and the local food bank, to mention a few.

Some of the challenges they faced over the years included building up the business even though Mark's dad was a "well known and honest businessman," maintaining staffing with cyclical tire seasons, especially during the winter season, which was incredibly busy and accounted for almost half their annual business.

When big box stores such as Canadian Tire and Walmart moved into Selkirk, the Medocks said they thought they'd pose a challenge to their business. They actually boosted their business.

"In the end they helped us. They drew more people to Selkirk for shopping. We became more of a shopping hub for Interlake residents," said Sue. "And when Walmart came, it stopped people from going to Winnipeg for shopping."

Fountain Tire, which was founded in Alberta, is a Canadian auto service centre that focuses on tires but also offers vehicle repairs and servicing. It has centres across central and western Canada.

Casey Cook, manager and owner of the Warman Road Fountain Tire in Winnipeg is taking over Selkirk Tire, said the Medocks. And there's an agreement to keep their existing staff on the roster.

"We connected with him well and we heard very good things about him. He's well respected," said Sue. "Part of our negotiations with Fountain Tire buying our business was that they were prepared to keep our staff. That was huge for us because we didn't want to tell them, "You'll have no job tomorrow.' That would have been devastating."

The other plus is that Fountain Tire is a Goodyear dealer and the transition will be smooth as the staff already knows that end of the business.

As for the future of the Medock's retirement and with Mark's history as a professional motocross competitor [off-road motorcycle racing] for about 15 years in his youth, then getting back into it later in life as it was a "pure thrill," Mark confirmed he has no plans to hop on a motorbike during his retirement years. But they did say he and Sue may be driving a sideby-side, doing a bit of travelling, golfing and spending time with friends and family.

Although Selkirk Tire will be taking down its sign, the Medocks said local and Interlake residents and businesses will not be bereft of auto service and the proper traction they need behind the wheel.

"There will still be a tire business here," said Sue. "Fountain Tire is very well known and an amazing employer. I think it'll be good for the town and it'll be good for our staff."

Mark said they appreciate what the community did for them over the decades.

"We'd like to thank the community for their support over the years," he said. "We're going to miss dealing with the next generation coming up."

East Selkirk gets much needed new daycare

Growing community will continue to need more childcare spots

By Katelyn Boulanger

Parents and caregivers in East Selkirk will have some additional childcare options with the opening of the East Selkirk Early Learning Centre on Quarry Road.

"We are very excited to be here today for the grand opening of the East Selkirk Early Learning Centre. On behalf of our board, staff, families and myself, I would like to express our gratitude for being named the operator of this beautiful facility, said Laura Barthelette, director at Hand in Hand Daycare while opening the event.

This new care facility is very needed in the growing St. Clements community as is evident by their current waitlist of over 200 children before the facility has even opened.

"It's an exciting time to be an early childhood educator, the opportunity for growth within the sector is ever increasing and the recognition that families cannot work and our economy cannot grow unless we have trained, qualified and dedicated staff to care for the children is becoming increasingly evident. We have a ways to go yet but I believe the sector is finally on the right path," said Barthelette.

MLA Jeff Wharton then stepped up and acknowledged the importance of frontline staff in facilities like this one.

"This an exciting day for St. Clements and our community. And first of all, I wanted to thank you and all our frontline staff. As we talked about earlier during the tour, it's important and you have the job to ensure our kids are looked after as we continue to grow our economy because we know a lot more families moms, dads and partners are working to ensure that they can continue to meet the affordability challenges that we face today," said Wharton.

Before discussing the history of this facility's construction Mayor Debbie Fiebelkorn said, "We built something beautiful for our children."

She said that the journey towards this facility began in 2021 when the Manitoba government and the federal government signed an agreement to provide affordable $ 10-a-day regulated childcare spaces for children under six years old within five years.

"It's about providing our children with the best possible start in life. This project helps as we're contributing 74 new childcare spaces right here in our community. Our journey began on Sept.13, 2022, when we passed a resolution to provide two acres of service land for this childcare center," said Fiebelkorn.

She described the project as a shining example of what can be done if all levels of government work together.

"It was truly amazing to watch how quickly it was constructed and the quality of the work performed. On behalf of the RM of St. Clements and council, I would like to express my deepest gratitude to everyone who other as more than passersby.

"Seeing me as your relative. Seeing me as an unconditional loving spirit. Because that's really what we came into this world as and that is what we are going to be moving in this world as. That's the way I want to be treated, that's the way I want to be seen and the way I want to continue my relationships," she said

Grove spoke about how she would like to be seen the same way and that the reduction of stigmatization is so important.

"We have to look at our roles and responsibilities. I think that the responsibility needs to live with people who perpetuate and benefit from colonialism, oppression, and all those other things. I think that important for us to start seeing each those systems and individuals that are doing that work, trying to figure out what their roles and responsibilities are, have a lot to learn and can learn a lot from Indigenous ways of knowing. To me when I think about community, reciprocity, kinship, that is harm reduction, like Jeannie said, that's the original harm reduction. And those are things that all people can do. You don't have to be Indigenous to do those things to live your life with love and kinship and reciprocity and all those other things. So, I think that as we walk forward we need to learn from the people with the lived experience, people from the community, and people with those teachings and we need to have the courage to change the way that we do what we do,' concluded Meixner.

12 The Selkirk Record Thursday, October 12, 2023 Climbers fundraise for human trafficking intervention and prevention

Joy Smith Foundation organizes climb up Mount Kilimanjaro

By Kaitlin Vitt

A group of people will climb Mount Kilimanjaro in Tanzania in the new year to raise awareness about human trafficking and to support a fundraising campaign for this issue.

The Joy Smith Foundation, an organization dedicated to the prevention and intervention of human trafficking, is putting on the climb, called Joyful Ascent. Seventy-seven-year-old David Wilson, a long-time supporter of the foundation, is leading the hike. Joyful Ascent will take place February 18 to 27, 2024, with the seven-day hike starting on February 20.

Wilson said participants need to be physically fit to complete the climb. The climb is difficult because it's physically taxing and because of the change in altitude. The group on the Joyful Ascent will take its time up the mountain to ensure people acclimatize and get used to the decreasing oxygen levels.

"It's not going to be a walk in the park," said Wilson. "Each climber, including myself, has to keep in mind we're actually participating in the real act of climbing. Any difficulties that arise, we need to think about the impact [on] a trafficked victim, what they suffer, is first and foremost what needs to be on our minds and how we can slow the spread of trafficking. Because I think it's spreading like wildlife."

Human trafficking involves luring people to exploit them, typically in the sex trade or through forced labour. The Joy Smith Foundation website states human trafficking can be described as modern-day slavery.

Joy Smith began the foundation in 2011 after, as a federal MP representing West St. Paul and East St. Paul, she put forward motion C-153 which put a national action plan in place to combat human trafficking. This bill was voted in unanimously.

Currently, in addition to providing support to survivors of human trafficking all over Canada, the organization delivers community presentations and school programming with a recent presentation being hosted by the Selkirk Rotary Club at the Selkirk Golf & Country Club in March of 2022.

"This issue is something that happens in every community across Canada, and one of the common themes of the 7000-plus cases that we've worked on is people say they just didn't know that this could happen in their community, and they didn't understand how it happened," said Janet Campbell, Joy Smith Foundation president and CEO. "I think one of the biggest steps we can take toward prevention is awareness so that people have real information about how this plays out in their community."

The foundation offers free resources on its website (joysmithfoundation. com) that shares information about human trafficking, including signs to watch out for in possible human trafficking cases.

Signs among youth include a sudden interest in someone several years older than them; new and unexplained clothing, jewelry or gifts; and a sudden change in clothing style or makeup. Those who suspect a human trafficking case can call the confidential Canadian Human Trafficking Hotline at 1-833-900-1010.

The Joy Smith Foundation has worked on over 7,000 cases of human trafficking. The foundation offers a variety of supports, depending on the circumstances of the situation.

"What we look to do is provide help and support for that survivor to be safe and to heal and recover from their ordeal and reintegrate into their family," Campbell said. "The types of supports and services that each survivor gets would be tailored to their needs but is focused on having them reintegrate into their communities."

Each person who participates in the Joyful Ascent climb will hike in tribute to a survivor of human trafficking.

"Joyful Ascent is a symbolic representation of the journey that sex trafficking survivors undertake," states the Joyful Ascent website (joyfulascent.com). "Escaping the sex trade is not a one-time event, but rather a difficult and ongoing effort. It is a journey toward safety, freedom and hope. Joyful Ascent participants hike in solidarity with survivors every step of the way."

The climbers must fund their own travel and accommodation expenses, but the Joy Smith Foundation will support participants with fundraising and sponsorship advice. The goal is for each climber to raise $10,000 for the Joy Smith Foundation's prevention and intervention of human trafficking programming.

People interested in learning more about or signing up for the climb can visit the Joyful Ascent website or contact the Joy Smith Foundation (info@ joysmithfoundation.com or 204-691-2455).

"Human trafficking occurs within a kilometre of where each one of us lives," Wilson said. "We need to raise awareness. We need to have prevention programs, intervention programs, to combat it as much as possible and work along with the law to slow up the tide."

The Selkirk Record Thursday, October 12, 2023 13 Blacksmith art tours North America with support hopefully Holiday Alley

Submitted by Holiday Alley

Two local blacksmiths have taken an old-world trade and turned it into art that is touring North America while continuing to teach a new generation, including folks at Holiday Alley, about the beauty of pounding metal.

This year Matt Jenkins and Karen Rudolph, owners of Cloverdale Forge just outside of Selkirk, negotiated to have Jenkin's 366-Hooks project travel to four U.S. cities including - Tucson, Ariz.; Kearney, Neb.; Rapid City, S.D.; Farmington, Pa. and as well as Fergus, Ont.

In 2016, Jenkins challenged himself to design and forge a different hook for each day of the year which created a total of 366 hooks as it was a leap year. The project started as a personal challenge to get out of a creative rut but ended up as a twelve-month journey of deep exploration into the craft of blacksmithing. When completed the 366 days led to wildly different and creative hooks.

The hooks first went on display in Winnipeg in 2018 and this year the 12-board display went on the road made possible by funders Manitoba Craft Council, the Canadian Council of Arts and the Artist Blacksmith Association of North America.

It's been the long-time dream of Holiday Alley's to bring the 366 Hook project to downtown Selkirk, said festival organizer Jennie O'Keefe.

"It takes some effort and skill to set up the display with shippers, installers and a large venue space to see the hooks in their full glory," said O'Keefe

"It's travelled 5 cities, it seems that local folks in this region should get to see it too and Holiday Alley is the perfect venue if only we had a sponsor to help fund the project," O'Keefe said.

Hooks may seem like odd works of art until you see them for yourself, said Holiday Alley co-founder Shirley Muir

"The first time I saw it I was amazed at the creativity it took to think of a new design every single day for a whole year. It's complete artistry and skill that so few people have and [it was also] created right here in our region," Muir said.

Jenkins and Rudolph have been long-time supporters of Holiday Alley. In its first year, Cloverdale Forge hosted a forging competition on the street -- to see who could make the best soup ladle for the inaugural soup

14 The Selkirk Record Thursday, October 12, 2023 New pumper with latest technology helps Selkirk fight fires smarter

Submitted by the City of Selkirk

Almost everyone has a smartphone in their back pocket and now, the Selkirk Fire Department has what you might call a smart truck in its firefighting arsenal.

The Department's new pumper truck is loaded with technology that makes safety a priority and saves firefighters crucial time in emergency situations. The truck features SAM (Scene Apparatus Manager) technology, an integrated total water flow control system that manages the vehicle's pump, tank, intakes and discharges.

"The truck is designed to be safer. There's more comfort for the firefighters and the handling is way better," said Selkirk Fire Chief Dave Milner.

"This truck has a new SAM unit which means it's more computer controlled than just having basic handles and that makes it easier for the operator to control the water supply in the truck and out of the truck."

Milner says the operator works off a control pad, and the digital system is responsive, saving firefighters crucial time.

"There's more control, it's safer. If there's an issue with the truck or the water supply, the truck will actually stop, it'll switch over automatically to a different water supply instead of the operator having to do it manually, which takes time.

"The person that's running the truck can be on the outside helping others, moving equipment, or changing bottles, doing small things. They don't have to be inside all the time, they can be on the outside and be a quick set of extra hands if needed."

The pumper truck is equipped with a 1,500 gpm (us gallons per minute) pump and has an 800 imperial gallon water tank.

The SAM system was designed by Jason Cerrano, a firefighter and mechanical engineer.

According to Cerrano, the truck itself has the same trusted components from pump to valves to plumbing, but it's overlaid with technology to manage the pumping process for you.

"Every pump operator follows the same basic steps on a fire – put the truck in pump gear, open the tank to pump and circulate water. When you put SAM in pump gear, it just automatically opens the tank to pump and recirculate water. SAM compresses your steps from three to one," Cerrano said.

"We follow the same steps for the rest of pumping fire too. That efficiency is especially crucial when you move to transition water sources and you need to do several things at once, like filling the tank while rebalancing hand lines. Put all this together and you get more time to do work, with less radio traffic in the first few minutes of the fire. A SAM truck is not a different fire truck, it's a better fire truck."

The new pumper will be Engine 16 and replaces Engine 11 from 2001. Engine 11 is still in good shape, but Milner says when you're responding to 300 calls per year, it's important the truck be ergonomic, which results in fewer injuries to firefighters.

Milner says firefighter safety and comfort factor in too, and the passenger seats in the back of the truck can warm firefighters up or cool them down, depending on the situation.

Selkirk Mayor Larry Johannson says the new technology is impressive and the men and women who dedicate themselves to keeping the city safe deserve the best.

"We have a fire department in Selkirk that is second to none and replacing an almost 20-year-old pumper with this new, state of the art unit is what we need to do," he said.

"We don't want our people fighting harder, we want them fighting smarter and this new truck makes that happen. Seconds are precious in a fire situation, and this new truck will let our firefighters do their jobs better."

Kristy Hill, Selkirk's Director of Protective Services says replacing Engine 11 was identified in the City's Capital Asset Management Program and is aligned with the City's Community Strategic Plan which makes having a safe and healthy community and more active management of capital assets a priority.

"Fire trucks are critical pieces of city infrastructure. When they are needed, they simply must work. While a lot of resources go into good operation and maintenance of our fire equipment, timely capital replacement is also required. The replacement of this pumper represents not only an investment into Selkirk's volunteer fire department – but an investment into the security and safety of every citizen of Selkirk," Hill said.

The truck is so impressive that it was featured at the University of Manitoba's Vehicle Technology Centre for its 'This is How We Roll', vehicle and equipment showcase on Sept. 27.

The showcase highlights advanced technology and careers available to

The truck was built by Winnipegbased Fort Garry Industries, originally for meant to showcase new safety features and technology available for those departments looking to design and purchase a firetruck.

Prior to this truck becoming available, the city was already in the process of going through a Request for Proposal for the purchase of a new truck, however, the timeline to build a brand-new truck can vary between 18 and 36 months. Purchasing the demo truck allowed the Selkirk Fire Department to get the truck in just six weeks and greatly reduced the amount of staff time required for this project allowing them to focus on other activities in the city.

"This truck has almost the same requirements as the one we were designing, so it saved us a lot of time in the design phase, and it's the truck we would have designed anyway. It is a demo, but it's a brand-new truck and it was just a six-week wait," Milner said.

16 The Selkirk Record Thursday, October 12, 2023 Arnes was "living in a sewer" as algal bloom moved in, turned Drunken River green

By Patricia Barrett

As a severe algal bloom on Lake Winnipeg made a mess of Winnipeg Beach and Gimli a few weeks ago, a further mass of foul-smelling algae moved in to communities farther north, blanketing the shoreline around Arnes, inundating the Silver Harbour Marina and turning the Drunken River into a bright green slurry.

Arnes resident and Gimli councillor Andy Damm said the bloom started the weekend of Sept. 23-24 and only started dissipating last Wednesday. He and area residents thought they were "living in a sewer" with the noxious smell coming off the lake.

"The algal blooms just started to get progressively worse and didn't dissipate," said Damm. "It back-flowed all the way up the Drunken River [which drains farmland from the west] – probably because the lake was quite high – and also entered the Silver Harbour Marina," said Damm. "At the same time the bloom was happening up here, it started in Gimli as well because I was in touch with people down there."

Phosphorus and nitrogen loading to the lake exacerbate the growth of algae, and the with the fall a little warmer than normal, water temperatures were higher, causing the blooms to "more or less explode in this area," he said.

The algal bloom problem isn't new and it's time for governments to take action to reduce phosphorus (the primary pollutant contributing to algae growth) loading to the 10th largest freshwater lake in the world, as well as address a "multitude" of other pollutants that get piped into the lake, which communities rely on for commercial fishing, drinking water and tourist-related activities, said Damm. Governments are very good at studying issues to death, but they're way past the point of action.

"Scientists and governments have been studying this out here since 1980. That gives you an idea as to how slowly our province is acting," said Damm. "There's a multitude of reasons [algae] happens, but I think the biggest one is the treated and raw sewage coming out of the treatment plants in Winnipeg that go right in the Red and Assiniboine rivers and north into the lake's south basin."

It's well known that Winnipeg's North End Water Pollution Control Centre is not in compliance with phosphorus levels set by the provincial government, and that the government has given the city a pass. In addition to treated wastewater that contains phosphorus and other pollutants which aren't removed by the treatment process, the city's combined sewers send raw sewage directly into rivers. That makes the problem worse as they release additional phosphorus plus bacteria and debris that eventually flow into Lake Winnipeg.

According the City of Winnipeg's untreated sewage webpage, the latest combined sewer overflow (CSO) sent about .03 megalitres of raw sewage into the Assiniboine River starting on Sept. 18 and lasting for approximately six days and eight hours. On Sept. 1, another .03 megalitres poured into the Assiniboine for about three hours and 50 minutes. And on Aug. 15, a further .17 megalitres spilled into the Assiniboine.

About a third of Winnipeg has CSOs, which were designed to prevent the flooding of city basements. There are about 22 combined sewer spills a year on average – at each outfall. The city has 76 outfalls.

In 2017 the provincial Conservative government gave the City of Winnipeg 27 years (until 2045) to reduce its CSOs by 85 per cent.

Damm said he and council have broached water quality issues with Selkirk-Interlake-Eastman MP James Bezan, showing him photos of algae and hoping "we can get some assistance from the federal government going forward."

Canada and the U.S. have worked together on cleaning up Lake Erie, he said, yet residents along Lake Winnipeg are "pushing against our own backyard (Winnipeg)" and against the phosphorus and other pollutants coming up from the U.S. via the Red River.

"On top of that, our own agriculture industry adds to this problem. But the low hanging fruit is the sewer discharge out of Winnipeg," said Damm. "Every time a toilet is flushed down there, we end up with it in our front yards. I'd love to take my garbage and dump it on city hall in Winnipeg every time this happens and see how they appreciate that."

Damm said council would like to send a delegation to Winnipeg council to ask them why they're "sitting on this" when they have money for other infrastructure projects.

"If they had to drink a glass of this water or go swimming or send their grandkids in the lake, I doubt they'd do it," he said.

Gimli and other communities along the lake – including Indigenous communities – rely on commercial fishing, and Damm said he would not like to see a decline in that industry, in the recreational industry and a further decline in wildlife species because the "province can't put laws in to protect this lake and enforce them."

When asked last week if anyone from the provincial department of environment and climate would be testing the water in the Arnes/Silver Harbour area to see if human health could be at risk, a spokesperson for the department said no algae were found.

"Staff from the Department of Environment and Climate have investigated reports of an algal bloom on the west side of Lake Winnipeg. However, no algae have been present to be sampled. This is not unusual as algal blooms can form and then disperse

By Ty Dilello

The Alzheimer Society of Manitoba is back in-person with its annual Care4u Family Conference – a day of learning for family and friends caring for a person living with dementia, which falls on Oct. 28 from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Canad Inns Destination Centre Polo Park in Winnipeg.

This year's conference, 'Building a Community of Empowered Care Partners', will feature local and national health care and community professionals sharing the latest about dementia, caregiving strategies and community resources while encouraging care partners to prioritize their well-being.

During this one-day educational event, an expected over 200 participants can choose from various breakout sessions to help them where they are in their dementia journey. Sessions range from topics such as legal situations, ambiguous loss and grief, medications, transitioning to longterm care and more.

"Our Care4u Conference is a great way for care partners to gather information and resources and bring back tangible strategies that they can use when providing care," said Jennifer Licardo, Education Manager, Alzheimer Society of Manitoba. "Selfcompassion and self-care are so important when you're caring for someone living with dementia, so we hope participants are empowered to take those steps after they leave. The goal is for them to not only feel more prepared in their unique dementia journey but more equipped to navigate through challenges that might come their way and to know they are not alone." Currently, over 18,400 Manitobans have Alzheimer's disease or another form of dementia. This number is growing rapidly and by 2050 it is expected to reach over 39,100. Sixty-two per cent have experienced dementia with a close friend or family member diagnosed with the disease.

To learn more about the conference, its sessions and speakers, and to register, please visit the website at Alzheimer.mb.ca/care4u.

Congratulations, now let's cut taxes

By Cage Haubrich, Canadian Taxpayers Federation, Prairie Director

The Canadian Taxpayers Federation is calling on Manitoba Premier-Designate Wab Kinew to follow through on his promises to provide tax relief after winning the Manitoba Election.

"Kinew needs to immediately follow through on his promised tax relief," said Gage Haubrich, Prairie Director of the CTF. "Manitobans can't afford to wait any longer, so tax relief needs to be Kinew's day-one priority."

During the election campaign, Kinew promised he would cut provincial gas taxes for at least six months.

The provincial government currently charges drivers 14 cents per litre every time they fuel up. The average family filling up a sedan once a week would save about $215 over the six months of promised tax relief.

Kinew also promised to remove the provincial sales tax from new rental housing construction.

A Manitoba family making about $75,000 a year pays $6,925 in provincial taxes. That's $2,802 more than they would pay in Saskatchewan, $4,322 more than in Alberta and $3,907 more than in British Columbia. "Manitobans pay too much tax and it makes life unaffordable," Haubrich said. "Kinew needs to get to work and help keep more money in Manitobans' wallets."

20 The Selkirk Record Thursday, October 12, 2023 MAEC changing lives one diploma at a time

By Becca Myskiw

Syliva Worrell didn't see herself getting her high school diploma when she turned 60, but Midland Adult Education Centre (MAEC) changed that.

When Worrell was coming up to her 60th birthday last year, she knew she needed a new job. She'd been with her company for 26 years, but wanted more — the problem was, she never got her high school diploma, and without it, she wouldn't be able to get a job she wanted.

Worrell had her GED from 40 years prior, but as time goes on, GEDs need updating, and when she called MAEC, principal David Langill convinced her to go the extra mile and graduate high school.

"We have two broad categories of learners that come to us," he said. "Most of the learners are people that just want to finish off their high school credentials...the second learner is people who've graduated but need some upgrades for a college program they're interested in."

Students once needed 30 credits to graduate high school but now, they only need eight courses — four from the Grade 12 level, with two in math and English. Adult learners are also exempt from the Grade 12 provincial exams. Worrell just needed to take Grade 12 math and English to graduate.

"I thought, 'Oh Lord,'" she said. "But David walked me through it."

Worrell took six months to do her math course and another six for English. For the entirety of last year, she was waking up at 4 a.m., doing schoolwork until 6 a.m., doing housework, working out and then going to her job at the gym.

"My goal was to retire from my job when I turned 60," she said. "I turned in my final paper in November when I did."

Worrell used her new diploma to get a job as a support worker with St. Amant. Now, she spends her days at the houses of people with mental disabilities, helping them with whatever they need and taking them to appointments — she's never been happier. Worrell said as long as she stays able, she'll work until she's at least 70.

"Without school I couldn't have done that," she said. "Because if I had a high school diploma was the first thing they asked me. It literally changed my life."

MAEC is completely online, meaning students do the coursework on their own time. Langill said adult learners usually have more responsibilities and hurdles in the way of their education than high school students do. They have families, jobs and life standing in the way.

"It's a completely different kind of celebration than it would be for a traditional high school kid," said Langill. "As an adult learner, you're in a completely insular situation."

So, at MAEC, students learn when it works for them. And they get their diploma on their own time. Andrew Creasy took four years to get his diploma, taking math, science, biology, English and Phys Ed.

Creasy was working full time while he finished Grade 12. What prompted him to go for it was the need for a new, better job, that would allow him to grow. Once he finished high school, Creasy started a welding apprenticeship, and he said without his diploma, he never would have had the opportunity to apply for the job.

Though most students go to MAEC so they can get a better job with higher pay, Magaly Vera went because her high school credentials from Columbia aren't recognized by Manitoba Education — forcing her to start from scratch.

Vera started with MAEC in 2020 and after completing eight courses, she graduated last June. Vera took Essential Math 20S, psychology, World of Religions, English, Essential Math 40S, Apply Info & Comm Tech 1 15F, Phys Ed, and Life/Work Transitioning 40S.

"I was checking online when I found the Midland Adult Education Centre," she said. "I could get my Grade 12 studying online and paying just $35 for a registration fee, so I did it."

To register with MAEC costs $35. While Vera got her diploma here, she was also working a full-time and part-time job and raising her family with her husband.

"It was perfect for me because I didn't have time," she said. "I was so happy when I got my diploma. I had a moment to relax and enjoy my accomplishment."

Vera applied to Brandon School Division in July to work as a casual educational assistant. She just started the job last week and is ecstatic about the opportunity — one she wouldn't have without her diploma.

"Everybody's got a different story, a different place to start," said Langill. "It's just so exciting and so satisfying and so humbling when you see people who worked their way through and are on their way."

MAEC's math and English courses are already full for the 2023/2024 school year, but that doesn't mean people can't still register. There are two other schools in the province (Sunrise Adult Learning Centre and the Louis Riel Institute) who offer online adult learning and Langill will refer anyone wanting to get their diploma to them. To register with MAEC, people have to be at least 19 years old and be out of high school for at least a year.

Test your knowledge about buying local

Buying local is more important than ever before. How much do you know about supporting your regional economy? Here's a fun quiz to test your knowledge.

TRUE OR FALSE

- 1. Buying local is good for the environment.
- 2. Buying local is more time-consuming.
- 3. Buying local empowers your region.
- 4. Buying local is more equitable.
- 5. Buying local is more expensive.

ANSWERS

- True. In addition to reducing transportation and greenhouse gas emissions, local products often require less packaging and therefore generate less waste.
 False. Shopping closer to home
- saves you travel time. You can also find lots of local products online.3. True. When you opt for local
- products and services, you help create and sustain employment in your area. This, in turn, stimulates your local economy, making it more attractive to other businesses and investors.

- 4. True. Buying locally enables you to learn more about the producer's working conditions and support an equitable environment for those who produce the goods and services you consume.
- 5. True and false. Some local products are more expensive to buy, but often last longer. Moreover, you can save money by buying in-season products and taking advantage of promotions.

When people talk about buying local, they often mean purchasing locally made or grown products like food, clothing or home goods from businesses in their area. This is undoubtedly an excellent practice. However, buying local is about more than consumer goods.

Did you know that you can boost your local economy in myriad ways without putting a thing in your physical or virtual shopping cart? Consider these ideas:

- Do business with your local beauty salon, insurance broker or shoe repair shop
- Visit tourist sites and museums near you and attend shows at your local cinema or performance venue
- Advertise your business in your local newspaper rather than getting lost in the internet wilderness
- Attend festivals and other special events taking place in your area
- Use your investment wealth to back local businesses

Every little bit adds up to a robust local economy. Try to spend locally in any way you can.

Breast Cancer support group helps people in Selkirk and area

Survivors and newly diagnosed welcome

By Katelyn Boulanger

The Selkirk and District Breast Cancer Support Group has been a caring collective of people who have breast cancer and who have survived breast cancer. They have been a support system for members who have been there the entire 24 years since the group came together as well as those who have come and gone over the years and with October being breast cancer awareness month they remind residents that they are open to helping regardless of where you are in your breast cancer journey.

"We're a peer support group. We meet monthly and what we do is we share our diagnosis with new members and we get together and try to support one another wherever we're at in our journey with cancer. Hopefully by doing that people will get some benefit from it," said Wendy Mcleary, co-chair of the Selkirk and District Breast Cancer Support Group.

Mcleary and co-founder Tannis Barker started the group in 1999 which was a year after Mcleary herself was diagnosed.

"I was diagnosed on September 9 of 1998 and I had gone to an all-cancer group at the Selkirk hospital. I'd gone for a few sessions and then I'd received a call from the facilitator, and she asked me if I could speak to another lady who has just been newly diagnosed with breast cancer. At the time, I was a little reluctant, because that was only two months into my diagnosis. But I spoke with her, her name was Tannis Barker, and we actually spoke to each other on the phone for a few months. Then we met, and it was in the fall of the next year in 1999 and it was Tannis's idea, she said, 'There's two of us. There's got to be more of us," said Mcleary.

The idea for the support group came about that day and shortly thereafter they put an ad in the paper looking for others and hosted their first meeting in November of 1999.

The way that their meetings work is that they first go around and talk about their lives. These updates can be about their breast cancer journey, but since they also have longmembers who have time been in remission, they can also include personal life updates too.

"A lot of our members are 20 to 30 years cancer-free so it's different [for everyone]. Some are new members, who are just newly diagnosed, of course, they would want to share, what's been going on with them. The older members are there more to support them. So, we go around and then we have a snack. Then we have our business meeting because we do outreach in the community, we do events, and we have celebrations throughout the year. This month is one of them for Breast Cancer Awareness Month," said Mcleary.

This format allows newly diagnosed members to share their stories but also the members who are farther in their journey can talk to them about what life is like even years after diagnosis. For members who have been in remission or farther away from their initial diagnoses, this is a way to give back to our community but also to continue the long-lasting friendships that have developed from this group.

For people who might not feel comfortable going to a meeting or might not have the ability to, the group can also connect you to a member with a similar diagnosis who can give you a call and chat or you can be looped into their newsletter which can keep you up to date with the group.

"Some people just want to receive the newsletter, or they may just come to one or two meetings, and then that's maybe all that they need. Sometimes if they're on a long-term treatment plan, it may not be feasible for them to come. I send out regular emails and we can put them on a group list, and they would receive all our emails so the group keeps them informed on what is going on with the group. Then if they haven't been to our meetings for a long time, they can feel comfortable coming back, because they are connected," she said.

Wellness Check In! Mental Health Week Oct. 1-7

Fitness and Nutrition expert Julie Germaine Coram

By Julie Germaine Coram,

Just checking up on you, because, well... life can be tough for everyone at times. And because this is Mental Health Awareness Week. Not only is the cost of living at all all-time high, but healthy foods and spare time to exercise can be difficult to fit into the budget. We are going through a lot together!

The key word I want you to take away from my sad intro is "together". You are not alone in your struggles. The good news is that there are many ways to interact with others and help yourself cope with circumstances to improve your mental health and overall wellness.

Taking just thirty minutes a day so get moving will release endorphins into your system that will elevate your mood and reduce cortisone stress levels! Glute bands and mini exercise bands are available on my website. If you book a free call with me, I may even end up sending you a freebie ;)

10 Repetitions Each, Repeat 3x Lower Body:

Squats with Band, Step-Ups onto a Stable Chair, Bridge Top Taps, Band Kneeling Glute Kickbacks, Standing Calf Raises Upper Body:

Push-Ups, Chair Dips, Single Arm Pull-Downs using Mini Band, Concentration Curls with Band, Bicycle Crunches with Band

Don't feel like exercising today? No worries – rest days are important! I would suggest soaking in a hot bath and then taking fifteen minutes to stretch out your body, focusing on leaning forward from a standing position to ease back pain and reverse the tension that can occur in your butt and legs from too much sitting. Some simple reverse arm circles and forward neck rolls are super effective to promote better posture.

Proper nutrition is absolutely vital to optimal health, so here are some easy-to-follow tips to boost your energy, help you resist high-calorie temptations, and enhance your quality of sleep.

Drink plenty of water! Sip on sugar-free fluids all throughout the day to help your body function at full capacity.

Ensure your protein intake is adequate. I recommend eating a gram of protein per pound of bodyweight.

Have a bedtime snack. When you are at rest, this is when your body needs calories to perform muscle repair to keep your body healthy! Choose low-carb, high protein options, like non-fat cottage cheese with berries, an egg white omelette, or a chocolate protein shake and a handful of nuts.

Case IH Steiger Quadtrac delivers huge power with 715 HP engine

By Becca Myskiw

It's the most powerful tractor ever produced by Case IH, and a local dealership had the first look of the the Steiger 715 Quadtrac last month.

The new Steiger tractor with more power and speed leads the 2024 Case IH lineup as the machinery manufacturer looks to deliver more purposeful design, technology, and performance. Case IH recently released the Case IH 715 Quad Trac. Rated for 715 lon fuel tank with a hitch lift capacity horse power with a power boost of 778 horse power, the new Steiger 715 is the company's — and Canada's most powerful tractor yet.

Leo's Sales & Service was able to secure the tractor for a couple weeks starting Sept. 12, and in the time it was here, they got it in the field and had local farmers get behind the wheel.

"A lot of farmers had been asking for more power so that's what [Case IH] brought to market," said Jena Stewart, part owner of Leo's.

The Steiger 715 is built with a 16-litre FPT Industrial twin-stage turbine engine and a 16-speed PowerDrive powershift transmission, hitting top speeds of around 43 km/hr. The tractor also has a higher capacity 520-galof 22,250 lb.

According to Case IH global product manager for Steiger, Tom Curley, the new tractor is built for farmers pulling large disk rippers or large high-speed tillage equipment and the company had demand for a tractor that could climb the hills of Western Canada.

"[The farmers] are definitely happy that the manufacturer is listening to what they want," said Stewart. "It was overall a good response."

She said Leo's would have liked to get more farmers behind the wheel of the Steiger 715. For those wanting a chance, it's continuing to be shown across the country.

"For us, it's something that we can now finally offer our customers that they've been looking for and offering," she said.

The powerhouse tractor weighs over 61,000 lb with a maximum weight of 72,000 lb. It has Quadtrac, a four-track undercarriage that increases traction and flotation, with an axle width of 88 inches and a wheelbase of 154 inches. The trac is maneuverable with a turning radius under 22 feet too.

The Steiger 715 is currently on the market and available for farmers to order. Leo's, one of the only familyowned dealerships left in the country, can help anyone with more questions about the machine. To contact the dealership, go to www.leoscaseih. com.

Royals' runners head to MHSAA cross-country provincials

By Brian Bowman

The Selkirk Royals will be sending a strong contingent of athletes to the MHSAA cross-country provincials this Wednesday at the Asessippi Ski Area and Resort.

A total of 23 Selkirk runners will be making the trip.

"It's a big group. We're usually under 20 but a lot of this group was sort of the holdovers from Brandon last year at the outdoor track championships," said Royals' cross-country coach Scott Gurney. "This group loves to be together. They love cheering for each other and supporting each other and competing together. I've got kids this year that are running cross country that were jumpers and sprinters not the kids that I would have picked for a 5k. It's been really great having this group stick together like this and they are just pumped to get to indoor and outdoor track. It's been really nice."

The Royals competed at three KPAC meets this season. Gurney said the Selkirk runners have improved quite a bit during the short season.

"They should feel really good about what they have accomplished and I'm sure that they will run really well (this week)," he said. "It's always fun to go to provincials and you're racing against 200 kids. That's a real adrenaline rush."

Kyle Zorniak and Max Jehle, in particular, have had very good crosscountry seasons.

"They have had a really good season. Both of those guys are first-year finds and I have to count Mrs. Gurney's recruiting skills on this one with these two," Gurney said. "She's found some good ones for us. Max is sort of doubling up with volleyball and he's had a great outdoor season. Third place a couple of times and he's got a talent for this distance running and Kyle is a mountain biker. He's a cyclist and he's got the gears, boy, he can go. He was chomping on the heels of the second-place guy all the way into the chute (last Thursday) and I thought he was going to get him. He just ran up a little short."

Steelers doubled by Flyers on Sunday

By Brian Bowman

The Selkirk Steelers were doubled 4-2 by the Flyers in Winkler on Sunday.

Winkler's Isaiah Peters and Selkirk's Joel Purdom traded first-period goals and then the Flyers went up 4-1 after 40 minutes as Lucas Ens, Tanner George, with a pair, tallied.

The Steelers' Aiden Anderson closed out the scoring in the third.

Selkirk was 1-for7 with the man advantage while Winkler finished 0-5.

On Friday, the Steelers were outstanding in a tight 1-0 win over the Steinbach Pistons at the Selkirk Recreation Complex.

Anderson scored the game winner at 6:55 of the third period.

Noel Olsonawski stopped 32 Steinbach shots for the shutout.

Last Wednesday, the Steelers were downed 3-1 by the Pistons in Steinbach.

Wyatt Mattfield and James Fuchs scored for Steinbach in the first period and then Fuchs tallied early in the second.

Manitoba student-athletes, coaches awarded $22,500 in sport scholarships

Submitted by Sport Manitoba

Sport Manitoba awarded $22,500 in academic scholarships to 14 high school students, eight university students, and six Manitoba coaches.

The awards included the Manitoba Foundation for Sports Scholarships, Sport Manitoba Coaching Bursaries, Fleming Family Hockey Coach Scholarship supported by Jennifer Fleming, and Princess Royal Pan Am Scholarship Endowment Fund.

Awarded a $1,000 university scholarship were Selkirk's Sarah Ekosky (judo, Universite de Saint Boniface) and Annika Goodbrandson (basketball, volleyball University of Winnipeg).

East St. Paul's Shay Edgeworth was awarded a $500 Silvio Sboto Memorial Rural Coach Award.

"For my future career in judo, I plan on continuing to train full-time and compete at national and international level tournaments. After nationals, my goal is to qualify for the national team and compete at the Pan American Championships and Junior World Championship," said Ekosky.

Raiders beat Vics, lose to Hawks

Staff

The Raiders Jr. Hockey Club lost 6-3 to the Charleswood Hawks in Manitoba Major Junior Hockey League action on Sunday afternoon.

It was the Raiders' first loss of the season.

Raiders' goals were scored by Samuel Semchuk, Tyler Kupchak, and Jack Oleksiuk while Cam McDoanld (three), Jeremy Klimchuk, Matt Carlson, and Wylie Garchinski replied for the Hawks.

Last Thursday, the Raiders downed the St. Vital Jr. Victorias 3-2 in overtime.

Oleksiuk scored the game winner in overtime.

St. Vital took a 2-0 first-period lead on goals from Tyler Rubigny and Connor Mitchell (power play).

But the Raiders roared back with a second-period goal by Brody Melsted and then Devon Whiteside tallied in the third.

Owen Savoie made 25 saves for the win.

REGARDING LOCAL IMPROVEMENT PLAN BY-LAW NO. 2023-11 IN THE AREA KNOWN AS HIAWATHA AVENUE, MINNEHAHA AVENUE, KENABEEK STREET, NYE AVENUE, BALDOCK STREET AND EVELYN AVENUE

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given pursuant to Section 318(1) of The Municipal Act that the Council of the Rural Municipality of West St. Paul has scheduled a public hearing at the Access Centre located at 48 Holland Road, in the RM of West St. Paul on the 2nd day of November, 2023 at 6:00pm. Council will hear any person who wishes to make representation, ask questions, or register an objection to the following Local Improvement Plan By-Law No. 2023-11:

Installation of wastewater sewer pipes, lift station and forcemain, including surface restoration in the areas known as Hiawatha Avenue, Minnehaha Avenue, Kenabeek Street, Nye Avenue, Baldock Street and Evelyn Avenue in the RM of West St. Paul. The lift station and forcemain service the Hiawatha Avenue. Minnehaha Avenue. and Kenabeek Street catchment area.

The cost of the project is $6,157,756.00. The Municipality has secured 50% funding from the Manitoba Water Services Board up to $3,600,000.00, estimated to be $3,078,878.00 for the project.

The Municipality will allocate $512,316.63 of provincial funding from the Strategic Infrastructure Basket to the project.

The Municipality will allocate $51,209.39 of interest the Municipality earned from the Manitoba Water Services Board advanced funds to August 31, 2023.

Council is proposing that the Municipal costs of $2,515,352.00 will be funded by borrowing. The terms are 20 years at an estimated interest rate of 7.775% with an annual payment of $251,919.52. The annual payment is to be recovered by a local improvement tax based on a special per parcel rate on each benefiting property. On the basis of the necessary contribution and the estimated rate of interest, the annual charge for each parcel of land is as follows:

Per Parcel Rate Hiawatha Avenue, Minnehaha Avenue, Kenabeek Street

- Cash option of $26,701.35 per parcel, or
- Finance option of $2,674.22 per parcel to be levied annually for 20 vears

Per Parcel Rate Evelyn Avenue, Nye Avenue, Baldock Street

- Cash option of $16,912.41 per parcel, or
- Finance option of $1,693.83 per parcel to be levied annually for 20 years.

A written objection may be filed with the Chief Administrative Officer of the Rural Municipality of West St. Paul, 3550 Main Street, West St. Paul, Manitoba, R4A 5A3 prior to the commencement of the hearing on November 2, 2023. Council will hear any potential taxpayer who wishes to make representation, ask questions or register an objection to the local improvement plan.

All objections, written or verbal, must be filed prior to the adjournment of the hearing and must include the name and address of the person filing the objection, identify the property in respect of which the objection is filed and state the grounds of their objection.

Additional copies of Local Improvement Plan By-Law No. 2023-11 are available at the municipal office at 3550 Main Street, West St. Paul, Manitoba and on the municipal website at: www.weststpaul.com.

Dated at the Rural Municipality of West St. Paul this 12th day of October A.D. 2023, and issued pursuant to Section 318 of The Municipal Act.

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen vour pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Level: Intermediate

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

IN MEMORIAM

John W. Oliver March 21, 1936 - October 18, 2019 Though your smile is gone forever, And your hand we cannot touch: Still we have so many memories. Of the one we loved so much. Your memory is our keepsake. With which will never part; God has you in his keeping, We have you in our hearts.

-Lovingly remembered your wife Wendy and family

There is a link death cannot sever, Love and remembrance last forever.

Michele Meger October 6, 2022 A year ago, you left this world, but your love and memories still live on in our hearts. We miss you dearly, Mom.

On this first anniversary of your passing,

we honour your beautiful soul and the everlasting impact you had on our lives. Not a day goes by without thinking of you Mom.

The moment that you died,

Our hearts were torn into two;

One side filled with heartache,

When the world is fast asleep;

And take a walk down memory lane,

We hold you tightly within our hearts,

The other died with you.

We often lie awake at night,

With tears upon our cheeks.

But missing you is heartache,

Remembering you is easy,

We do it every day;

That never goes away.

And there you will remain;

Until the joyous day arrives,

That we will meet you again.

Mom, we miss you and love you.

It's not goodbye, it's see you later.

OBITUARY

Tributes: www.gilbartfuneralhome.com

Alberta and British Columbia

Greg was born and raised in St. Vital, and at six years old he beat polio with help from the constant care provided by his mother. After high school, Greg enlisted in the United States Marine Corps, referring to it as "something to do" and was assigned to the 7th Naval Construction Regiment as a Seabee. He was sent to Vietnam for a three year tour of duty and returned state side and left with an honourable discharge as a Petty Officer 3. Shortly after discharge, he bought himself a brand new 1969 Camaro Z28.

After returning home, he later met Evelyn's sister while camping at Betula Lake with friends. When shown a picture of Evelyn he was persistent in getting an introduction. They married in 1975 and remained in St. Vital until 1979 when they left the city and moved to Petersfield where Greg built their home and raised their children. In 2022 they moved to Selkirk to be closer to services to help with Greg after suffering a stroke in 2019. Evelyn and Greg were dubbed the "Notebook" couple by the wonderful individuals that helped Evelyn care for Greg after his stroke.

When Greg retired after 26 years at the Royal Canadian Mint, it brought him many home projects in Petersfield. From rebuilding trucks to feeding half the Interlake bird population with the feeders in his yard, he always kept himself busy and happy. He loved to travel across Canada with Ev, Pat, Dave, Dianne, and Don. His happiness grew larger with the birth of his first grandchild Ella Mary Stearns (on his birthday), followed by Monroe Joan McBean, Livia Patricia Stearns, and Maverick Gregory McBean.

Greg had a beautiful and infectious smile, an unforgettable laugh and a love for his family and friends that was immeasurable. He was happiest at home with the sounds of his grandchildren around him, there was nothing that Papa wouldn't do for them.

A heartfelt thank you to all those that assisted with Greg over the years including the staff at Selkirk Regional Health Centre, Dr. Alexander, and especially the staff and team and Centered Care Inc. We are forever grateful for the genuine compassion, comfort and care he received. In lieu of flowers, a donation can be made to the Manitoba Heart and Stroke Foundation in Greg's honour. Cremation has taken place, and private family gathering is scheduled for a later time. Tributes: www.gilbartfuneralhome.com
