Services to Seniors volunteers acknowledged on National Volunteer Week

Richard Perchotte speaks to the caring, compassion, understanding and confidentiality these volunteers show the people they help

By Katelyn Boulanger

Selkirk MLA Richard Perchotte has been on a roll making sure that the many amazing organizations in our community are brought to the attention of the Manitoba Legislature. During National Volunteer Week, he chose to highlight Service to Seniors volunteers in a member statement.

During his speech, Perchotte said that though the volunteers at Services to Seniors are motivated to volunteer for many different reasons, they all have a tremendous impact in Selkirk and the surrounding area.

"In the course of a year, these volunteers help over 3,000 individuals with the services and programs necessary for independent living," he said.

Helen Brosowsky, program manager for Selkirk Services to Seniors, said that they were elated to find out from Perchotte that Selkirk Services to Seniors volunteers were going to be recognized in this way.

"I think they were all very honoured and very humbled," said Brosowsky.

Services to Seniors Selkirk is a nonprofit also known as the Selkirk & District Seniors Resource Council that works with residents in the City of Selkirk and the RMs of St. Andrews and St. Clements to find ways that older adults in our communities can stay safely independently in their own homes.

"We have handy people who do yard work as well as grass cutting and snow removal. We have a Friendly Visitor Program for people who are unable [to get out] or lonely. We have a Lifeline Service through the program, which we have a very active program here. Our staff, we're local and so we handle all of our clients ourselves," said Brosowsky.

This organization has been in our community for decades and is meant to address the gap before people need home care when they are still in their homes but might need a hand here and there.

To do this they have many programs like Meals on Wheels which provides nutritious meals several times a week, and the Handi-Helper program which provides fee-forservice work at reasonable rates for things like housekeeping and home maintenance. They can also help people with the completion of an Emergency Response Information Kit and provide form assistance & resource information.

"The driver escort program. That's one of our biggest programs," said Jayme Anderson, resource coordinator for Selkirk Services to Seniors.

"We will match seniors that are calling in for rides as best we can with a driver. We will get them to medical appointments in Winnipeg. We will them get to medical appointments here within Selkirk. There's such a need for transportation, especially in rural areas. So, it's definitely one of the ones that keeps us very busy."

Anderson says that bridging the gaps in services provided by other programs is important.

"Simple things like keeping a clean space, keeping a healthy space, being able to get in and out of their driveways in the winter time. We have handi-helpers that can come and help do that. A lot of these people might have family but a lot of them might not. We do come across quite a few people that don't have family involvement and they rely heavily on our programs to be able to just stay in their homes and not go into the system. Essentially, with our system, as overwhelmed as it is right now, it's essential for us to be able to keep people in their homes, healthy and as safe as possible," said Anderson.

Brosowsky explained that the program doesn't do for people but does with them. This means that they work with people connecting them to volunteers and contractors who've undergone criminal record checks so that they can get the services that they ask for help with.

Services to Seniors is always welcoming to new volunteers and willing to partner with locals who provide housekeeping and home maintenance fee-for-service work.

As for the future of the organization, they will continue to provide services in our community. Residents should also know that since tax time is just around the corner, Services to Seniors will also act as a referral service connecting people 65 plus with tax professionals, clinics, and senior initiatives including hearing aids, dental plans and many other programs that could be helpful

Brosowsky and Anderson thank Perchotte for recognizing the organization's volunteers and all the good work that they do in the community.

"He definitely put his money where his mouth is recognizing our volunteers," said Brosowsky.

Perchotte for his part was glad to be able to recognize these volunteers who help to make our community a better place.

"It is extremely important to praise the directors, managers, volunteers and supporting organizations that continue to make life better for our 65-plus community. Volunteerism is declining throughout the Province and it is clearly abundant how their gift of time enhances the lives of our seniors," he said.

Selkirk Community Choir teaming up with Fu Fu Chi Choir for Spring Concert

Get ready to experience the Rhythm of Life

By Katelyn Boulanger

Selkirk's Community Choir is back at it bringing their voices together for their Spring Concert. This year it's not just the choir who will be making music on May 26, as they've teamed up with the band the Fu Fu Chi Chi Choir for an unforgettable night of Kendra Obach, Selkirk Community Choir's conductor, who has been leading the group for over ten years explained that the Selkirk Community Choir is a very longstanding group in our community. They are a choir that consists of residents of all ages and this year they will be bringing 40 voices together for their annual show.

There is no auditioning process and anyone can join the choir. This openness to anyone in our community makes for a great show for attendees who want to support the musical talent in our region.

"The power of music is a strong tool for connection and singing is a very intimate yet collaborative art form. That maybe sounds a little cheesy, but that's okay. I think that [the Selkirk Community Choir] is an open and safe space, I think that we work hard, but do it in a way that is fun and inclusive. We're building vocal skills for any ability level and we explore a variety of styles of music," said Obach.

This year the theme of the spring concert is the Rhythm of Life.

"I like to often have a theme connecting stories so the music this year is all looking at aspects of the cycle of life and different moments within it and some stories and connections to that. There will definitely be a few familiar songs that people will be able to hum along to and recognize. There's also probably some new things and some new experiences in there for their listening and learning as an audience members as well," said Obach.

In addition to the Spring performance every year, residents will have likely heard the Selkirk Community Choir's voices ringing in the holiday season during Holiday Alley, at Selkirk's Remembrance Day service and possibly at their Valentine's Coffeehouse series in February.

When they aren't practising for their annual performances the group sings a wide variety of choral music.

"We'll do some familiar pop songs; we'll do some choral classical. We'll explore some world music from different cultures, different languages and connect to the story of each song, which is one of the beautiful things about choral music, is that we have the ability to work and sing with the people around us, but also to use the text to tell the story and connect to an emotion of the music in a different way that instrumental music doesn't always have the opportunity to express," said Obach.

The pandemic was a difficult time for the group who weren't able to sing together in person for a time but Obach explained that the group has rebuilt from that point.

"It is definitely difficult to sing in masks and six feet apart and we did all of that after spending a full year on Zoom, then transitioning back with distance and masks and now we're back into the full normalcy of choir. So, we have definitely felt the rebuild. With that said we have had some new singers come try it and stay," she said.

For people who may be new to attending their annual concerts, the Selkirk Community Choir Concert will take place on May 26 at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church. Tickets the concert starting at 7 p.m. There will also be a 50/50 draw and a reception with cake will also take place.

Obach invites anyone from our area who is interested in choral music to attend the show.

"I think that it will be a lovely celebration of choral music and a beautiful evening of entertainment and if it's ever something that you might be interested in, either in singing or just in supporting the choir come in and listen to a lovely evening of music," she said.

With the spring concert coming, they are closing out their 2023/24 season but they are very open to new singers joining the group next year. "We're always looking to bring in new people and try and reach new community members so that we can provide this safe, wonderful space for anybody who's looking for a musical home," said Obach.

Their 2024/25 season will start on Sept. 10 and residents can reach out to selkirkcommunitychoir@gmail.com for more information.

CRAFT program brings new approach to addiction and mental health

Program helps family members who want to learn more

By Katelyn Boulanger

Addiction and mental health struggles don't just affect the person who is going through them but can also affect the friends and family members of that person. In order to help people find better ways to support their loved ones the Canadian Mental Health Association (CMHA) is looking to host a Community Reinforcement and Family Training (CRAFT) workshop in the Interlake.

"The CRAFT program is for people struggling to understand, particularly if they're living with people with a substance use disorder, or a mental illness. When you're walking on eggshells all the time, not knowing how to respond, what the program does is give you a whole different way to communicate based on more of an adult relationship," said Michael Kurek, firector of Family Programs for the Canadian Mental Health Association Manitoba and Winnipeg.

Kurek explained that when someone starts using substances when they are a teen sometimes their family relationships can get stuck in that space because their emotional life can be affected by the use of substances. He explained that the program helps parents and loved ones of the person experiencing substance use disorder or mental health challenges to create new adult relationships where they can interact instead of react.

The first CRAFT program to take place in our community took place last year in Selkirk and there is now interest in hosting another 6-week session. Residents who would like to take part should contact the CMHA to let them know they are interested in participating and ask to be contacted and when there are enough participants that the program will take place.

Kurek explained that people often will call to take part in the class when they are in crisis but that this class isn't just for those in crisis. Anyone with a loved one experiencing substance use disorder or mental health challenges who would like to learn ways to help can take part.

The CRAFT program was created and developed by Robert J Meyers, Ph.D. and adapted by Kurek for the CMHA and Bruce Oake Recovery

Kurek says that the biggest module in the whole program is the communication module and one part of it that people learn is how to start a positive conversation.

"[In the communication module, participants learn] what they call the sandwich, which is very, very simple. Begin with something positive, state how you genuinely feel, state what you want and at that point, it should just be having the conversation and then ending with something positive," said Kurek.

Overall, the aim of the program is a simple one. To give participants useful tools that make a difference.

There was a family therapist Virginia Satir decades ago she explained that the quickest way to change someone's behaviour is for you to do something different. And, that's exactly what CRAFT does. It teaches people to approach their loved one in a different way and they will get a different response," said Kurek.

Having programs like this is important for those people who are in need in our community and Kurek says that participants who come out of the program learn that they are capable of having healthy interactions with their

"My goal is getting the word out and getting this training to as many people as possible so that more and more this will become a way of life and we'll change our policies and the way we look at addictions and mental health," said Kurek.

If you would like to contact CMHA to ask to be notified when a new session of this program starts, you can go to the CMHA website at https:// www.cmhaacrossmb.ca/aboutcmha/contact-us/ and contact the CMHA Interlake Eastern branch to let them know about your interest.

Kurek strongly encourages residents to reach out if they want to learn more.

"It will change your life for the better," he said.

RRNT joins newly created Tourism Industry Association of Manitoba

Red River North Tourism becomes founding member of new industry group

The Tourism Industry Association of Manitoba (TIAM) celebrated Tourism Week by welcoming 125 participants to their first annual conference and AGM held at the RBC Convention Centre in Winnipeg. One of the founding members of the group was our region's own Red River North Tourism (RRNT).

RRNT joined TIAM last year as a founding member, recognizing the importance of a shared, collective voice promoting the importance of tourism to Manitoba's economy and growth. The RRNT Board felt it was important for RRNT to be a part of forming this grass-roots organization to speak for the broader issues facing businesses and non-profits serving the tourism community.

RRNT plan to share what they learn being a part of this organization with our regional groups and businesses.

"Tourism is a cornerstone of Manitoba's economy," said new TIAM Board Chair, John Gunter of Frontiers North Adventures in a release by TIAM, "We want to thank everyone who came together to celebrate the industry and thank our incredible group of speakers from across Canada. We are ready to tackle the industry's challenges together and bring even more tourists from around the world to enjoy what Manitoba has to offer."

Many tourism operators and businesses continue to recover after the pandemic, but the future looks bright. According to a report by Tourism Economics in June of last year, visitation to Manitoba will meet 2019 levels in 2024, with international visitation recovering by 2026. Visitor spending has already surpassed 2019 levels.

The most recent Statistics Canada data for 2022 shows Manitoba welcomed 8.7 million visitors, who spent just over $1.8 billion throughout the province. The Manitoba Tourism Strategy targets to grow visitor spending to $2.5 billion by 2030. This vital industry was responsible for over 18,000 tourism jobs in Manitoba in 2022, providing valuable opportunities for youth, first-time workers and newcomers to Canada in all regions of the province, with avenues for skill development and career growth.

During the first meeting of the TIAM much discussion was had about linkages between tourism and almost every other economic sector. During that meeting, TIAM also developed a Constitution and an elected Board of Directors. Red River North Tourism is included on that inaugural Board.

"The Tourism Industry Association of Manitoba will be a unified voice for industry," said the new TIAM Board Vice-Chair Shaun Jeffrey, Manitoba Restaurant & Foodservices Association in a release by TIAM, "We have heard from members about what they need to grow and better serve visitors to Manitoba – now we're ready to get

Selkirk emergency department nurse profiled as part of college alumni campaign

Submitted by Interlake-Eastern Regional Health Authority

An emergency department nurse at the Selkirk Regional Health Centre is among 40 Red River College Polytechnic (RRC Polytech) grads being highlighted in a campaign promoting alumni who are working across a wide range of career paths.

Melissa Williams is a registered nurse who started working at the Selkirk Regional Health Centre in 2022 upon graduation from RRC Polytech's bachelor of nursing program. She is currently pictured on a billboard on Selkirk's Main Street across from Dairy Queen.

"The reason I did this campaign was to help with the recruitment of new nurses to our region," said Williams. "I have always been a nurturer and wanted to take care of people. I am also very fascinated by learning about medicine and the human body. My mother was also a nurse so health care is in the family and comes naturally to us."

She wanted to work at the Selkirk Regional Health Centre because it's the regional centre for patient care. When she encounters a nursing colleague who also graduated from RRC Polytech, she says she feels a kinship.

"I am usually impressed with their level of experience and critical thinking skills. I have found most RRC grads to be very well educated and experienced from their previous clinicals," Williams said.

Partnerships with educational institutions and communities are proving valuable in encouraging people to pursue careers in health care and take positions in the Interlake-Eastern Regional Health Authority (RHA).

"Providing training opportunities in Interlake-Eastern RHA and opening our facilities to learners exposes them to our staff, our facilities, our processes and our culture. These are among our best opportunities to attract new staff," said Tanya Cheetham, regional lead acute care, public health and chief nursing officer.

Over the next two months, dozens of billboards will be visible in Winnipeg and Portage la Prairie in addition to the one in Selkirk. Print and online ads are also part of this campaign.

"When we learned of this opportunity to partner with the Polytechnic Proud campaign, we were excited about the timing. We are gearing up to staff the new 30-bed inpatient unit at the Selkirk Regional Health Centre that is scheduled to open this September," said Julene Sawatzky, Interlake-Eastern RHA's lead for human resources.

"Nurses who are new to practice and other people interested in working in Selkirk need to know about the positions that will soon be available in our beautiful health centre. Our and their positive experiences working for us are influential when people are making career choices. We thank Red River College Polytechnic for this opportunity, for their work with us and for generating new nurses who will be graduating very soon in Manitoba.

Williams' gratitude is extended towards the people she has the privilege to care for.

"I find the most rewarding part of my job is when I can make a positive difference for one of my patients," Williams said.

CitizenVoice Relaunched: Participate in the Transit 2.0 Survey Today

Submitted by the City of Selkirk

Having a say in the decisions being made in Selkirk just got a whole lot easier. With CitizenVoice you can weigh in on important issues as they arise.

The city has partnered with QuestionPro to relaunch CitizenVoice, the popular online survey tool where citizens provide input into programming, services and initiatives.

"Creating and maintaining a successful city takes collaboration and that's what CitizenVoice empowers not only citizens to do, but those who care about Selkirk as well," said Vanessa Figus, the city's manager of citizen engagement.

"We're engaging the public to help us make more informed decisions."

To participate, you will first need to register for CitizenVoice and become a panellist. If you have registered previously under the old platform, you will have to sign up again. It's simple and quick to do, just go to www.my-selkirk.ca/citizenvoice.

The city has partnered with QuestionPro to protect your data. Personal info is kept confidential and used for statistical analysis, improving services and making community-focused decisions.

Once registered, panellists will receive an invitation via the email address they used to sign up to complete a new active survey.

First up, the Selkirk Transit Strategy - Transit 2.0 Survey is available now.

The city is looking for input on ways to improve transit services as well as to potentially offer new public transportation options.

The survey includes questions about whether you use transit or not, and how often you use it.

If you don't use transit, there's a question asking what the city could do to encourage you to use it. Some of the options for answers include more frequent pickups, bus stops closer to your home, service later in the evening and service on Sundays.

The city is considering offering ondemand transit service, meaning you can book transit ahead of time or right when you need it using a smartphone app. The survey asks if you would use this service.

Riding the bus is an environmentally friendly and cost-effective way to get around the city and in the survey you'll be asked about several other new ways to travel and if you'd consider using them.

"Exploring innovative transportation solutions is crucial for meeting the evolving needs of our community," said Selkirk Transit Authority's Manager of Transportation Services, Charlene Dunning.

"The survey aims to gather valuable insights on potential new options like e-bike and e-scooter sharing, as well as van or carpooling, to enhance mobility choices for residents."

Selkirk Transit Authority (STA) began operating in 2011 and has provided valuable service to residents since that time. It has given just under 400,000 rides since it first rolled onto city streets and has continued to grow and change with the times.

It started with just two buses that could accommodate 22 riders each. STA now features six buses, one of which is a hybrid.

Selkirk's CAO Duane Nicol says that Transit is a service that has continually evolved to meet the needs of the city, and the survey will help to inform the newest route transit will travel.

"Selkirk Transit has always been a critical service with a vision for the progressive, innovative, and environmentally responsible city Selkirk wanted to be and has become. We're committed to taking it to the next level, and taking the survey through CitizenVoice will allow citizens to help take Transit 2.0 to places we couldn't have imagined when we picked up our first riders in 2011."

Information on CitizenVoice and the Transit survey is available online at www.MySelkirk.ca/CitizenVoice. Those without access to online services can visit the Civic Office Monday-Friday 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. for a paper copy.

The students at École Bonaventure make learning about taking care of our Earth more than just a once a year activity. The school hosts a group called Le club Ecovert weekly and the students participate in projects like collecting drink tabs, watering the plants in the school, cleaning the birdcage as well as feeding and watering the birds, emptying coffee pods for Food Cycling (food scraps are collected by grade 3 and 4 students twice daily from each classroom), taking care of the Green Space, and planting seeds for the plant sale. The staff and students also made an extra effort to bring Earth Day, April 22, information to their learning this past week, they wore Earth Day colours Monday, cleaned the playground and had a poster contest with the theme of 'Planet vs Plastic / La planète contre les plastiques'. Selkirk's Services to Seniors is encouraging residents to participate in the Let No One Be Alone campaign. This campaign goes from May 5 to 11 and encourages residents to connect with someone who lives alone. Connecting can look like a phone call, having a meal together or planning an activity together like baking cookies or running an errand together. There will also be local businesses in our community handing out packets of Forget-me-not seeds in support of the campaign. As you can imagine there was actually no 500 kilometre HD500 snowmobile ride this past winter because of course we didn't really have winter.

What we did have is a group of about 30 big-hearted sled heads who got together to break bread, have some great laughs and most importantly give of themselves for a very necessary cause.... helping fund care for Huntington families and for research. These wonderful folks approached their friends family and other contacts to raise these much needed funds on their pledge forms.

This all could not happen with out our incredible major sponsors: The Jason Sargent Foundation, Waste Connections of Canada and Boyd Autobody and Glass.

We are also sponsored by Westside Powersports, Nopiming Lodge, Home Hardware, The Nopiming Sno-mads and The Selkirk Record. The anticipation of our 12th HD500 ride on February 7th 2025 essentially began a year ago so we will all be very exited to add the ride element back into the equation next year.

New legislation introduced to repeal homegrown cannabis ban

The Manitoba government has introduced amendments to the Liquor, Gaming and Cannabis Control Act that would allow Manitobans aged 19 and over to grow up to four cannabis plants per residence, Justice Minister Matt Wiebe announced last week.

According to Wiebe, Manitoba is adapting to federal laws regarding cannabis and will permit individuals to cultivate up to four plants per household. This alteration directly addresses the desires of Manitoba citizens and fulfills a pledge made during our campaign. The legislation allows for personal cannabis growth, as long as proper measures are taken to ensure safety and security. Our regulatory structure prioritizes public safety, with a particular emphasis on safeguarding youth and preventing access to cannabis by minors.

The suggested changes would eliminate the ban on growing cannabis for personal use in residential areas, as outlined in the Liquor, Gaming and Cannabis Control Act. This would grant individuals aged 19 and above the freedom to cultivate up to four cannabis plants per household, which aligns with the maximum allowed by the federal Cannabis Act. To ensure responsibility and protection, guidelines for homegrown cannabis will be implemented through regulation, according to the minister's statement. Jesse Lavoie, founder of TobaGrown, expressed great satisfaction with the Manitoba government's decision to align our laws with the federal Cannabis Act and the rest of the country. This has been a lengthy process for us at TobaGrown and we are grateful for the support of the Manitoba cannabis community. We extend our thanks to Premier Kinew and the Manitoba government.

Cancer is something that many people in our community have experienced or have a friend or loved one who's experienced. Selkirk Home Hardware Building Centre supports many fundraising initiatives in our community and three years ago they decided they wanted to collaborate with the CancerCare Manitoba Foundation by creating the Fighting Cancer of All Colours Fundraiser.

"We named it Fighting Cancer of All Colours because we didn't want to just specify breast cancer or colon cancer, we wanted to represent all the different types of cancers," said Wendy Meger, general manager of Selkirk Home Hardware Building Centre.

Residents can participate in this fundraiser in many different ways. Donations at Home Hardware in Selkirk are a great way to start. Any donation will have the recipient receive a ribbon or a plant-able cancer dollar. If you'd like

There are also tank tops, t-shirts, or lanyards available to purchase instore which, of course, the proceeds from the sales of benefit the CancerCare Manitoba Foundation.

For those who'd prefer to donate online, they can check out the event's website, and, finally, there will be an in-person event on May 11 at Home Hardware where people can come together and give.

"[On May 11,] we're going to have Tip Top Dogs selling [lunch]. They are a local Care Manitoba Foundation.

This event came about because of so many people's lives being touched by cancers of all types.

"Over the years, we've had several employees who have experienced different types of cancers, and we've actually lost a few of our staff members. I've been here 28 years and it wasn't just one specific type of cancer [that's affected people. Krystal Laferriere] who is helping organize this event also lost a family member to breast cancer. So, it's important that we help support all types of cancers because we've all been touched by it one way or another and we didn't want to just bring awareness to one type," explained Meger.

Hosting a fundraising event like this, as well as contributing to our community, is something that staff at Home Hardware take pride in and do often. In addition to the annual Fighting Cancer of All Colours event, they supply materials for school projects, are involved in Communities in Bloom projects, as well as Tree Canada tree planting initiatives, and their newest endeavour is their annual Gifts from Angels holiday event which provides Christmas gifts to residents of local care homes.

"As someone deeply involved in several different charities and organizations that support worthwhile causes, I understand the importance of collaboration and support within our community. It is through collective efforts and partnerships that we can truly make a difference in the lives of those in need," said

Each member of our team has been touched by cancer in some way, and we are committed to making a meaningful difference to this very worthwhile cause," said Meger.

She also wants to thank everyone who makes the effort to contribute to the Fighting Cancer of All Colours Fundraiser.

Carbon tax squeezing Canadians, CAF sleeping on streets

Bezan on federal budget

By Patricia Barrett

Although the federal budget focuses on a number of measures to improve the lives of Canadians, from building more affordable homes to reducing the cost of living and growing the economy, the federal Conservatives said they won't support it.

The Liberal's budget was released on April 16 and parliament is expected to vote on proposed amendments through budget implementation bills next week, and in the weeks following.

Selkirk-Interlake-Eastman MP James Bezan (Conservative) said Budget 2024 will make life more expensive for Canadians and that his party will not support it unless prime minister Justin Trudeau axes the tax on farmers and food, cuts interest rates and holds off on federal infrastructure money for cities unless they increase housing by 15 per cent.

Bezan weighed in on housing, health, agriculture, the carbon tax and defence, saying the budget will fail to make headway on improving Canadians' lives.

"This budget represents another $50-plus billion of new spending. Justin Trudeau hasn't balanced the budget in nine years and he's not going to balance it going forward," said Bezan. "And Canadians just can't afford that. The budget will add more taxes that will hurt farmers and rural Canadians and will require him to use more of the carbon tax to pay for all his extra spending."

With an expectation by Canadians to see various levels of government tackle the housing crisis, which has in the last few years seen extortionate monthly rents, housing prices beyond the budget of millions of Canadians and a shortage of available housing, the federal government promises to make housing more affordable.

"First, we're building more affordable homes. Because the best way to make home prices more affordable is to increase supply—and quickly. That's why we're cutting red tape and reforming zoning. We're building more apartments and affordable housing across the country and unlocking public lands and vacant government offices to build homes for Canadians," states deputy prime minister and finance minister Chrystia Freeland in the budget. "For Millennial and Gen Z renters, we're restoring the chance to make progress towards homeownership. We're creating more tax-free ways to save for your first down payment. We're giving renters credit for rental payments, so when it comes time to apply for that first mortgage, you'll have a better chance of qualifying."

The budget notes a number of strategies to build new housing. Those include building homes on public lands (federal), "unlocking" Canada Post properties across the country (one in Beausejour could be a candidate), using national defence lands and converting federal office buildings into housing.

Bezan said the strategy – which was first proposed by the Conservatives – will not be of great assistance to Interlakers in need of housing.

"It won't help the Interlake much because we've got very limited federal buildings and properties in the Interlake, but it could definitely help Winnipeg. This is something Pierre Poilievre has been talking about since he ran for leader. We have to make more of our federal buildings and land available for housing. The Liberals are trying to steal that [idea] from the Conservative platform, but their track record and this budget shows it's all backloaded with no real money up front," he said. "And there's not anything in here that will certainly help first-time homebuyers. Interest rates have gone up skyhigh, rent has doubled, mortgage payments have doubled and that's making it almost impossible for young Canadians to get into the housing market. We have to increase supply. Trudeau is doing nothing to provide the incentives to municipalities to [remove] the red tape and improve housing development projects in their areas."

On the health care front, the federal budget pledges $1.5 billion over five years (starting in 2024-25) to Health Canada in order to launch the National Pharmacare Plan. The first phase of the plan will see the government work with provinces and territories to provide coverage in two health areas: contraception and diabetes medications.

The government launched a dental care plan for Canadians (18 and older) who don't have dental coverage and who have a family income of up to $90,000 a year. That will be implemented in stages, starting with seniors.

The government also has a forthcoming initiative to introduce the Safe Long Term Care Act to implement new national long-term care standards, and a plan to hire more rural health and social service workers.

"Many rural and remote communities are struggling to find workers in the health and social services sector. Addressing these workforce challenges in rural and remote communities is critical so that all Canadians can benefit from greater access to the full suite of health and social services they need," states the budget.

The government hopes to achieve that by expanding the reach of a student loan forgiveness program. Bezan said the student loan forgiveness program is an "extension" of a program the Conservatives started under former prime minister Stephen Harp-

Dear Money Lady Readers,

Most Canadians would define independence as being debt free, but how is that possible in a rising interest rate market?

If the cost of living and buying the basics becomes more expensive but your income stays the same, you will find it hard to keep up with the cost of living. This is a struggle many Canadians are facing now. According to a 2024 RBC Independence Poll, 81% of Canadians are worried about their cash flow and have "money concerns about today vs. tomorrow." So, what can we do about it? Perhaps we could help each other with this question. To all my readers, let's ban together to help one another. Please email me your ways of saving and coping now that the cost of living have increased. I will share your ideas with all Canadians next month. To get you started, here are my suggestions.

Do you have a mortgage that is up for renewal this year? Normally I would not want you to increase your amortization on a mortgage renewal, but if it increases your monthly cashflow and makes it easier to cope monetarily for a few years, it could be worth it. Please remember to adjust your amortization back to the year you plan to retire once you are more financially stable. For those that are not renewing this year and have their mortgage in good standing, most financial institutions will allow you to skip one monthly payment per year without penalty.

Everyone should be taking advantage of the many cashback credit cards and rewards point cards now available. I use these cards continuously and love it when I can pay for groceries with my rewards and cashback offers.

If you need dental care this year, why not take advantage of the CDCP - Canadian Dental Care Plan that is now available to all Canadians that do not have access to dental insurance and have a net household income of less than $90,000. This program has a graduated application schedule which started in December 2023. If you are over 70 years of age you can apply in March, and those aged 65-69 will need to wait till May 2024. All remaining Canadian residents aged 18-65 will need to wait till Spring 2025. For children under 12, they are eligible now until June 2024, at which time it will open up to all children under the age of 18.

The Canada Carbon Rebate, formerly known as the climate action incentive payment, is another good benefit available to residents of Alberta, Manitoba, New Brunswick Newfoundland and Labrador Nova Scotia, Ontario, PEI, and Saskatchewan. Benefit payout dates for 2024 include: January 15, April 15, July 15, and October 15.

Lastly, remember the fastest way to improve your situation is in your potential to earn an income. Why not consider getting a part time job or even a new job all together? Did you know that the Canadian government will help with tuition fees for those Canadians wanting to retrain for a new career. To be eligible you must be between the ages of 26-66 and can claim the tuition fees to an eligible educational institution for courses taken to change your occupation, trade or to obtain professional licensing and certifications.

er. Health-care workers who work for five years in a rural setting can get their student loans forgiven.

The national dental care program, on the other hand, is turning into a "fiasco," he said.

"Dentists en masse are rejecting it. They're saying the package being offered is limited as to who gets to use it and is worse than what most people already have in their own private dental plans. Only 10 per cent of dentists in Manitoba have signed up for it and it's worse in other provinces. We're going to undermine a system that's been working quite well. Over 90 per cent of Canadians have coverage available to them to pay for dental care," said Bezan. "We are very skeptical on the dental program and how much uptake there will actually be. [Conservatives] are not going to participate because it's not good for the oral health of Canadians.

With regard to the national pharmacare plan, Bezan said it touches on only two areas of health care.

"We should be putting more money into provincial health care to make sure we have enough beds and personal care homes and that we're limiting wait times and hiring doctors and nurses," said Bezan. "We're not getting that from Trudeau. He's doing piecemeal programs here and there and has out-of-control spending, which is undermining the social safety net that we all expect here in Canada."

There's very little ink in the budget devoted to agriculture, said Bezan. An interest-free cash advance for farmers does represent "a slight increase" from what was there in the past, but the Liberals have cut important programs.

"There was a cut to the national 4-H program in which they reduced the funding by over 50 per cent. The national program has laid off some staff and can't provide training for young Canadians in our 4-H program. It's very popular in the Interlake," he said. "That's an indictment against the Liberals; they just don't care about rural Canada, don't really care about farmers and the rural way of life."

With the increase in the carbon tax on April 1 farmers are "upset" because it will drive up their cost of production.

The carbon tax is one measure to help reduce CO2 emissions that are contributing to the climate crisis. Alternatives to taxing populations to incentivize them to reduce their fuel consumption have not been put forward.

The federal Conservatives promise to "axe the carbon tax," but haven't announced what they'll put in its place

"We will be rolling out our platform and there will be an environmental piece in there and how we can go about reducing emissions. We believe we can help reduce global emissions. The NDP-Liberal coalition has not hit a [CO2 reduction] target yet except during COVID when everything was shut down," said Bezan. "The problem is you have countries like India and China that are building coal-fired energy plants at a rate of one per week. People don't realise this, but Canada's number one export to China is not grain or pork: it's coal."

On the defence front, the budget states that there will be "steady and responsible investments" in defence to ensure the Canadian Armed Forces (CAF) is ready for conflict and that Canada's territorial integrity is maintained, especially from threats to the Arctic.

"Alongside our NATO Allies, we have reinforced our defence and deterrence capabilities and readiness, including by committing to expand Canada's troop deployment in Latvia, where the Canadian Armed Forces already lead a NATO battlegroup," states the budget. "We have welcomed Finland and Sweden into the alliance, bolstered our support for members in Eastern Europe, and made the investments necessary to uphold our unique role in protecting NATO's Northern and Western Flank—our Arctic."

In February it was reported that Canada has 16,000 CAF positions unfilled. Bezan said CAF is standing at only 58 per cent readiness when it should be at 85 per cent, and that the Liberals are "actually cutting defence spending by almost $3 billion" in this budget.

"The Liberals are making a bunch of promises for investments in defence and security, but it's all backloaded. It's a 25-year program with almost no money in the next two years. And what happens in two years is we're going to have a federal election and the Liberals are going to push off all the problems that we have in the Canadian Armed Forces on to the next government. It's typical Liberal dithering and delay and a kicking-thecan-down-the-road strategy," said Bezan. "That's a failure for the great Canadians who serve in uniform. We have women and men who are wanting to serve this country but are not seeing a commitment from the current government and we are experiencing a recruitment and retention crisis. We are unstaffed by 16,000 troops and a further 10,000 troops are undertrained and undeployable."

He added that ships are in a state of disrepair and land vehicles and aircraft lack personnel to operate them. And the government is failing CAF personnel in areas of housing on bases, which have thousands of homes that are dilapidated and in need of repair or replacement. The budget has "zero dollars to build new homes next year," he said.

In the past few months, it's come to light that CAF personnel have been living on the street or in their vehicles because of either a lack of affordably priced homes or exorbitantly priced rental housing.

"CAF personnel who are trying to buy or rent off base are seeing, like all Canadians, that mortgage rates have doubled, rent has doubled and their ability to save up for a down payment to buy a house is almost impossible. We know there's at least 6,700 homes required for CAF personnel on base. In the last few years, the Liberals have built only 38 new homes for CAF in all of Canada," said Bezan. "So we've got a crisis and we're seeing people leaving because they can't find adequate housing. We are getting stories of troops living rough, either couch-surfing, living out of their car or camper or in tent cities that have sprung up in places like Halifax and Victoria. It's unbelievable that people who are prepared to make the ultimate sacrifice in defence of our country are being asked to live on the street."

The federal budget pledges over $14 billion for Ukraine, plus another $910 million to "support military operations in Ukraine, the Middle East, and the Indo-Pacific region." But Bezan said "only half those promises" with regard to Ukraine have been fulfilled.

Promises to forward surface-to-air defence systems to Ukraine have yet to be acted on and a promise last September to buy 50 light-armoured vehicles has only been acted on in the last few weeks – and it will take a year to build them, he said.

"It's our position as Conservatives to support Ukraine. We have all sorts of surplus equipment such as 83,000 CRV7 rockets, which have hazardous materials in them but are sitting in storage and waiting for demolition on a Saskatchewan military base," said Bezan. "Pierre Poilievre said that instead of wasting taxpayers' money to dispose of these rockets, it would be better to give them to Ukraine so that they can defend themselves."

The federal budget is available on the Government of Canada's website.

Letters to the editor - If you wish to comment on anything you read in the newspaper, or if you wish to comment on any concern affecting Selkirk and surrounding communities, write a letter to the editor. We welcome diverse views and opinions.

Why You Should Write a Letter to the Editor

Writing a letter to the editor is one of the most efficient ways of reaching large audiences. The Selkirk Record has an approximate readership of 37,368 readers weekly.

Readers also include members of local government, who we may want to reach. Frequent letters about a certain topic will convey that a sizable group of people care about it.

A letter to the editor is a very short piece of writing, meaning that you don't need to invest an inordinate amount of time in it. Shoot for less than 300 words.

Tips for Writing a Letter to the Editor

Connect your letter to a specific article, op-ed, or topic recently covered by the newspaper.

Structure your letter in three parts:

refute or promote a certain claim made previously, provide reasons for your stance, and then suggest what needs to happen now.

Write from your own perspective and show how the topic relates to your local community.

If you have expertise in the topic you're writing about, let the readers know.

If you're trying to convince a government representative, refer to them by their full name (it'll be more likely to make it to their desk).

Stick to a single point. Have more points to make? Write more letters. Be respectful – don't attack anyone when expressing your concerns.

Letters must include your name and a telephone number where you can be reached. Please keep letters to 300 words or less.

The Selkirk Record reserves the right to edit letters for length, content and/or taste as well as the right to refuse publication of any letter.

We look forward to your submission: news@selkirkrecord.ca

Fisher Branch Women's Institute holding drug awareness open house

By Patricia Barrett

The Fisher Branch Women's Institute is spearheading an initiative to raise awareness of increased drug use in the Interlake and is inviting surrounding communities to collaborate on strategies to tackle the issue.

Debra Barrett, president of the Manitoba Women's Institute, said the Fisher Branch Women's Institute formed a committee that's organizing an open house to bring together people from the region to discuss drug use and addictions. The open house will also be live streamed for people to attend

"We're finding that all the Interlake communities are struggling with drug addictions and the associated costs to the community. There are not just financial costs, but costs to society and the family," she said. "We thought we'd gather some experienced and knowledgeable speakers and invite communities within the Interlake to take part in our open house where they can gather some information."

Barrett said the focus will be on the use of on street drugs such as weed, cocaine and crack, but also opioids and to a lesser extent alcohol, all of which can lead to breakdowns in

"We're finding that a lot of families are experiencing a breakdown. It not necessarily just young people using drugs; there are adults consumed by it," said Barrett. "Children are winding up in care, marriages are failing or the cost of drugs means families don't have the financial means to provide what's necessary for the family unit. Addictions are expensive and they have to be funded. So there's a lot of theft taking place."

The WI has a number of speakers lined up, said Barrett. Representatives from the Addictions Foundation of Manitoba, St. Boniface Street Links, Harm Reduction from Eriksdale and the Youth Treatment Program (Teen Challenge) will be part of the evening. There will also be individuals such as Chris (from Alcoholics Anonymous) who sits on community committees and boards and will speak on addiction impacts on the person, family, and community, Ron (from Fisher Branch) who has been a speaker on addictions at the Manitoba Youth Centre, and Kevin who will speak on the signs and behaviours of cocaineaddicted persons.

"We are also discussing speaker availability with Ian Rabb of Two Ten Recovery and Destiny House. He was formerly with Aurora Addictions Centre. And we've reached out to the RCMP regarding the process for enforcing an involuntary psychiatric assessment order from the Court of King's Bench," said Barrett.

The topics will include how to tell whether a person has an addiction, how addictions impact families and communities, resources available for individuals with an addiction and their families/loved ones, where treatment programs are located for persons living in the Interlake, and the development of a comprehensive multi-community approach to addictions, associated mental health issues and the impacts on Interlake commu-

The WI will be also providing attendees with educational materials on services available to individuals and families, treatment programs and facilities, and legal issues surrounding addictions.

What the WI is hoping to accomplish from the evening is to raise greater awareness of drug use and encourage collaboration on a strategic plan.

"Our hope is for the Interlake communities to work together in developing a strategic plan, which would result in a cohesive approach focused on reducing addiction dependency and the related effects on families and communities," said Barrett.

She added that programs to treat addictions either have a waiting list, are beyond the financial means of people or are tailored to specific groups such as Indigenous programs at the Aurora Recovery Centre.

"At Percy Moore Hospital we've got an addictions centre and the program is excellent, but it's maxed out. The availability is just not there," she said.

The women's institute has invited a number of communities to attend the meeting either in person or by Zoom. Those include Teulon, Arborg, Riverton, Gimli, Peguis, Fisher River, Jackhead, Moosehorn, Ashern, Eriksdale and Lundar. And all reeves and councillors from the Interlake municipalities have been invited to attend.

"There seems to be interest in this. Unfortunately, some communities are still ignoring the issue although this is knocking on everybody's door and nobody should be ignoring it," said Barrett. "We've had people as far as Sundance ask to be involved and they'll be joining us on Zoom."

The meeting will be held on Wednesday, May 8 at 6:30 in the Ukrainian National Home (hall) at 33 Provencher St. in Fisher Branch. There will be room for 100 people at the hall. To register for a Zoom link, email Debra wicommunityprograms@gmail.

From players to coaches: Interlake Thunder alumnae adapting to new role

By Kieran Reimer

The Interlake Thunder Varsity Girls football team will feature some familiar faces on the sidelines with several former players stepping into coaching positions this season.

Last year's graduating players Maddie Delaurier, Gillian Gesell, and Emily L'heureux have joined Madison Siwicki and Isabelle McDonald, also former players, to give back to the team.

Delaurier enjoyed her football experience and is looking forward to the opportunity to mentor the younger players.

"Last year it was such a great team," said Delaurier. "I was really upset that it was my last year after meeting these girls and the great coaches for the first time. When I was asked to come back without hesitation, it was a yes."

Delaurier and Gesell are joining as defensive assistants, while L'heureux is filling the role of team trainer.

The alumnae also join their former head coach, Joel McDonald, who originally reached out to them in the offseason about coming back as coaches after seeing the progress they made with the team last season.

"They enjoyed their time with our program and bought in to how we want to do our business," said McDonald. "We designed our coaching staff with the intent of not having a bunch of parents. We understand that parent-coaches are necessary, but our overall plan is to have a sustainable program that can last year in and year out. When coaches are independent of our players, the likelihood of them sticking around is much higher."

And so far, McDonald likes what he sees from his new colleagues, who have already been helping with the team's training camp and indoor sessions throughout the winter.

Whether they're actively participating in pre-practice planning or having lengthy discussions with other coaches, he says their transition from player to coach is going well.

"They're evolving into their positions," said McDonald. "We don't expect them to be focusing a lot on technique, just getting their feet wet and progressing at their own pace. We're not going to throw them in the deep end here. We want them to crawl, walk, and do their own thing. They're fortunate to be mentored by a couple veteran coaches."

McDonald said that mentorship has come specifically at the hands of fellow defensive coaches Colton Meisner and Isabelle McDonald, who also coached them last year.

Isabelle McDonald, in particular, has worked closely with Delaurier to teach her the ins and outs of facilitating a defensive line.

"She basically taught me everything I know about defensive line," said Delaurier. "She taught me how to be a player; now she's teaching me how to be a coach. The adjustment was a lot, but I'm definitely getting used to it and enjoying it."

Delaurier says this year's Varsity Girls' team will feature a physically strong and talented group that is building on last season's experience, as many of its players are also returnees.

Siwicki, the Thunder's offensive coordinator and current quarterback of the Manitoba Fearless football club, is mentoring the team closely, mainly the players she's helped stay conditioned in the off-season.

With less than two weeks to kickoff, she is happy with where the team currently stands.

"We've been working hard and for a while now," said Siwicki. "Even the new girls are fitting in good, and everyone fits in as a team. We're starting to amp up our physicality and everything as we get closer to gameday. Things are progressing really well and I'm excited."

There are four teams in the league and the Thunder will play six regular season games. Currently the Varsity roster has 19 girls aged 15 thru 18 years registered.

"Unfortunately there were not enough girls league wide to establish a junior division this year so the Club has created essentially a "red shirt" program that will allow the junior age players to practice and participate fully with the varsity team, with the exception of games," said McDonald.

McDonald hopes to set up at least one exhibition/scrimmage for the six junior girls, possibly with some of the girls from Westman that were at the RMFL girls camp.

The Thunder Varsity Girls team will open their season with a home game against the St. Vital Mustangs. Kickoff is at 7 p.m. on Thursday, May 9 at Stonewall Collegiate.

Head coach McDonald anticipates an exciting contest between the two rivals.

Team Einarson celebrated at annual Night of Champions

Submitted by Sport Manitoba

Sport Manitoba hosted an evening of celebration for athletes and teams receiving national and international attention, dedicated volunteers contributing their time, officials facilitating decorum and fair play, and coaches shaping the next generation of champions in Winnipeg on April 18. Sport Manitoba's Night of Champions presented by Manitoba Liquor and Lotteries is a celebration of the highest achievements Manitobans have made in amateur sport last year. Gimli's Team Einarson was among those celebrated and was named the Calm Air Team of the Year. In 2023, Team Einarson won a record-tying fourth Scotties straight Canadian Tournament of Hearts National Championships, the Canadian Women's Curling Championship, and the bronze medal at the World Championships in Sweden. All four team members received All-Star awards for their performances at the Scotties, which are awarded based on statistics taken throughout the week. Einarson, Sweeting, and Birchard received first-team All-Stars, while Harris received second-team All-Star.

Every winner was honoured with a bursary to support their continued involvement in sports, and a personalized banner with their name and award will be proudly displayed at the Sport Manitoba facility.

OBITUARY

Ruth Wilson

On April 22, 2024 Ruth Wilson at the age of 93 passed away peacefully with her family at her side.

She is survived by and will be greatly missed by her sons Dwight (Linda), John (Tara) and her daughter Carol (Dean); her grandchildren Jennifer (Rodney), Bradley, Daniel (Kirsten), Jason (Hilary) and Dylan; her great-grandchildren Isley, Everett, Brielle and Arthur. She will also be remembered by sisters-in-law Marion Corley and Rosie Corley, her nieces and nephews, and her friend Maxine Watson.

She was predeceased by her husband Fred and her five siblings.

Mum was born in Brandon, Manitoba July 12, 1930 and lived for the past 58 years in Selkirk, Manitoba. She worked at the Selkirk Mental Health Centre until she retired. As long as her health allowed, Mum loved her daily walks. She was always up to date on the world news and enjoyed conversations about politics and the royal family. She liked reading and doing crosswords. She was fiercely independent and a very private person. What she was most proud of and brought her great joy was her children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren. She was the family cheerleader and a wonderful listener. She loved us all and we loved her dearly.

The family would like to express their gratitude to the staff at Selkirk Betel Home for their loving care of our mother for the past 3 1/2 years.

According to her wishes, there will be no funeral service. A private family celebration of her life will be held at a later date.

In lieu of flowers, donations to Selkirk Betel Home would be greatly appreciated.

OBITUARY

Eleanor Rose Ecker (nee Gartner) passed away on April 24th, 2024 at the age of 86 years.

Eleanor was predeceased and joined in heaven by her husband Mike (d. 1987) and her daughter Brenda (d. 1960).

Her loss is mourned by her three daughters Laurie, Lyn (Adam), and Lee (John); her seven grandchildren: Brenda (JP), Andrew, Nic (Candace), Chelsea (Jon), Denise (Jesse), Evan (Lauren) and Braeden (Jasmine); and 12 great-grandchildren: Heidi, Kaison, Julia, Oliver, Zephir, Amelie, Grace, Lincoln, Michael, Felix, Malcolm and Emily as well as numerous nieces and nephews.

Her Catholic faith was always important to her and when she was unable to attend mass in person, she attended virtually each week. Eleanor had a wandering spirit after Mike's passing and travelled to both Europe and the East coast. She moved her home around between Stonewall, Woodlands, Warren and Selkirk where she made many lasting friendships. She enjoyed time with these friends and the visits from her family. She was fortunate to have attended school graduations, sporting events, dance recitals and the weddings of her grandchildren, the last being in October 2022 before she became unwell. Those dearest to her were the "little people", her great-grandchildren. She loved hearing stories of the young ones growing up and seeing photos of their accomplishments and seasonal adventures. Eleanor spent just over her last year at Red River Place in Selkirk. Her speech became incoherent but she continued to wander about with her walker and to tell stories to the staff who found her humor intoxicating. We are all forever grateful that Lyn lived in Selkirk and her and Adam were able to provide her with the extra assistance and frequent visits as her health declined over the past several years. Although she rarely expressed it in deeds, visits always ending with the words "I love you".

A special thank you to Red River Place staff for the care she was provided for the last months of her life.

A private service and interment will be held for immediate family members.

Also Nick's special friend Jaimie Gibson.

Nick was always known to be a hardworking, polite and respectful man. He started working when he was young, still in high school, at various jobs. He worked at Amsco Cast Products for almost 20 years. Nick pursued and earned his Red Seal Industrial Mechanic (Millwright). He was employed at Berger up until his illness escalated. He was an avid hockey fan and loved the Oilers and Jets. We're going Rest in peace Nick until we meet again.

Friends and family are invited to visit Nicholas' memorial page at www.interlakecremation.ca, where memories and condolences may be shared.

God saw you getting tired, when a cure was not to be,

So he closed his arms around you and whispered "Come to me."

In tears we saw you sinking, we watched you fade away,

Our hearts were truly broken, you fought so hard to stay!

But when we saw you sleeping peacefully and free from pain,

We could not wish you back to suffer that again.

So keep your arms around him and give him special care.

Make up for all he suffered that seemed to us unfair,

So many times we needed you,

So many times we've cried,

If love could have saved you,

You never would have died.
