The sale was held in memory of the St. Andrews girl who was mauled to death by two dogs last year. ## Community comes out for Gracie's garage sale

By Austin Grabish

Gracie Herntier would have been proud.

The doors weren't officially open yet, but on Saturday just before 9:00 a.m., a line had already formed around the perimeter of the St. Andrews Community Club for her third annual garage sale.

Inside, mountains of donated toys, books, clothes, and other yard sale items blanketed the tightly packed arena.

There was face painting, a hot dog sale, and even entertainment from Grade 3 students who went to school with Herntier before she was mauled to death by two dogs last year.

Herntier was seven years old and in Grade 3 at the time of her death.

Selkirk history buff marks milestone

Popular author celebrates 90th birthday with walk down memory lane

By Lindsey Enns

For former Selkirk resident Ken Howard, cruising up and down the city's streets now is like taking a trip back in time.

"It evokes a lot of memories much of which there's no trail of up until this point," Howard said sitting at the head of his dining room table inside his Winnipeg home recently. "Where I had most fun as a kid was at the dock, of course that dock doesn't exist anymore."

Howard, who turned 90 years young last Saturday, can still picture what the city looked like in the early 1940's while he collected stories for the then edition of the Selkirk Record.

"It was a wonderful time," Howard said with a smile. "I wrote editorials, and features and stuff like that ... in the same building that it occupies now."

At that time, he had completed high school at Selkirk's Devonshire Collegiate Institute and was starting university in Winnipeg where he would later go on to complete two masters' degrees.

Howard holds his memories of growing up in Selkirk close, as he believes there hasn't been a reasonable approach to documenting the city's history, which is why years ago he decid to do something about it.

It's been nearly four years now since Howard released his book "Stories of Selkirk's Pioneers and Their Heritage." The book was printed to commemorate Selkirk's 125th anniversary and is dedicated to Howard's late grandmother, father, and mother and to "all Selkirk, Manitoba's pioneers, upon whose shoulders we stand."

As Howard flips through a copy of his self-published 506-page book, it's easy to see it's one of his greatest life achievements. The book, which took him eight years to write, includes stories from the more than 100 interviews he conducted.

"I'd say, 'are you from Selkirk? Tell me about your family. What was it like when you were a kid?' and off we'd go."

Howard's curiosity about his own father's past is what motivated him to dig deeper into Selkirk's history. But as he talks about how important it is to preserve that history and ensure those stories get shared, Howard struggles to hold back tears.

Recently Howard tried to go back and visit some of the people he interviewed for his book only to learn many of them are no longer alive or are unable to communicate.

"That was a real eye opener for me ... it hit me very hard," he said wiping away tears. "Those wonderful people they're not here and they gave me the privilege of telling their story."

"That's how important it is to me."

Besides combing through provincial archives and old newspapers of the time, Howard said nothing beats hearing a story told straight from someone's mouth.

"Each one of these is their own story," he said holding up his book. "This will benefit so many people ... and it's never ending."

As for Howard's own story, it's not even close to coming to an end. Even at the age of 90, he shows no signs of slowing down.

He's currently in the process of moving into a new home and continues to write a history column for the Record.

He's also working on a new project, a book about Selkirk's steamboat era, that he hopes to finish in the near future.

As for his 90th birthday plans, Howard said family and friends are making their way to Winnipeg later this month for a special gathering.

7th annual Ride for Dad raises over $261K

More than 1,200 riders help raise funds for prostate cancer research

By Austin Grabish

The sounds of engines throttling echoed throughout much of the Interlake and Selkirk on Saturday as more than 1,200 bikers made their way from Winnipeg to Gimli for the seventh annual Ride for Dad.

"We're ecstatic, the ride today went off today without a hitch," spokesman Ed Johner said Saturday.

Although numbers weren't finalized, as of Saturday evening more than $261,000 had been raised during the ride for prostate cancer research.

That means Ride for Dad has now raised more than one million dollars since it began seven years ago, Johner said.

He added a few bikers went out of their way this year collecting pledges noting two men raised more than $20,000 each, while many more individuals also collected thousands in donations by themselves.

"It's just phenomenal how it's grown over the years," Johner said.

Participants paid a $30 registration fee to take part in the day-long ride that kicked off at Polo Park in Winnipeg.

Riders made stops in Selkirk and other towns while on their way to Gimli.

"We're big on the Interlake," Johner said. "Really the ride virtually spends the whole day between Winnipeg and the Interlake."

In Gimli, the town's main drag was shut down completely to allow for motorcycle-only parking.

"It looked like a mini Sturgis it was absolutely incredible," Johner said.

Morris resident Jack Courtemanche made the trek to Gimli and stopped in Selkirk around lunchtime for a quick break.

It was his first time taking part in the ride and he said he would definitely be taking part again next year.

"It's a good cause I like it," Courtemanche said.

Johner also made sure to stress the importance of early cancer detection.

In 2007 at the age of 49, he was diagnosed with prostate cancer, and it came as a shock to Johner who showed no cancer symptoms.

"So for me early detection was critical and I mean here I am eight years later enjoying life and here to talk about it," Johner said.

His story is similar to many other men across the country.

"1.2 million men in Canada have prostate cancer and 960,000 of them don't realize they have it," Johner said, adding it's important men have conversations with their doctors about prostate cancer.

Community groups get $165K funding boost

By Austin Grabish

Nearly three-dozen charities and community groups got a big boost from the Selkirk and District Community Foundation last Thursday.

More than $165,000 was disbursed to 32 different area organizations through its 2014 -15 grant program.

Health, education, and heritage non-profits were among the many who received funding.

Some grant recipients who already received funding for their projects were among the many in attendance that spoke at the event.

"It was so nice to hear from the grant recipients about their programs," Selkirk and District Community Foundation executive director Bev Clegg said.

New grants were also announced for some charities at the annual celebration held at Larters Golf and Country Club.

"It was a great night," Clegg said.

The Selkirk Friendship Centre Daycare received $7,000 earlier this year to pay for the cost of new outdoor shelters children will learn under.

The centre has a 'Leave No Child Inside' program that sees children play and learn outside as much as possible.

Daycare program co-ordinator Lorie Fiddler said the shelters will mean kids can stay outside all day, noting the children won't be glued to computers and other electronics inside.

"No computers, no iPads, no nothing, because we're just trying to limit that for children and re-connect kids to nature," Fiddler said.

The shelters won't be closed in, but will have roofs that will help keep everyone dry.

"Even if there's rain or UV factor we can still be outside underneath our shelter," Fiddler said.

Foundation chair Kelly Lewis said their list of donors is growing, but stressed the importance of reaching out to others since many still don't understand how the foundation works, she said.

"IT WAS SO NICE TO HEAR FROM THE GRANT RECIPIENTS ABOUT THEIR PROGRAMS."

"We need donors in order to be able to survive," Lewis said.

The foundation doesn't spend any of the donations or "gifts" it receives, and instead makes investments with the money that are professionally managed.

Interest income from those investments is then used to pay for grants once a year.

Clegg said when someone donates to the foundation their gift stays in the community for life.

"It's a gift forever and for good," she said.

Charities and community groups can apply for foundation grants twice a year, and grants are dispersed once a year at the foundation's annual awards night.

Selkirk RCMP respond to fatal crash

Staff

Selkirk RCMP members were called to a fatal collision in the RM of St. Andrews last week.

On May 27 around 10:20 p.m., RCMP officers responded to a report of a collision at the intersection of Hwy 9 and Netley Road.

Initial investigation shows a semi truck was travelling eastbound on Netley Road when it collided with a northbound vehicle.

The driver of the vehicle, a 50-year-old woman from the RM of St. Andrews, was pronounced dead at the scene. RCMP said in a release that she was wearing her seatbelt.

RCMP continue to investigate the contributing factors with help from an RCMP forensic collision reconstructionist.

RCMP probe alleged community club fraud

By Austin Grabish

RCMP have launched an investigation into financial irregularities at the St. Andrews Community Club after a substantial amount of money was allegedly spent on purchases it has no record of.

The police probe was launched last month after board members with the community club filed a complaint with Mounties.

The club has not been able to complete financial reports for the 2011 and 2012 fiscal years, and still has no explanation for how roughly $90,000 was spent on credit cards it used to have.

"We have a lot of finances that we still can't finalize," St. Andrews Community Club finance chair Patrick Gordon said.

Gordon, who is also the club's former president, said the questionable finances stem as far back as five years.

"We found a few irregularities with the financials and we've taken the records that we've put together into the RCMP, and they're in the process of doing an investigation," he said.

Gordon added an internal audit done by a chartered accountant raised some red flags. He said when the club began looking into its past Visa records it became clear suspicious spending occurred.

"We put a fairly strong case together that we think stuff went on and we've taken that case to the RCMP," Gordon said.

Last August, club president Kurt Procter told the Record nearly $90,000 in purchases made during the 2012 year could not be accounted for.

Last week, Procter said since the investigation is ongoing he could not confirm the amount of suspected fraud police are investigating. However, he said it's fair to say the amount of questionable spending is "substantial."

RCMP spokesperson Sgt. Bert Paquet said it's not too late for charges to be laid if there was any criminal wrongdoing that occurred at the club.

"Depending on the specific charge, some investigations can go back several years, and still be prosecuted," Paquet said via email.

The St. Andrews Community Club was in financial ruins three years ago. Alarm bells went off when Manitoba Hydro phoned Procter informing him the power would be cut off to the building since the club's utility bills had gone unpaid.

At the time the club was running a deficit of nearly $80,000.

The phone call triggered the founding of a new finance committee after a new board was formed, in addition to the internal investigation, which left more questions than answers about the club's finances.

"It was difficult to get answers from the previous board," Procter said.

Changes were also made to accounting practices at the club including a new mandatory receipt rule for all reimbursements.

"If you don't have receipts and justification for spending that money and a board approval we don't reimburse you for it," Procter said.

The club also stopped relying on credit for its purchases. It cancelled its two credit cards and no longer uses a line of credit, Gordon said.

Gordon told a small audience at the club's annual general meeting last Tuesday its finances are now back in order.

"We have a balanced budget going forward."

St. Andrews council debates fees for sewage haulers

By Austin Grabish

St. Andrews council members are trying to put a stop to septic haulers dumping their sewage into a lagoon the RM owns free of charge.

The RM took the first step in banning the practice by giving first reading to a new bylaw that outlines fees for sewage haulers at their council meeting last Tuesday.

The bylaw states haulers will have to pay a fee ranging from $20 to $40 every time they discharge a load into the lagoon, which has been stagnant for months.

The funds collected will be put aside into a reserve fund that will pay for the construction of a new lagoon.

"We need to put money aside in the reserve because we're going to have to build another lagoon someday," Coun. Russ Paradoski said.

Deputy Mayor Laurie Hunt expressed concern over the set fees haulers could have to pay, adding they may be unfair as sewage truckloads can vary.

Coun. Rob Hogg said the RM can't monitor the size of every load that is dumped into the lagoon.

"There's no way in the world that we can regulate those kind of situations unless we have somebody at the lagoon 24 hours a day," Hogg said.

The Petersfield Lagoon has been full for months and sewage haulers have been forced to take their waste to a neighbouring municipality or the City of Winnipeg.

This caused an uproar amongst some residents who claimed their sewage bills skyrocketed after their septic providers had to make the move.

The Record reported earlier this year septic companies from other municipalities were dumping in the lagoon for free, when they shouldn't have been at the time it reached capacity.

Crews are currently working to remove sludge on the lagoon so dumping can resume.

Council said it hopes the lagoon will be back in full operation by the middle of June.

Green Team wages lowered

Two students working for the RM this summer won't be receiving as high of a salary they may have been hoping for.

A report tabled at council states the students will be paid $16.37 per hour, and not $19 and change as council said during its last meeting.

Coun. Joy Sul expressed concern over the two jobs and asked why there was no formal job description for the positions.

She also asked what determined the students' wages.

Mayor George Pike wasn't sure if a union contract applies to the jobs, but said he would look into the matter.

Paradoski said he thinks residents would be happy to know the RM is hiring two students who will work over the summer to keep the community looking clean.

"It goes towards improving our community," he said.

The students are expected to do low-key jobs like painting signs, trimming grass, and other tasks regular workers can't get to.

The province will pay for a portion of the students' wages through the provincial Green Team program.

CAO still absent

There was a different face sitting in the CAO's chair last Tuesday.

Assistant chief administrative officer Deb Murphy filled in for Sue Sutherland who was absent from council.

Sutherland has been on paid leave, but was expected to be at the meeting.

Pike explained Sutherland is now on sick leave and didn't know when she would be re-tuning to work.

This week on the water

By Arnie Weidl

Hi, my angling friends.

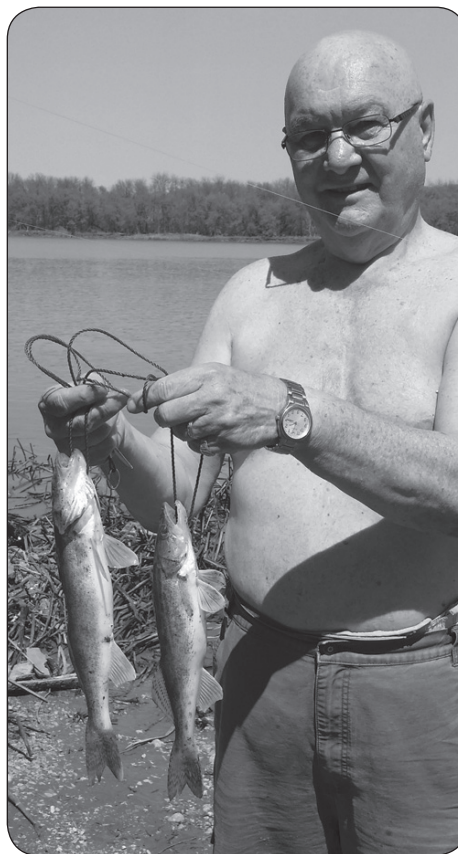

About a week and a half ago I felt it was time to go up to Breezy Point to visit with anglers and while it may seem a little late to be talking about it now, I apologize but there were things I wanted to get in last weeks' column so now let me tell you what happened on my way over to Breezy.

The weather was pleasant enough, sunny, warm and calm as I started up the 320 road. There was a sign saying that the road was closed as it usually does in the spring. So naturally I, along with many of my adventurous if not foolhardy fellow anglers, ignored the sign and forged ahead.

The fairly even gravel road quickly gave way to long cavernous pot holes with mud oozing up in the middle of the wheel trails. In an effort to avoid the pools of water and mud piles, the wheel trails began wildly swinging from one side of the road to the other. Soon driftwood log pile-ups began presenting themselves almost blocking the road. So it went all the way to the end of the Point. That poor old road sure took a hammering this spring.

Yet, all along wherever there was an opening to the riverbank anglers were settled on lawn chairs, fishing rods in-hand, smiling and waving to me as though nothing was out of the ordinary as I jostled by them like a small boat in a violent storm. However, hopefully our friends, who shall remain nameless, will fix 320 up for us as soon as it dries up a bit just like they did last year.

On the way back to Selkirk I noticed this one couple enjoying the day by the riverbank so I pulled into their "monkey trail" and stopped for a visit. Our new friends Wilf and Mildred Betker who were from Winnipeg said they loved fishing here and at Lac du

Wilf Betker of Winnipeg with some of his catch near Breezy Point.

Bonnet then gave us a little tip saying they had heard the walleye fishing at Manigotagon is unbelievable right now. Thanks, guys!

Last weekend I stopped at fishing spots along the east side of Lake Winnipeg but it was immediately obvious that once again the wind driven high waves had forced our anglers to look elsewhere for a place to fish. So I drove along the Winnipeg River on No. 11 until I saw an angler sitting cross-legged on a wooden pier over a small lake just north of Lac du Bonnet. I pulled into the tiny parking lot by the pier and as I closed the car door the heavily dressed fisher rose as I called out explaining who I was. A tall thin gal with a strongly featured face greeted me. She said she was here for the trout that had just been seeded in this land locked lake. You could tell our new friend Ilene Grumwald of Winnipeg was at home in the outdoors with her naturally tanned face and hands. A little tuft of her light brown hair had escaped her old grey cap.

She said she had three Master Angler catches to her credit but she was kind of proud of latest catch, a giant plastic drink cup. She caught me off guard for a second as she snuck that into our conversation. I shot an inquiring glance at her then realized she was being sarcastic and disappointed with whoever had left that cup in the water. We had a great talk about good housekeeping in the wilderness and finally I had to be on my way.

A few days later found me on the Hecla Village pier where folks were lined up shoulder to shoulder and not catching a darn thing. The sun was brilliant but tempered by a whisper of an icy north wind. I went up and down the pier passing the time with folks and eventually met John and Elizabeth Hiebert from Emerson who had driven all the way up here just for an afternoon of fishing. They said this was their favorite place and would not fish anywhere else. It's nice to have a firm point of view on some things, isn't it?

That'll do it for this week my friends, till next time, bye.

St. Andrews couple still shaken by double tragedy

Friend who escaped blaze recovering from her injuries

By Austin Grabish

Tony and Ana Herntier have had the unthinkable happen to them, but the St. Andrews couple is still full of joy and doesn't appear to be dwelling on a double tragedy that has shaken their lives.

The tragic loss of Gracie, their seven-year-old granddaughter who was mauled to death last year by Alaskan malamutes, combined with the loss of the family's home to an April fire that nearly killed Ana and a visiting friend has left the couple on edge.

On April 13 sometime around midnight, Ana noticed the smell of smoke while her friend Judy Bailey-Smith slept unaware of a fire that had begun to rip through the St. Andrews home on Schreyer Crescent.

The night is still a blur for Bailey-Smith, but she remembers putting pillows in front of the bedroom door while Ana began to head for the window.

She tried to phone 911, but had difficulty because of the "horrible" black smoke that started to pour into the room.

"I was pressing the numbers and they were all lit up nice and big and bright, but I couldn't see them and I was getting mad because I didn't have my glasses," Bailey-Smith said.

After pushing Bailey-Smith through the window of the second-storey room, Ana made the decision to jump onto a roof of a sunroom before eventually making a final leap to the ground.

"The fire was taking over so we had a choice, we either had to jump or go with it," Ana said.

Bailey-Smith was scared and remained on the roof until firefighters arrived. Although reluctant at first, she jumped and landed partially into one's arms.

"I just said I got to go so I went," she said.

Both women say if they didn't escape as quickly as they did they wouldn't be alive today.

"We could have both been dead within 10 minutes," Bailey-Smith said.

The thought of the fire constantly haunts the woman, who is still recovering from her injuries.

Bailey-Smith received a black eye, broke her heel, has difficulty walking,

This rubble was all that was left of Tony and Ana Herntier's St. Andrews home after it burned to the ground in April.

and still can't drive.

"It was horrible," she said tearfully last Sunday.

Ana escaped the fire with minor injuries, but the real pain for her and her husband, who was not home at the time of the fire, has been the loss of Gracie's belongings the couple cherished after she died.

Many were stored in a memorabilia box in a room dedicated to her memory.

"That's all gone," Ana said.

The Herntier's said they plan on rebuilding their home and are currently staying in a rental home in East St. Paul.

The cause of the fire is still under investigation.

"Your achievement is a testament to your skill, work ethic and dedication," piano instructor Jeannette Halpenny said.

Zebra mussels found lurking in Red River

Officials say the invasive species were recently found underneath a dock near Selkirk Park

By Austin Grabish

The province appears to be on the losing end of the war it started with zebra mussels last year, and has now lost its fight to keep the invasive species from entering the Red River.

The mussels were recently found underneath a dock near Selkirk Park meaning the species are now in the Red River — something the province vowed it would fight to stop from happening after mussels were found at several Lake Winnipeg docks in 2014.

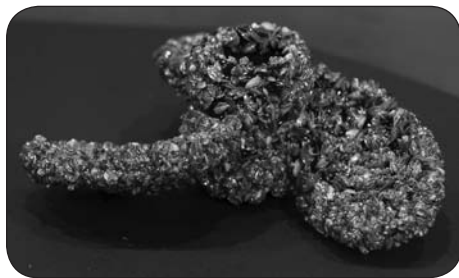

Conservation and Water Stewardship Minister Tom Nevaakshonoff made the announcement in Winnipeg last Friday.

He said the mussels were found on the float underneath a dock and appeared to be dead. Officials believe they were likely from last year, but one was still “firmly” attached to the dock’s float.

The announcement took Selkirk Mayor Larry Johannson by surprise.

The mayor said the City of Selkirk will do whatever it can to deal with the problem, but Johannson wasn’t oblivious to the fact the mussels spawn at extremely rapid rates and are nearly impossible to eradicate once they’ve entered a waterway.

“We have to look at a way to eradicate them all together,” Johannson said. “They’re like a bad weed. If you leave it untreated it just multiplies and I think the bigger problem is trying to get the mussels out of the Red River and the lakes.”

Zebra mussels can grow up to five centimeters long, attach themselves to solid objects, plug drains, affect fish and other aquatic life, and even sink buoys.

“Fighting the expansion of this highly invasive species takes a concerted effort by everyone who enjoys our lakes and rivers,” Nevaakshonoff said.

A handful of decontamination units have already been set up throughout the province and conservation officers will continue to check boats the invasive species may have clung onto, a press release stated last Friday.

Conservation officials also plan on using a specially trained dog to sniff out the mussels at different boat launches across the province.

Last year, Manitoba proposed legislation aimed at preventing the spread of zebra mussels.

The legislation would prohibit the possession, transportation, and release of the mussels, and require trailered watercrafts to stop for inspections.

Johannson said the city plans to support remediation efforts at Selkirk Park again this year.

The process sees boats washed and dried when they leave the water, but Johannson ultimately wants to find a solution to what is now a very big problem.

“We want to do our part,” he said.

Suspicious envelopes sent to courts not harmful: RCMP

By Austin Grabish

RCMP say a string of suspicious envelopes that arrived at Provincial Court buildings across Manitoba last month were not harmful and have tested negative for dangerous substances.

However, several people felt ill after opening the suspicious packages sent from China including two court staffers in Thompson, who suffered shortness of breath, burning eyes and throat.

From April 8 to April 23, a total of 16 packages were received at Manitoba law courts buildings, RCMP said last Tuesday.

Mounties say the packages contained court-related paperwork sent by a Chinese national, but the documents had no standing in Canadian courts.

RCMP added they don’t believe any criminality was involved with the packages sent to Manitoba courts, but a national investigation is continuing.

The suspicious envelopes have been arriving at courts across the country, and some people had fallen ill after opening the packages. In April, the provincial court building on Eaton Avenue in Selkirk received two of the suspicious envelopes from Hong Kong.

A source said the two envelopes contained a number of documents, and no one got sick after opening the packages.

RCMP spokesperson Sgt. Bert Paquet said there are a few possible reasons the employees in Thompson fell ill.

He said the type of containers the packages were shipped in from overseas could potentially be to blame, noting harmful substances could have been in the containers prior the shipping of the envelopes in them.

“Although some employees in Thompson may have experienced a variety of symptoms, the chemical and biological tests done on the packages and their contents were all negative for contaminants when they were analyzed,” Paquet said.

Local RCMP officers recognized for high-risk arrest

By Lindsey Enns

Four Selkirk RCMP members were recognized for their quick thinking and actions at this year's RCMP "D" Division Medals and Awards Ceremony.

All four constables were presented with a Commanding Officer's Certificate of Appreciation during the event at Lower Fort Garry on May 27.

The group was recognized for their actions during a high-risk arrest following a domestic dispute last year where the suspect threatened the officers with various weapons.

"Based on the course of actions and decisions the officers made at the time, the subject was subsequently arrested without incident," RCMP spokesperson Sgt. Bert Paquet said via email adding two of the officers are still stationed in Selkirk and area.

Not all of the four officers wished to be named so the Record is not naming them or printing their picture.

Among those in attendance at the ceremony last week was Lt.-Gov. Philip S. Lee and Minister of Justice and Attorney General of Manitoba Gord Mackintosh.

"On behalf of the people of Manitoba, I commend you and thank you from the bottom of our hearts," Mackintosh told recipients during the ceremony that was well attended by friends and family members. "You make us proud and you make us safe."

Several current and some retired members of the RCMP were also recognized for 20, 25, 30, 35 and 40 years of service.

Community celebrates student success

Hundreds gather at the Comp for 15th annual event

By Lindsey Enns

A long row of evergreen trees spotlighted by sunlight provided the perfect setting for the Comp's 15th annual Promoting Aboriginal Student Success event.

Selkirk and area students waved colourful Métis, Inuit and Canadian flags in the wind as a large group of local dignitaries and community members walked behind them to help kick off the event held at the Comp on May 27.

More than 200 people attended the opening ceremonies and more were expected to arrive throughout the afternoon.

"Today's event is a celebration of student success," Lord Selkirk School Division Supt. Scott Kwasnitza told the crowd, adding the gathering is always a highlight on the division's calendar each year.

PASS was originally started by a small group of students who wanted to ensure all of their classmates were being recognized and celebrated.

The group has now grown to include a youth and adult committee.

"That shows there's a definite need for our students to showcase who they are ... their culture and what they can accomplish later on," said Jacqueline Bercier, PASS adult committee chairperson.

More than 50 volunteers chipped in to help hand out various awards and certificates this year to aboriginal and non-aboriginal students from various schools and grade levels.

Among the group of graduating students being recognized was Grade 12 student Taylor Kent of Brokenhead Ojibway Nation.

Kent, who was forced to miss five months of high school following a bad car accident, credits the Comp's aboriginal student centre for helping her get back on track.

"We have a lot of support with PASS and the aboriginal student centre," Kent said. "My teachers were really understanding ... they helped me."

Nearly 200 students will graduate at the Comp at the end of this month, but only around 70 of those will be self-declared aboriginal students, Bercier said, adding that number continues to increase each year.

"It's because we're offering more supports to our aboriginal students," she said. "We're making sure they have academic supports, post-secondary supports."

She added when students build bonds at school they are more likely to go on to graduate.

"They need to feel like they're a part of something so that way they don't get lost in the shuffle or become invisible," she said. "We don't want that to happen to any of our students."

Victory for local thalidomide survivor

Selkirk man says annual tax-free compensation payments will 'go a long way'

By Austin Grabish

Selkirk's Paul Murphy and at least 92 other thalidomide survivors will get to live their final years a little easier.

The federal government is now promising ongoing yearly financial support for thalidomide victims after receiving backlash for a compensation announcement it made earlier this year.

Minister of Health Rona Ambrose announced survivors of the 1950's pregnancy drug, which is estimated to have taken as many as 80,000 newborn lives while leaving another 20,000 maimed, will now receive yearly tax-free payments of $25,000 to $100,000.

The survivors will also have access to a special fund that will pay for extraordinary medical costs.

"Even in the absence of a legal obligation to provide support, we have a clear moral obligation to help meet the changing needs of survivors," Ambrose said in a statement on May 22.

The announcement was bittersweet for Murphy who is also one of five founding members of the Thalidomide Victims Association of Canada.

The association has fought for victim compensation for years, and two years ago launched a more robust campaign.

"We're thankful that we were able to finally get it done," the 52-year-old said.

When asked if he thought the new amounts promised were fair, he said, "Can one do that?"

Murphy has suffered from the devastating consequences of the drug for years and his health has deteriorated in recent years.

Hailed as a "wonder drug" for pregnant woman, thalidomide, a Health Canada approved drug, was a sedative that helped women sleep and combat symptoms of morning sickness.

But the notorious killer and disabler had horrific consequences for women who took the drug between 1950 and 1960, and the children inside their fetuses.

Many children with mothers who took the drug were born with missing or malformed limbs. Babies were also born deaf and blind.

For Murphy, his legs are shorter than normal and he is poor-limbed. He also relies on an electric wheelchair to get around.

He says he has required special medical adaptations to his home and vehicle that have cost him tens of thousands over the years.

Murphy said the new annual payments will give him peace of mind and will help him support his family.

"It will certainly go a long way."

The federal government did provide one-time payments ranging from $52,000 to $82,000 to thalidomide victims in 1991, but as survivors aged and costs associated with their disabilities rose, many pressed for more.

In March, the government announced survivors would receive a one-time tax-free payment of $125,000, and access to a $168 million assistance fund, but the announcement also faced criticism from victims who said it wasn't enough.

Murphy said discussions about an additional compensation package were made years ago, "but it never came through."

He added the best part of the new announcement is survivors without an income will now have a yearly pension.

He also thanked the federal government, the Opposition, the Liberals, and the media for their continued coverage on thalidomide survivors.

He said the media coverage victims received was phenomenal and helped to keep their fight in the public eye.

A total of 92 eligible survivors have already received the one-time, tax-free payments to cover their immediate needs. There may also be more eligible survivors that haven't come forward yet.

New individuals who believe they are thalidomide survivors have another six months to contact Health Canada.

Doors Open sheds light on Selkirk's history

By Austin Grabish

The doors to history were opened in Selkirk and neighbouring municipalities on Sunday.

Ten different buildings including churches, houses and even a bar, all with some kind of unique history, were open to the public on Sunday afternoon.

One of the historic buildings featured was the Bunn House in Lockport.

Built in 1862 by Samuel Taylor, the home belonged to Thomas Bunn who is credited with crafting the Bill of Rights that smoothed Manitoba's entry into Confederation in 1870.

History buff Rob Sarginson, who is also the chair of the Red River North Regional Heritage Group, said Bunn was a skilled Métis lawyer who wrote sections that guaranteed rights for education, religion, and language in Manitoba.

"He basically put Riel's ideas into the bill of rights for Manitoba and this formed the main part of the Manitoba Act," Sarginson said.

Bunn had the house built for his wife and children after flooding forced the family to leave their Winnipeg home in 1852. The lawyer had promised his wife a house that wouldn't flood, Sarginson said.

He added the house, which was built in 1862, is the oldest in St. Clements and to this day hasn't flooded.

Winnipeg resident Esther Dueck and her daughter Janice visited Selkirk's oldest house on Pacific Avenue.

F.W. Colcleugh, one of Selkirk's former mayors lived in the home, as did American journalist Emma Shaw who was sent by an editor to write about the Red River rebellion, said Shirley Muir, the owner of the home.

"THE MERCH HAS DONE VERY WELL OVER THE LAST 138 YEARS.

The Dueck's lived in Selkirk years ago and heard about the history tour on the radio and decided to come out to the event, which mirrors a similar annual event in Winnipeg.

Janice said she was happy to learn about some history that was right in front of her yet hidden for years.

"For me, as a child growing up here you walk by all these old houses and things and I never really thought about it," she said.

Selkirk's Merchant's Hotel was also part of Sunday's event.

Sarginson said the hotel was built by John Christian Schultz, Manitoba's fifth Lieutenant Governor, and was a hub for drinking in the city.

Labourers coming off boats at the nearby docks frequented the bar, he said.

"This place was kind of the crux of a social situation," Sarginson said noting the hotel has always offered folks a place to drink. "The Merch has done very well over the last 138 years."

City teams up with Recycle Everywhere program

80 new dual-stream receptacles popping up throughout Selkirk

Staff

The City of Selkirk wants to help make recycling easier and more convenient by teaming up with the Canadian Beverage Container Association's Recycle Everywhere program.

A cost-shared investment of $100,000 has helped place 80 Recycle Everywhere dual-stream garbage and recycling receptacles from the Waterfront to Selkirk Park and transit stops to street corners throughout the city.

The program is replacing the city's previous system which involved both garbage and recycling bins but not necessarily in the same location.

"We are grateful for our partnership with Recycle Everywhere," Selkirk Mayor Larry Johannson said in a release on May 22. "Together we are investing into this important green infrastructure for our community."

Recycle Everywhere is Canada's first permanent province-wide, away-from-home beverage container recycling program.

Recycle Everywhere has partnered with communities across Manitoba and provided them with the best recycling bins designed to suit their space.

Selkirk CAO Duane Nicol said improving public access to recycling is all part of the city's Strategic Plan to improve its environmental stewardship.

"With the new system there will be a recycling container attached to the garbage container, so there's parity," Nicol said. "We've also selected better locations; strategically placing the dual-stream containers in prime spots."

Nicol said the dual-stream system will also help reduce what's referred to as "recycling contamination" or the amount of garbage going into the recycling stream.

Selkirk residents have a long history of embracing the environment. According to Multi-Material Stewardship Manitoba's most recent statistics, Selkirk residents recycle almost one million kilograms, or 99.14 kgs per capita, per year, which is the highest rate among municipalities reporting in the Interlake region.

For a map of the locations of the new receptacles, visit cityofselkirk.com.

Local business owner biking to raise funds for Habitat home

Staff

A Selkirk business owner has signed himself up for this summer's Cycle of Hope.

For two weeks in July every year since 1993, Cycle of Hope participants cycle 1,600 km to help raise enough money to build a Habitat for Humanity Manitoba home for a family in need.

This year Selkirk Home Hardware Building Centre owner Rob Borthistle plans to join nearly 50 others as they bike from Niagara Falls to Winnipeg.

Each rider must raise $2,500 to participate and this year money will go towards building a home for a family that has already been selected in Winnipeg.

To help boost Borthistle's fundraising efforts, Selkirk Home Hardware is hosting a barbeque on June 11 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Since its inception, the Cycle of Hope has raised nearly $2.5 million with help from new and returning cyclists, according to Habitat for Humanity Manitoba's website.

Selkirk's One and Only Knight in Shining Armour

Local resident Bill Knight loves to get involved with the community and help out people in need wherever he can make a difference.

Bill spends his days at Selkirk Chrysler helping people comfortably get into their next vehicle. His approachable nature and ability to put people at ease makes the car buying process go smoothly. Bill's motto is "Just be honest and have fun with people, develop a good relationship and have a great time." Even though he doesn't look or act his age of 72, Bill's approach is simple. "Treat people well and give back where it makes a difference."

It's in the evenings and weekends, however, where Bill makes the most difference in people's lives. He has a soft spot for those who are less fortunate and has made it his mission to help out wherever he can. "Any kind of charity or anything out here, I want to help." In 2014, Bill made a pledge to donate $50 from every car sold over a four week period to the Selkirk and District Hamper Drive. He raised $1500 for that cause. In 2015, Bill has already donated to the RCMP hockey and golf tournaments and generously pledged to be a Gold Sponsor donating $500 to the Lockport Rivers Edge Run - For NF.

Bill's heart of gold is not just for good causes. Bill and his wife Lisa, open their home to foster children, over the years caring for 25 to 30 children. "I just love it. I've always had foster kids, and the more you can give the better."

If you are looking for your next vehicle or have a great cause Bill should know about he can be reached at 204-481-2718 or email: bknight@selkirkchrysler.com

Hundreds lace up and wear red at walk for MS

By Austin Grabish

More than 200 people laced up their shoes and walked around Selkirk for the second annual MS Walk.

Walkers, many outfitted in red, stood out as they made their way down Manitoba Avenue and then back to Boston Pizza, where the walk started on Sunday.

Selkirk Boston Pizza owner James Allardice brought the walk to Selkirk for the first time last year, and said he was overjoyed with Sunday's turnout.

"The community is awesome," Allardice said.

He estimated as many as 250 people came out to Sunday's walk, and that's more than double from last year's turnout.

Allardice was diagnosed 11 years ago with multiple sclerosis and said the event is meant to raise awareness about the debilitating disease.

"It's awareness, we need a cure," Allardice said.

Allardice's MS has gotten worse over the years and often causes him to become fatigued.

"Basically my mobility is not as good as it used to be," Allardice said.

Donna Boyd, president of the Manitoba division of the MS Society of

More than 200 people walked or ran during Selkirk's second annual MS Walk on Sunday. The event is meant to raise funds and awareness for multiple sclerosis.

Canada said strides are being made in regards to research about the disease.

She told a packed parking lot on Sunday that Canadians are more susceptible to getting MS and stressed the need for a cure.

She said there have been recent developments in stem cell research, but the results of the research, which is still taking place won't be known for another two or three years.

The research is examining how tissue responds to stem cells extracted from a person's hip when they are re-injected into the body.

"There is real hope," she said noting a clinical trial with 40 Canadians is currently taking place.

For Allardice, hope is what keeps him going.

"You can live with MS if you have a positive attitude and just keep plugging away," Allardice said.

The fundraising goal for Sunday was $25,000, but it wasn't known at press time if the goal was met.

However, Allardice believed reaching their goal shouldn't be a problem thanks to the many people who rallied in support of the walk.

"This is only the second year that this walk has been going in Selkirk and the entire community has really rallied around to ensure the success," Boyd said. The money raised will go towards research and support programs for people who are currently living with MS, Boyd said.

Congratulations to Brian and Lillian Kazuk Winners of the Selkirk Tire 50th Anniversary Grand Prize!

Long time Selkirk Tire customers Brian and Lillian Kazuk stopped in for service during the shop's 50th Anniversary Celebrations. Brian dropped his name in the drum and won the high flying first prize. Brian and Lillian will join Mark and Sue Medock on an all expense paid trip to either California or Florida for the very unique experience of riding the Goodyear Blimp. Over the course of the year Selkirk Tire customers entered to win not only the trip but also a Mini Cooper Ride on toy (won by Carys Krut). Selkirk Tire also donated a set of 4 tires to the Selkirk Food Bank.

The Goodyear Blimp first appeared on the horizon in the 1920's and has been a very peaceful experience floating across the sky affording an incredible view of the earth. "This is our way of thanking the communities of Selkirk, St. Clements, St. Andrews and even West St. Paul and Winnipeg for 50 years of supporting our family business" said the Medocks. My Dad Michael Medock opened the business in 1964 and we can't express enough gratitude for the continued patronage. We will do our best to continue to provide high quality products and services to our customers. Whether it be a new set of tires or that your vehicle is not starting or stopping as it should, Mark, Sue, Wayne, Roger, Cindy, Ray and the rest of the gang down at Selkirk Tire will be there to keep you rollin'! Selkirk Tire is at 38 Main Street, across from the mill in Selkirk. For an appointment please call 204 482-6545.

Derlago commits to Utica College next season

By Brian Bowman

For four seasons, Justin Derlago was able to play hockey close to his East St. Paul home as a member of the Selkirk Steelers.

But next year, he will be playing hockey much further from home as he has committed to play for the Utica College Pioneers for the 2015-2016 season.

The Division III school is located in the state of New York between Syracuse and Albany.

"I was looking at a couple of schools and my family and I sent down to see four," Derlago said Monday afternoon. "What separated Utica from the rest was just the hockey experience and their program. They have the most fans and they play in just a beautiful building.

"You don't want that to be the lone decision for you, but it really pulled me that way, for sure."

Utica is a strong hockey market in New York and is also home to the Utica Comets of the American Hockey League. Derlago will be leaving one strong hockey community to go to another.

"They average about 4,000 (people), so that's exciting," said Derlago, who will be transferring from the Education department at the University of Winnipeg.

Derlago said he enjoyed his four season in Selkirk with the Steelers.

"I got to play alongside my brother for three (years) and my cousin (Ty Kraus) for two," Derlago said. "I really enjoyed my time there."

The Pioneers are going to be getting a talented, hard-working player.

"Utica College is excited to have Justin on board," said Utica College head coach Gary Heenan. "Justin has played four years of junior hockey in one of the top leagues in the country for one of the top organizations."

Heenan likes what Derlago brings to his club.

"Justin skates well, has shown a knack for the net, and has exhibited tremendous character in our interactions," Heenan said. "We welcome Justin to Pioneer nation."

Derlago played 185 regular-season games with the Steelers, compiling 53 goals and 45 assists for 98 points.

Wayne Bartley, the Steelers' head coach/director of player personnel, said the situation is a good one for Derlago.

"I'm very happy for Justin to have received this scholarship," Bartley said. "The 20-plus goal scorer played a major role in Selkirk's success this past season. He played in all situations and was a key member of our core leadership group this past season that helped establish our culture moving forward.

"I know he will do well down in Utica due to his work ethic and attitude. It was a pleasure to coach Justin this last season and I wish him all the best."

Royals' season ends at baseball provincials

By Brian Bowman

It had been six years since the Selkirk Royals participated in the MHSAA baseball provincials.

But their return to the provincials last week was a very short one.

The Royals failed to make the playoffs after losing both of their pool games. Selkirk was shut out 14-0 by eventual-provincial champion Boissevain Broncos to start the provincials.

"They were strong," said Royals' head coach Michael Buffie. "They didn't make mistakes and had really good at bats. They wore our pitchers down pretty good.

"They hit decent but we also booted it around and once we got deeper into our bullpen, we were walking guys."

Boissevain put up a couple of crooked numbers, scoring five runs in both the fourth and fifth innings.

Selkirk, meanwhile, managed just three hits in the game, which was called after five innings due to the mercy rule. Brittney Langlais took the loss on the mound for the Royals.

The Royals drew a very tough opponent in its first game and because John Taylor upset the Broncos 8-5 in extra innings in their provincial opener, Selkirk had to pound the Pipers by 15 runs or more to advance to the playoffs.

That's not an easy task.

"It knocked us out of the tournament right away," Buffie lamented. "It was kind of a downer but, at the same time, we realized we were up against some tough teams."

The Royals were much more competitive in a 7-2 loss to the John Taylor Collegiate Pipers in their second game of the tournament. Buffie said Selkirk played pretty well in the five-run loss.

"Even though we were already out, we went out there and gave it our all," said the Royals' coach. "We had a good game against John Taylor."

Brett Boudreau and Derek Petrasko scored Selkirk's runs in the third inning as the Royals closed the gap to 5-2. Ryan Moroz got the start on the hill for Selkirk.

Despite the 0-2 record at provincials, Buffie said the Royals can benefit from the experience of playing at the provincials.

"We can take a lot away even though the results weren't what we hoped," Buffie said. "It was a big learning experience for our team. Last year, we were a younger team in Grade 10 getting our feet wet and this year we took a step, winning KPAC.

"Next year, the hope is that we will take the next step with all of those Grade 10s now being in Grade 12 and maybe we'll make a run at provincials."

Buffie felt this past season was a real successful one.

"I'm proud of the way we played this year," Buffie said. "It was a really successful season and I really like where we're headed. We're losing a few Grade 12s, which we'll have to replace, but our core of Grade 11s are going to be in Grade 12 next year.

"I'm looking forward to some big things next year."

Fitness star combines supplements and exercise

Fitness Star 2015 uses natural supplements for natural results

By Chris Bryson

Dylan Felgueiras of Lockport, a former graduate of the Comp placed second at Fitness Star 2015 on May 9. At 19 years old and after only two and a half years since he started lifting weights, Felgueiras aims to make his way through the fitness ranks and be natural about it.

Felgueiras says he owes where he is with fitness to perseverance, discipline, hard work, dieting, and the products he uses that he now also promotes and distributes. On top of this, being cognizant of the effects fitness products can have on the body through both physical and mental health, Felgueiras prefers what he uses for himself to be all natural.

"I always go with natural," says Felgueiras. "I want to compete in INBF, which is an all-natural, drug free bodybuilding and fitness competition, so that's why I kind of fit along those lines. I do it to stay healthy too. I'm not trying to hurt my body. I'd rather live longer and stay healthy and look good at the same time."

The all-natural aspect is what appealed to Felgueiras the most, and a part of his advocacy lies in his faith of the It Works supplements and their health-oriented benefits.

"The biggest thing is that it's all-natural," says Felgueiras, "it's all extracts and vegetables, fruits, herbs, all that stuff."

Felgueiras got involved with distributing It Works supplements through a team member who was a distributor and also because of his own experience using the products and knowing the effects they can produce.

Felgueiras promotes an assortment of It Works supplements.

He knew the products worked and saw it as a good opportunity.

"I also decided why not? If I'm using a product, if I like it, why not recommend it to people? Because people always ask me, what did you take? How did you get there? So then I decided yeah, might as well tell them what I'm taking and distribute that," says Felgueiras.

Fitness Star 2015, a model search that doubles as a fitness competition, was the first fitness competition Felgueiras ever competed in, and the results have gotten him excited for future potential.

In preparation for the competition Felgueiras combined discipline and hard work with dieting, every day workouts and supplement use.

Aside from achieving the fitness results he'd set out for, Felgueiras has also found the It Works products to be beneficial in other ways.

"They have their main purpose, but they also have these little other things that help you," says Felgueiras. "Like New You which gives you natural HGH ("human growth hormone"), it also improves focus and memory...

Even the Greens (product), it improves your energy, even your skin tone. Normally I have acne a little bit, and it's actually improved that a lot."

With taking to distributing the It Works products, Felgueiras is aiming towards being more of a consultant, knowing himself what the products can do, and being able to show first hand the results.

"I definitely want to keep spreading the word with it and just let people know about the awesome product and I want to recommend it and get people into fitness, people that don't know what to do, don't know what to take," says Felgueiras.

"I would basically just tell them about what they're taking compared to what It Works has and how It Works is beneficial compared to that."

If you're looking to learn more about the It Works products, get a hold of some yourself, or seek advice from Felgueiras, you can do so through his website at www.dylfelly.com

North Winnipeg Midget Pirates led by local players

By Brian Bowman

Although a 4-4 league record isn't bad, the North Winnipeg Pirates AAA baseball team feels they are much better than a .500 squad.

In fact, North Winnipeg has been playing some real good baseball recently, reaching the final of a WABA tournament in Winnipeg last weekend.

The Pirates lost 9-5 to a Thunder Bay team in the final.

"It was a pretty good game," said Pirates' head coach Gary Dear, a St. Andrews' native. "They're a very good team and we ran out of pitchers because the (Selkirk Royals) high school team was playing in their provincials.

"I lost all of my pitchers and I only have a 12-man roster to begin with."

North Winnipeg was 4-1 during the round robin, including beating a very good Regina Athletics' team 14-6.

Four players on the Pirates' 12-man roster are from the area. Derek Petrasko (Selkirk), Ryan Moroz (St. Andrews), Tristan Allen (St. Andrews) and Brennan Cheasley (East Selkirk) are each very good ball players.

Moroz also plays on Manitoba's U17 team.

"They would be in the starting lineup anywhere," Dear said of the foursome.

And the local connections don't stop there. North Winnipeg's coaching staff is made up of Dear, St. Andrews' Ray Moroz, West St. Paul's Sam Nocita and Stonewall's Darrell Humeniuk.

This is a young Pirates' team – with just two 18 year olds – but they do have talent. Dear feels he has a very strong group of 17-year-old players this year and he noted that there is a nice crop of Bantam players that will be making the move up to Midget next season.

The Pirates were in fourth place in the league standing heading into this week's action.

Dear expects his club to give the Winnipeg South Chiefs a good battle for the top spot by season's end. The Bonivital Black Sox are another solid team to contend with.

North Winnipeg hosted the St. James A's this past Tuesday but no score was available at press time. The Pirates will then host Bonivital tonight at 7 p.m. in Stonewall.

Royals' girls rugby team battles in playoffs

The Selkirk Royals girls' rugby team was defeated 34-26 by St. Mary's in playoff action May 26. Selkirk led 26-7 at the half but St. Mary's battled back to take the lead in the second half.

Pictured far left, the Royals' Hailey Hygaard runs with the ball while trying to score. Morgan Rennie, in the middle picture, is taken down in the end zone late in the game. At right, Selkirk's Shayne Smellie fights off a St. Mary's tackler.

Senior soccer teams earn first wins of the season

By Brian Bowman

Selkirk FC won its first game of the season after a thrilling 2-1 home victory over the Scorpions FC last Friday.

Selkirk trailed 1-0 at the half and played down a man in the second half after a player was red carded just before halftime.

Playing into a stiff wind and with only 10 players, Selkirk FC was the better team in the second half.

Jordan Bruenig tied the game on a penalty kick with about 10 minutes left to play and then in the 88th minute, Tyler Golden on a partial break-away, found the back of the net to give Selkirk FC the win

With that wild comeback victory, Selkirk FC is now 1-2-1 in the Manitoba Major Soccer League's First Division standings to sit in seventh place in the nine-team league.

The win over Scorpions FC was Selkirk's first of six home games at the Selkirk Rec Complex.

Selkirk FC will host the Winkler

Storm this Saturday (1 p.m.) and then the Bonivital Storm will visit June 14 for a 7 p.m. matchup.

In Fourth Division action, the Tri-S Strike Force also won their first game of the season with a solid 2-0 victory over Adriatik FC last Friday at the Selkirk Rec Complex.

Tri-S opened its season with three straight losses, losing to IPAC Ukraine (4-1), Winnipeg FC (4-2) and Borussia Dortmund (3-1).

The Strike Force are back in action this Saturday (1 p.m.) when they host Portage United.

Young golfer golden on the mini tour

By Stefanie Lasuik

St. Andrews' golfer Ryan Carter didn't get a hole in one on May 24, but it sure felt like it.

The youngest female competitor at the Maple Leaf Junior Tour's one-day tournament at the Transcona Golf Club finished first with an outstanding 47-shot advantage over Delihja Sparvier of Regina.

Carter fired an 85 on the day, going eight over on the front nine and finishing strong with a 40 on the back nine.

"I felt excited because I won the tournament," Carter said.

Carter won the 10-and-under division of MJT's mini tour, which is geared towards younger Canadian golfers. The MJT runs tournaments for all junior golfers 19 and under, but focuses on the youngest competitors on the mini tour.

As young as Carter is, she is no stranger to tournament play. She won last year's Transcona event and has played competitively in Florida.

As the tournament winner, Carter earned consideration for the Junior Worlds tournament. She also won a hat, golf towel, and golf balls for a good day's work.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

IN MEMORIAM

Charles (Carl) Skrypec
October 2, 1937 - June 6, 2013

Two years have gone since you have passed,
Seems like forever since we talked last.
We miss your voice, our talks, our laughs,
When will this pain end, I often ask.
All the memories that are left behind,
Just go to show, you were one of a kind.
Our lives go on without you,
But nothing is the same;
We have to hide our heartache,
When someone speaks your name.
Sad are the hearts that love you,
Silent are the tears that fall;
Living without you,
Is the hardest part of all.
You did so many things for us,
Your heart was so kind and true;
And when we needed someone,
We could always count on you.
Some day we hope to meet you,
We know not when;
We shall meet in a better land,
And never part again.
Our hearts are heavy as again we recall,
All the love you gave us which we miss most of all.

-Loved forever

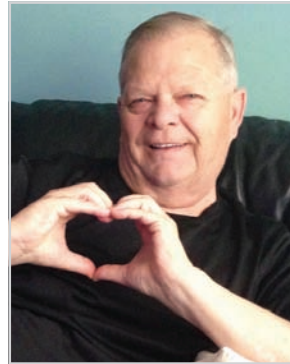

Nettie, children and grandchildren

OBITUARY

Eldon Bradley Graham Retired Winnipeg Police Constable December 30, 1947 - May 26, 2015

Knowing he was dearly loved by his family and friends, and having lived each day on his own terms, Eldon passed away suddenly on Tuesday, May 26, 2015.

Eldon was born in Flin Flon, raised in Mafeking then later in Selkirk, MB. Along with his older siblings, Adele (Linklater), Doreen (Penner), and Melvin, he was raised by his mother, Elizabeth (McClurg). He fondly remembered growing up as a gifted swimmer, being an excellent student and having fun with special friends, Darlene Maloney, Dairdrie Ludwick (Frost) and Jim Oliver.

In 1967 Eldon began his service as a Police Officer for Winnipeg; proudly holding Badge No. 590. He enjoyed the camaraderie and not knowing what each day would bring.

When he was 23 years old, Eldon married Linda (Rostas) and became a father to his first daughter, Melanie. Daughters, Kelly and Cori followed. Entertaining friends and family, camping trips and travels all over Canada and the U.S. gave Eldon great pleasure.

Known as an excellent shot, and with the respect of his peers, Eldon retired as a Constable in 1995. He went on to have a career with Manitoba Lotteries as Security Manager. He proudly formed the Managers' union (Teamsters Local 979). He became a single man again; but continued to be surrounded with love by friends and family. After leaving MB Lotteries, Eldon became "semi-retired"; long-haul truck driving for several years until his health slowed him down into total retirement.

Eldon thoroughly enjoyed watching television, playing VLTs and sharing a drink and laughter with friends; notably his brother-in-law, Brent. He was a loyal friend and prided himself on his honesty. He kept everyone entertained with his wonderful sense of humour and quick wit. Spending time with his family made him happiest. He was extremely proud of his daughters and loved them unconditionally. He considered them and his grandchildren Andrew, Alexa and Eden as his greatest joys in life.

Eldon knew and liked who he was. He was smart, funny and always willing to help his friends and family. He will be deeply missed by all who knew him; especially Melanie (and husband Roger Fehr), Kelly (and husband Doug Lloyd) and Cori (and husband Mark Jelenski).

A celebration of Eldon's life will be held on Saturday, June 13, 2015 at 1:00 p.m. at 18 Stephens Lane, in West St. Paul, MB.

Soak cut potatoes in cold water overnight. Before deep-frying, remove potatoes from water and pat dry.
Using deep-fryer, heat canola oil to 375°F. Deep-fry for 8 to 10 minutes or until lightly golden. Remove fries from deep-fryer and drain on paper towels.
If necessary, in saucepan, reheat 2 cups poutine gravy and set aside.
Return fries to deep-fryer and fry for additional 3 to 5 minutes or until golden brown. Remove from deep-fryer to stainless steel bowl. Add gravy, cheese and herbs. Stir gently to combine. Season with salt and pepper. Serve.
