Canadian Coast Guard stations to shut down in Selkirk, Gimli

By Lindsey Enns

A federal agency that has provided navigation services on waters surrounding Selkirk, Gimli and Kenora for decades is currently "under review" and is gearing up to close its operations.

The union representing Canadian Coast Guard employees told media last week that they've been given three possible dates for the closures, which range from immediately to the end of the season.

A former Canadian Coast Guard employee based in Selkirk confirmed their station had received notice about looming closures and changes.

The union says the closures are because inland services no longer fall within the coast guard's mandate.

In an emailed statement to the Record last week, the Department of Fisheries and Oceans would only confirm that their facilities in Selkirk, Gimli and Kenora are currently "under review."

"The Canadian Coast Guard will work with federal, provincial, and local partners to examine future requirements for aids to navigation services in inland waterways and alternative ways of delivering these services," the statement read. "No changes to services will occur until the review has been completed."

Consultations are to begin in the next few months and are expected to be completed within two years.

"Current resources will be reallocated to core mandated services as part of this initiative over the next three years, including significant investments in aids to navigation in coastal areas, the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence Seaway," the statement continued. "Coast Guard will support staff members associated with any impacts, in order to find new assignments elsewhere within the Coast Guard based on their career plans."

Gimli's coast guard base is staffed by four crew members at anytime and one Canadian Coast Guard Vessel, the Vakta, is stationed at the Gimli Harbour.

Selkirk-Interlake-Eastman MP James Bezan is calling on the Liberal government to commit to maintaining the coast guard's operations in Gimli.

"The Government of Canada must commit to keeping this Coast Guard Station open," Bezan stated in a release last week. "To ensure the safety of the Canadians that use Lake Winnipeg for business or pleasure, the Gimli Coast Guard station must be open, active, and fully funded."

Bezan added during the summer months Lake Winnipeg draws thousands of recreational boaters, freighters, and fishers.

Selkirk Park to host third annual Kirstin's Walk for Kids June 25

By Lindsey Enns

Community and area members will come together later this month to celebrate and remember Kirstin Sutherland.

The third annual Kirstin's Walk for Kids will take place in Selkirk Park on Sunday, June 25.

Registration for the five-kilometre trek is from 9:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. with the walk beginning at 11 a.m.

Kirstin's mother Laurie Sutherland said there will be a hot lunch served, a silent auction and plenty of activities for children and families.

"We try to offer things you wouldn't find at a typical walk," Sutherland said. "We try to make it a little more of an experience."

Kirstin had a passion for caring for children at a young age, and after receiving her accreditation from Red River College, she began working at Rivercrest Early Learning Centre in West St. Paul.

Kirstin was killed in an impaired driving collision in Selkirk on Sept. 5, 2014.

The St. Clements woman wasn't driving but was in a vehicle with an impaired driver.

Sutherland said this annual event helps Kirstin's spirit come alive again. "She had a way about her that drew people in," she said. "She was able to make people feel special."

She added the support the community has given them over the years has been "overwhelming at times."

"We definitely appreciate it," she said. "It's something that Kirstin would have loved, we know she does and that she would enjoy this type of thing very much."

Sutherland said all of the proceeds will go to the Selkirk and District Community Foundation to support children's programming in the area.

To register for the walk, contact Rick or Laurie Sutherland by calling 204-482-5159 or 204-485-4461, or by visiting the Running Room online.

Sutherland added something new this year is an official website for the event, which can be found online by visiting, kirstinwalk.ca.

Canadian Coast Guard stations in Selkirk, Gimli and Kenora are currently "under review" and are gearing up to close its operations.

It is the sixth largest freshwater lake in Canada and 11th largest in the world.

He added the coast guard's work is essential to securing the more than $17 million in commercial fish sales, 75 per cent of the value produced in Manitoba.

Gimli MLA Jeff Wharton also expressed his concerns about the possibility of a looming coast guard closure in Gimli.

"My constituents and the thousands of visitors we welcome every year depend on the Canadian Coast Guard to ensure their safety while on the waters of Lake Winnipeg."

Remains of missing woman found on farmer's field outside Winnipeg

By Tony Zerucha and Mark T. Buss
Human remains found in the RM of Springfield last week have been identified as a 21-year-old northern Manitoba woman missing since last August.

In a Winnipeg Police Service (WPS) press conference on June 3, Winnipeg Police Chief Danny Smyth advised the body found one-and-a-half miles southeast of Dugald on June 1 was that of Christine Wood, the Oxford House woman who disappeared last summer while she was visiting family in Winnipeg.

Smyth said Wood's identity was confirmed following an autopsy, two days after her decomposed remains were recovered from a shallow grave along a secluded area of Spruce Road.

On the morning of June 1, officers from the Oakbank RCMP detachment responded to a report of a body found in a ditch south of Hwy 15 along a service road that is not maintained by the RM.

Police said a farmer found the body while out checking his crops. Investigating some debris in the ditch that appeared out of place, he realized it was a body unearthed from a shallow grave and contacted the RCMP.

Police spent the next two days guarding the site as their serious crimes unit along with the forensic identification section investigated.

Wood was the focus of intense searches for almost a year. She was last seen at a Winnipeg hotel on Aug. 19, 2016.

Just two months ago, police declared Wood's death a homicide and charged a suspect, Brett Ronald Overby, 30, with second degree murder after Winnipeg police found sufficient forensic evidence at his Burrows Avenue home.

Women soar at St. Andrews Airport family air fair

By Maggie Wysocki

There's nothing quite like the feeling of flying, especially when it's over Manitoba's prairies.

Last Saturday, anyone who wanted to experience that feeling was given the chance.

More than 1,000 attendees took the opportunity during the Women Fly 2017: Family Air Fair event at the St. Andrews Airport, soaring sky high in aircrafts all flown by volunteer pilots.

"There's been loaded planes going up each half hour, the tent is packed ... there's lots of stuff happening on the ground and in the air," said the fair's executive director, Jill Oakes.

The annual event, which has been happening since 2010, was created to encourage women to work in non-traditional roles and to raise the number of women working in the aviation industry.

This year's focus was no different, but Oakes said the goal is even bigger than that.

"Today is about inspiring, promoting and educating young women and men to reach for their stars, whether that's in aviation or whatever industry they enter."

The all-day event was jam-packed with an array of activities.

Red River College set up workshops, allowing participants to test their hand at fixing aircraft engines.

The "Time to Fly" flight simulator created a virtual reality experience, showing what it's like to fly a plane.

Food trucks lined the street leading to the air-traffic control centre. And several guest speakers took to the stage, including the acclaimed, Rosella Bjornson — the first ever female pilot in North America.

Nobody would dare to admit they wouldn't hire a female pilot in the 70s, she said during her afternoon speech, rather the airlines would tell her there were no positions available.

"When I was growing up, women could only be teachers, nurses or homemakers so when I said I wanted to be a pilot, nobody believed me," she told the crowd.

Half way through Bjornson's presentation she stopped and peeked her head outside to wave to the STARS helicopter flying above.

"Wow, that's sure a fun job," she laughed on her way back to the podium.

Inspiring young people to follow their dreams is what Bjornson said her goal has always been. That goal was achieved with 24-year-old pilot, Heather Pesto, who said she's thankful to the women pilots who have paved the way.

MAGGIE WYSOCKI

ABOVE: As an aerospace flight instructor, Flora Heller says she's always learning something new about aviation and enjoyed showing off her KF Aerospace Grob 120A plane during the Women Fly 2017 event at St. Andrews Airport last Saturday. RIGHT: Participants try out the "Time to Fly" flight simulator, which creates a virtual reality experience, showing what it feels like to fly a real plane last Saturday.

"Since I've started flying, that gap of women has closed even more ... the freedom that comes with flying is just incredible," Pesto said after taking passengers on her seventh of 15 flights for the day.

Pesto started flying in 2010 and has since received her private and glider pilot license. She'll start working towards her commercial license in September, saying she dreams of flying bush planes over Canada's wilderness.

"I'd love to experience parts of Canada I wouldn't be able to see otherwise."

The opportunities for women pilots in Manitoba continue to grow and Oakes said she's proud to announce that the number of women in the aviation industry in the province has risen to 25 per cent.

RED RIVER > CHALET BEACH > LAKE WINNIPEG

> ARNIE WEIDL

'Here, I'll show you how to cast!'

Hi guys and gals,
I wanted to find us some different fishing stories somewhere along the Winnipeg River last Thursday and thought the pier in Lac du Bonnet might be a pretty good bet.

The warm, sunny fresh morning was beginning to bring the sun bathers out to the sandy beach that lay before the long dock. I strolled to its end where two old-timers, their fishing rods stuck in the handlebars of their scooters, swapped stories. Beside them a tall grey haired chap who would only give his name as "Bob" had the stance and presence of a vital energetic man. Soon we fell to talking of local fishing when Bob mentioned that in addition to the unique "tiger trout" in The Ponds north of town, they had just seeded two hundred fingerling "albino trout" (which are actually gold to white colored rainbow trout).

I wanted to visit with anglers at McArthur Falls that morning as well, so I shook hands with the guys and not much later was scaling a huge rock outcropping beside the Winnipeg River near the hydro dam. Presently, I saw a lone angler clad only in shorts sitting on a flat rock shelf basking in the sun. As I came up to him I inquired "Did you catch anything yet?" His solitary peace broken, a thin vigorous fellow sprang up with a large smile, "only a small one; I threw it back," he responded. He said his name was Lynn Reykdal as we shook hands. We chatted about the fish, water and weather until a funny little story popped into his mind.

Not long ago, he related, he was fishing with his four-year-old grandson, Scott, on the Red riverbank. With their lines in the water, Lynn was looking around enjoying his surroundings when he was snapped back to reality as he saw their dead bait minnows floating past him. Shocked, he looked down at Scott to see the little tyke tossing them into the drink saying, "We let them go papa?" Lynn didn't know quite what to say!

There's another great fishing story involving a little guy that came our way a few weeks ago. Interlakers' Beckie Breidinger and her hubby took their son Lukas to fish at Chalet Beach. He's a two-and-a-half year old with a full, strong body, happy eyes, a perpetual wide smile and short brown hair. On the beach our junior angler became fidgety because he wasn't getting any action on his Spiderman rod.

Suddenly the rod tore from his hand. A giant carp surfaced, with Lukas's baited hook in its mouth. Mom reacted immediately wading into the water grabbing the rod. She trudged back to shore and offered Lukas his rod so he might bring the giant in but he just shook his arms in rejection and scampered for higher ground. Mom and Dad landed it and as they measured, took pictures and released it, they couldn't help smiling as Lukas knelt in the sand by the fish patting it saying, "Bye-bye, you go in the water."

I was driving over the blue Selkirk Bridge last Wednesday when I saw two gals riverbank fishing upstream. Turning onto the wooded area between the road and the river I wobbled and bounced my way over the ruts to see if they had caught anything. I had no sooner met sisters Corrine and Jennifer Lamarre from Winnipeg than Corrine's rod bend hard over as a master sized carp (yep, another carp) appeared on the water rolling, showing its belly. I stood back as they worked together, one reeling in, and the other with a huge net. They knew what they were doing and with deft precision landed, measured and released the beast.

After things settled down Corrine recalled yesterday when they were fishing off the Selkirk pier some guy came along and without being asked grabbed Jennifer's rod saying, "Here, I'll show you how to cast!" He swung the rod out with great force but lost his grip and stood there embarrassed as it flew out of his hand shooting like a rocket out into the water. Corrine pushed him aside and cast out with stunning accuracy snagging Jennifer's rig! The pushy guy turned head down and left.

See you next week.

Nova House treats women to a day of pampering

By Maggie Wysocki

Dozens of women were treated to a day of pampering during Nova House's annual Women's Wellness Day at Selkirk United Church last Tuesday.

More than 150 women enjoyed the free event, which focused on the theme of resilience.

"Today is about pampering, but the real goal is to show women they're valued," said Tracy Curle, an outreach counsellor at Nova House.

Throughout the day, women were treated to a variety of self-care stations, including yoga, massage, manicures, facials, hair styling and henna tattoos.

"It's my first time here and I think it's pretty great," said Jennifer Gulay while getting her nails painted.

Gulay became a client of Nova House this past April and says she's really happy with the resources the counsellors have provided her.

Along with the pampering, the event hosted many information booths that women could visit to learn more about the resources offered throughout the Interlake.

Society were a few of the many organizations willing to share their knowledge.

Another available activity for women to enjoy was creating a felt doll for the Faceless Doll Project — an initiative launched in 2012 by the Native Women's Association of Canada.

The project raises awareness for the more than 600 missing and murdered Indigenous women and girls in Canada. The women were encouraged to make their own doll to post on the board which is used as a travelling art exhibit throughout Manitoba.

"We've made over 50 dolls here to-day ... It's so neat to see what designs and outfits the women come up with," said Donna Hawes, who was running the doll construction area and works as a child care worker at Nova House.

The women and children's centre has been organizing Women's Wellness Day for more than 15 years. Originally, the event was open only to Nova House clients, but Curle says they realized it was important for all women in the Interlake to participate.

"All women can benefit from the information given here and it's a great way to learn about what services are offered," she said.

In special recognition of victims and survivors, the event opened its doors an hour early for Nova House clients before inviting the public to join too.

> 'CHRISTINE DIDN'T DIE NATURALLY,' FROM PG. 6

At the June 3 press conference, WPS Sgt. John O'Donovan said they believe Wood's remains have been buried near Dugald since last August. He added police believe they know how she was killed and how the body was transported to the service road, but declined to give that information as it was something police were "going to keep for court."

"We do know the cause of death and we do know that Christine didn't die naturally," he said.

O'Donovan said there are no other suspects in the case, but confirmed WPS would continue to investigate the case until they go to court.

Overby appeared in court Monday in connection with Wood's death. A court-ordered publication ban covers all evidence introduced during the bail hearing.

MKO Grand Chief Sheila North Wilson said that Thursday's discovery, while a sad conclusion, will help bring some healing to the Wood family.

"(Melinda Wood is) very happy that (her daughter) has been found, but of course very sad that she is gone because I think that they always had a slim hope that she was alive," North Wilson said. "Now that we've come to this reality, we are just thankful and grateful that now they will have a little bit of closure and have a place to bring her home to."

North Wilson said the fact Wood's remains were found on the final day of the first public hearings into the National Inquiry into Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women in Whitehorse was not lost on her.

"This is not an easy process by any means ... but it has to keep going because obviously this phenomenon in Canada, this national tragedy, keeps happening and we have to find a way to stop the murder and taking away of our indigenous girls," North Wilson noted. "I think this is a reminder of how difficult the inquiry is and has been so far. We have to keep going and we have to find answers."

Gender equality workshop brings business owners together

By Maggie Wysocki

It's been over a century since Nellie McClung fought for women to be considered "qualified persons," but for a group of local women, that fight isn't over yet.

Last Tuesday, 15 women gathered at the Mighty Kiwi Juice Bar and Eatery for a gender equality workshop entitled "You Are Worth It!"

The workshop, which was co-hosted by the Selkirk Biz and the Business and Professional Women's Club of Selkirk, discussed pay gaps, women's role in the workforce and discrimination.

"The Mighty Kiwi seemed like the perfect place to host ... it showcases two female partners opening a business," said Sheri Skalesky, executive director of the Selkirk Biz.

The two-hour workshop encouraged an open-discussion where participants shared their own experiences in the workplace.

A few participants mentioned how proud they are that Selkirk was the first city in Canada to declare Equal Pay Day, which was on March 18 this past year.

For the Mighty Kiwi owners, the workshop was an opportunity to network with other local female entrepreneurs.

"As small business owners and women in business, connecting to the community is important ... this seemed like a good way to do so," said co-owner Jocelyn Kreml.

Since the women opened their store in March, they said the community support has been great, yet they've still faced some discrimination as young women.

"People will sometimes walk in and say "oh you guys run this place?" but that's usually towards how young we are," Kreml said.

Regardless of their struggles, the owners say they encourage women to open their own businesses.

"Definitely go for it ... work hard and make it happen," Kreml said.

Selkirk woman hopes petition will help save bus service

By Lindsey Enns

A Selkirk woman has started a petition with hopes of driving home the city's need for a bus service to Winnipeg.

Sherryl Peters started the "Continued bus service from Selkirk to Winnipeg" petition online at Change.org on Sunday. As of Tuesday afternoon, the petition had gathered 37 signatures.

Peters, who doesn't have a driver's licence and relies on either a bus service or her parents to get her to Winnipeg on a regular basis to attend medical appointments, says she hopes to collect at least 99 signatures before she delivers the petition to Selkirk's mayor and council.

Exclusive Bus Lines announced late last month that they will be cancelling their Selkirk to Winnipeg route starting Sept. 2 due to unpredictability and decline in ridership.

Peters said she has relied on Beaver Bus Lines and then Exclusive Bus Lines to get her to Winnipeg since she moved to Selkirk 13 years ago.

"This not only affects the people of Selkirk but those that live in Lockport as well," Peters writes on her online petition. "We just lost services by Beaver Bus Lines and now are losing Exclusive Bus Lines as well. People rely on this service to get to Winnipeg whether it be for school, work or medical appointments. Transportation costs are not cheap and not every person drives a vehicle or has a licence.

"The goal of this petition is to get enough signatures to bring to our mayor and to city council."

Peters said she hopes the City of Selkirk can either provide a bus shuttle service of their own to Winnipeg or help remedy the situation in some way before September rolls around.

Selkirk Mayor Larry Johannson said losing another commuter service is "disappointing" for the city.

Johannson added the city plans to reach out to Selkirk MLA Alan Lagimodiere and Selkirk-Interlake-Eastman MP James Bezan and surrounding municipalities to explore other options.

"Other municipalities have to be involved," he said. "We want to make this appealing to another private enterprise."

Johannson said he would like to see the city work with surrounding areas including Interlake communities on developing a public transportation masterplan of some sort.

"We definitely need that, we need public transportation," he said. "I would just like to see other areas involved ... so that if (a bus commuter service) does come back it comes back as a different model.

"I'd just like to see it be a success."

LSSD 50th anniversary celebration like a trip down memory lane

Dear Editor,

I would like to commend the Lord Selkirk School Division for hosting their 50th anniversary event on April 22.

As a student in the Selkirk school system from grades one to twelve, I was able to reminisce about all four schools I attended through those years. Being in the last graduating class of the Selkirk Collegiate Institute (SCI) in June, 1971, I missed out on attending the brand-new "Comp" that opened that fall. But all these years later, we realize it's not the actual buildings we miss, but rather the students and teachers that filled our world at that time and gave us such wonderful memories.

The staff and students of Daerwood and Robert Smith Schools did a great job of highlighting years gone by, and even projecting what the schools might be teaching in the year 2067. Seeing pictures of Devonshire School, where I attended grades 1-4, brought back a flood of memories, too. It was also great to meet my former SCI teacher, Bert Skogan, and former SCI principal, Ed Dyck, at the event and not have them give me heck about something! In their presentations, they both provided entertaining anecdotes and an interesting background of how the division developed over the last 50 years. These gentlemen were remarkable, first-class examples of those who were responsible for my Selkirk education that gave me the tools to attend university and go on to a professional career. (In fact, I was in Bert's first class he ever taught: room 9-4 in 1967).

An added bonus at the event was meeting some former staff and students of my Mom and Dad, who both taught in Selkirk for many years.

Well done, LSSD, and keep up the good, all-important work of educating our youth, just as you did so well with my generation.

John Hollinger of Winnipeg is a former student of Devonshire, Daerwood, Robert Smith and Selkirk Collegiate Institute schools

Tudor House senior joins the 100 club

By Maggie Wysocki

Catherine Long may be the most recent senior at Tudor House to turn 100, but she's certainly not the only one.

"Out of 76 patients here, four of them are over 100 ... it's quite amazing," said one of recreation nurses.

Tudor House's weekly activities, like bingo and Zumba, are the reason Catherine believes so many members are in the 100 club.

"Getting out and going to things is what keeps us young," Catherine told the Record while relaxing in the recliner in her bedroom. "I'm not one for moping around so I never miss a single event."

A nurse said Catherine is always optimistic and gracious to anyone who helps her.

Catherine was born in Ireland on May 28, 1917. At 24, her family moved to England but she says she always held on to her Irish routes.

"I still keep up with the country ... it's good to know what's going on in the world," she said.

In England, Catherine studied nursing where she met her husband, Peter Long.

Together, they had two kids, Karin, 57, and Paul, 60, before deciding to move to Canada in 1965.

"He asked me if I wanted to go and I said, 'When are we leaving?'" she laughs, remembering how exciting the "new land" sounded.

The couple's careers took off once they moved. Catherine received a double license in psychiatric and geriatric nursing at the Selkirk Mental Health Centre. She went on to work in the hospital's administration. Peter became the Director of Nursing at the hospital.

They watched their children grow up in Selkirk and have families of their own, giving them three grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

In 1979, Richard passed away, leaving Catherine with memories of his amazing cooking and ability to host a great dinner party.

"I know I'll see him again. People ask me if I believe in the mumble jumble about the after-life and I say, 'sure why not?'" Catherine said.

So what's the most surprising thing Catherine has seen in her 100 years on earth?

"The world has changed dramatically but

Manitoba archers practice their aim in East Selkirk

As the wind whips through the trees, Taylor Lafflin clears her mind, zones in on her target, slowly pulls back her bow and then releases an arrow.

While those around her watch in silence, her arrow shoots through the air and connects with the soft part of a 3D target of an animal.

"It's not as easy as people think it is," the 15-year-old from Virden said while practicing her aim at the outdoor range in East Selkirk on Sunday afternoon. "It involves a lot of concentration, balance, being able to judge the yardages."

Lafflin was among the roughly 40 other eagle-eyed archers of all ages from across Manitoba taking part in the Heartland Archery Triple Crown 3D Tournament Series in a densely forested area in East Selkirk on Sunday.

Organizers behind the annual gathering said it took about 200 hours to set up the course, which included long walks into the bush to set up a wide range of 3D targets for participants.

"There's a lot of people who shoot in Winnipeg but they don't have an outdoor range so this is a good opportunity to practice," said Roger Garrod of the Selkirk Archers and Bowhunters Club. "It's very competitive for some people and we actually have some national champions here."

Lafflin said she has been competing since her dad first introduced her to bowhunting nearly five years ago.

"It's just fun," the 15-year-old said. "I like to practice anywhere I can."

Kara Richards of Winnipeg also picked up archery after her dad took her bowhunting one year for her birthday.

"I just loved it and I bought my own bow," the 12-year-old said with a smile.

The Selkirk Archers and Bowhunters Club has previously hosted provincial and national events. In 2015 and 2016 the club hosted the Manitoba Provincial Target Championships and was the venue for the 2015 Canadian Field Archery Championships.

Garrod said the club currently has approximately 22 members and they practice year round.

During the spring and summer months they practice at their outdoor range located off Harold Avenue in East Selkirk and during the winter months they head indoors at the Comp.

"We set up a shooting range in there," he said, adding they are always looking for more interested members to join their club.

Those seeking more information about the club can visit their Facebook page by searching "Selkirk Archers & Bowhunters" or by emailing sab@highspeedcrow.ca.

Winnipeg Beach artist drawing portraits of immigrants for Canada's 150th

By Scott Billeck

One Winnipeg Beach resident is using two big anniversaries and her artistic abilities to bring life to the stories of immigrants who have landed in Canada.

Julia Penny has been an artist ever since she can remember her mother getting fed up with her drawing on the walls in their home.

"Ever since I could work a pencil," she said.

Her penchant for drawing portraits, and her own story of immigrating to Canada, has inspired her to celebrate Canada's 150th anniversary and her own anniversary of coming to Canada in 1967 with a unique look at immigrants who have settled in the nearby area, past and present.

Penny is planning on doing 150 portraits of local immigrants, sharing

"Our ship, the Carmania, docked in Montreal in July, 1967," Penny said. "This was a brand new start and even as a child it felt like Canada was saving my life. I am highlighting other immigrants and their stories in gratitude to this amazing country."

"We all have a reason for why, when and how we came here. We homesteaded. We escaped oppression. We came to find a better life for our family. We were sent here alone as children. We were young newly-weds looking to build a new future. We were from every part of the globe."

Penny has roughly 50 names at the moment and has completed 25 pieces, which will be on display for the June Interlake Artists' Studio Tour on Saturday, June 10 and Sunday, June 11 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at The Black Dog Art Studio, located on 320 Alder Avenue in Winnipeg Beach. Admission is free.

"I got one man right now, he's passed away now, but his dad was a chimney sweeper and came over (to Canada) as an orphan and has 300 relatives in her wake," Penny said. "I have another lady who homesteaded a farm and raised her grandchildren in a log cabin. I think they all have some really interesting stories. I wanted to draw portraits of my fellow immigrants."

Penny was born in England but was raised in East Africa, her parents, she says, were somewhat of a nomadic couple. In 1966, her father moved to Canada to find work. A year later, with a job in hand, the rest of the family followed suit.

Penny has been asking around the area, people who have lived in the area for lengthy periods of time and has asked for photographs. Others, she says, includes people of all colours and ethnic backgrounds.

Each portrait is done on 10x10 inch panels, which are sanded down, painted white, and then varnished once she is done. Each portrait will have the person's first name and their story, with lengths of each story depending on what is provided to Penny.

"I've got a lady from British Guiana. I've got Icelanders, Ukrainians, English and Scottish," she said. "I'm trying to include everybody. Everybody has a good story to tell."

Each portrait is for sale, along with Penny's other art, which will also be on display. Penny said she is still looking for more faces and biographies of immigrants. More information can be found on her website, juliapenny.com.

How to plant a tree for successful growth

Why plant trees?

There are plenty of reasons to plant trees. Trees provide a natural form of shade, reducing air temperature by blocking the sun's rays. This can reduce reliance on air conditioning systems and make it more comfortable to spend time outdoors during the summer. Trees absorb and block noise and reduce glare. They also can trap dust, pollen and smoke. Trees also absorb carbon dioxide and potentially harmful gasses from the air. One large tree can supply a day's worth of oxygen for as many as four people, while also storing 13 pounds of carbon per year.

Getting started

Visit a garden center or nursery and select a tree that will be hardy in your planting zone. Choosing native trees can increase the likelihood that the new tree will adapt to its surroundings. Also, inspect trees to determine if they're healthy before taking them home. Look for evidence of root girdling, which occurs when the roots circle around the perimeter of the container and surround the trunk. Trees should not have any dead or dormant branches.

The DIY Network suggests locating the tree where it can thrive. This means selecting a spot that can make it easier for the tree to grow tall and wide. Avoid planting near the house, where roots can crack concrete or asphalt, and always plant away from underground pipes.

Planting the tree

Now it is time to amend the soil. It's not enough to enrich only the soil in the hole where the tree will be placed. Move out into a circular area beyond where the roots will start so that roots can expand and properly anchor the tree. The next method of success is to ensure that the tree has a large enough hole to contain the existing root ball and allow for roots to grow and expand. Better Homes and

Learn the right way to plant a tree to improve the landscape and the environment.

Gardens experts say to prepare a hole that is two to three times as wide as the root ball of the tree. Treat the root ball gently. If the roots are wrapped in burlap, remove the burlap or push it to the bottom of the hole.

Backfill the hole with soil and check that the tree is straight. Stake the tree to help it stay upright and straight until the roots anchor it more effectively. A layer of mulch around the base of the tree can prevent weeds and reduce water loss. Water daily for several weeks until the roots have fanned out.

It's best to leave trees be for the first growing season, only removing broken or diseased limbs. Resist pruning and shaping until the tree has survived its first growing season.

Your Wedding

Bride-to-be, are you struggling to keep your cool as you plan for your rapidly approaching big day? If so, take a look at the top five potential sources of wedding-day drama and our tips to on how to deal.

Potential drama source #1: the planning

It is completely normal to want everything to be perfect for what may be the happiest day of your life. But there's a difference between irritable at times and disagreeable all the time!

Our tip: If you can afford to hire a wedding planner, drop everything and do so right away before skipping to #2. Otherwise, start early — as in, not the month before D-day. Make an exhaustive to-do list and be willing to delegate some tasks to people you trust — but stand your ground and don't let anyone else take control of your day.

Potential drama source #2: the dress

You've always dreamed of a fairy-tale ball gown with all the trimmings, but a look in the fitting room mirror reveals the cold, hard truth: you could be mistaken for the wedding cake.

Our tip: Don't be afraid to step out of your comfort zone, and trust the advice given by trained boutique staff — it's their job to make you look and feel great, after all. When it comes to dresses for your bridal party, just remember the cautionary scene in Bridesmaids. To avoid having your BFFs wish they'd never met you, let them choose a style that suits both their silhouette and their budget. You have final say on the colour, though!

Potential drama source #3: the other half

Ever since you announced your engagement you've been sending out rather mixed messages. You want your fiancé to add his touch to the wedding, but you keep shooting down his ideas. You won't stop saying that all that matters is to have fun on the big day, but keep reminding your soon-to-be husband that his buddies better be on their best behaviour — or else.

Our tip: Instead of wasting precious time and energy on bickering, take a deep breath and remember that a wedding involves two people. The big day should be a reflection of you as a couple (of which you're both equal parts).

Potential drama source #4: social media

Are you a tad obsessed with turning your online followers green with envy at the sight of your picture-perfect wedding posts?

Our tip: It takes more than a vintage filter (or four) to achieve professional-worthy results to share on your feed. It also takes more than a DSLR camera to be a wedding photographer, so do your homework and hire someone worthy of the title. And about those DIY decorations that bloggers and magazine writers always advertise as "super-easy to make": run a few trial sessions with some of your artistically gifted friends, and refrain from angrily ripping up your creation because it's not identical the Pinterest post you were trying to emulate. Not everyone is an arts-and-crafts wizard — you can hire a decorator, you know.

Potential drama source #5: your mirror

The thought of waking up on your wedding day with a huge zit (or a cold sore, or a sunburn, or massive dark circles or a creepy third eye) might keep you up at night, but these things do happen (well, most of them anyway).

Our tip: To avoid feeling like you should keep your veil on all day (or worse, take flight à la Runaway Bride), have your beauty team — hair whisperer, makeup queen et al. — by your side to doll you up before you walk down the aisle. And don't sweat the small stuff! No blemish in the world is big enough to steal your thunder.

You'll see — your wedding is going to be absolutely beautiful. You know why? Because it'll be yours. And, most of all, because you'll have successfully preserved both your loved ones' sanity and your own — that's what we'd call a happy ending.

Volunteers transform communities. The Selkirk & District Community Foundation has certainly known this to be true over the last 22 years.

From past to present board members, volunteers and grant recipients, it has been incredible to see the difference this organization has made over the years. It is the dedication, tenacity and commitment of this wonderful community that has secured our stature as "Here for Good".

Over 22 years ago, Hugh Arklie, Executive Director of the Thomas Sill Foundation said, "Just wait and see what happens with this foundation twenty years from now".

I don't believe anyone would have imagined that we would be granting over one quarter of a million dollars to our community annually by 2017. We have also been able to add a Finance Manager, Eileen Janowski to our hardworking team, consisting of Bev Clegg, our Executive Director and Carole Wiedemann, our Donor Services Representative.

Various Board, Board Chairs and dedicated staff over the last 22 years have moved us from a grass root level foundation to a well-respected one within the Community Foundation of Canada.

As my tenure as Chair of the Selkirk & District Community Foundation comes to an end, I look forward to the future, as I know it is so very bright. I can hardly wait to see where we can go in the next 20 years.

Homes for All Fund

When the volunteers of Homes for the Holidays realized their house and heritage tour was going to be a great success, they knew they needed to find a way to share the rewards.

In just two years, the volunteer team had managed to pay all their bills, make a donation to Nova House Women's Shelter for its new building and still have some money left over.

The group exceeded its goal when philanthropists Jim and Betty Ann Gaynor became patron sponsors of Homes for the Holidays 2016 and pledged $1 for every $2 donated by other sponsors.

So after two years of hosting 1,500 tourists through 19 different private homes, heritage sites and churches, a new fund was created at the SDCF with $20,000 seed money. The fund is called Homes for All and will allow non-profit groups that provide safe and affordable housing to apply for grants.

"Those of us on the tour are fully aware that we are luckier than some. We have warm, safe homes to raise our families. Not everyone has that," said co-founder of Homes for the Holidays Shirley Muir.

"We know there are many hard working community groups in our region whose staff work hard to provide that same comfort for those less fortunate. This fund will be one place they can ask for financial help to repair a roof, put in a wheelchair ramp, buy a new stove or buy bed-bug proof furniture among other things," said Muir.

One of the highlights of Homes for the Holidays 2017 was the Fire Heart Women's Traditional Hand Drum Group and Elder Ruth Christies' story telling at the historic St. Peter Dynevor Old Stone Church, where Chief Peguis is buried.

Vital Signs connects community

Community members at a November 2016 community meeting vote for ideas and themes they feel should be explored in the SDCF Vital Signs study like "belonging, reconciliation, environment, children and youth."

developed programs and supports for marginalized people, including youth and seniors; had more affordable housing; and promoted the recreation, art, culture and heritage of the region, said Shirley Muir, who is helping to lead the Vital Signs study.

"The foundation has taken all those ideas and this year we're having deeper conversations with community leaders to help identify data that sheds light on those issues; if they would like to co-fund the study; and if they have anecdotal stories about why these are areas we need to grow or improve," Muir said.

The SDCF knows the results of Vital Signs can help inform how some of us donate and where the foundation can direct grants in the future, said in-coming SDCF Chair Gord Henrikson.

"This could really chart our growth in the future to make sure the foundation and this community continues to be 'Here for Good'," Henrikson added.

The Vital Signs report will include new Stats Canada data available in the fall of 2017 and be published and distributed early in 2018.

Late last year the Selkirk and District Community Foundation hosted a community meeting to ask, "What makes our community great? What could we do better?" About 80 representatives from dozens of non-profit organizations, businesses, unions and faith based groups, spent four hours digging deep to answer the questions and share their real-life experiences.

It was the launch of Vital Signs, an exercise to collect, interpret and share data to be compiled in a report and used to benchmark the health and well-being of Selkirk, St. Andrews and St. Clements.

People were most proud that the community was compassionate and is able to come together and "get things done".

They felt as a region we would all be better off if we paid more attention to diversity and inclusion;

Members of the Friday Fibres show up at Gaynor Family Regional Library once a week to spin wool together. They've been enjoying their shared passion at the comfort of the library, on new furnishings supported by SDCF.

Chairs tell the story

The original group that huddled together in the early morning hours at the Selkirk General Hospital in 1993 planning what two years later would become the Selkirk and District Community Foundation were dreaming big no doubt, but even they would marvel at the 22-year-old Foundation's success today.

Original chairman Lewis Wasel echoed that sentiment.

"Successive boards have taken the foundation to new heights beyond what I would have imagined when we began," Wasel said.

The early morning meetings were held at the hospital to accommodate the late Dr. Ike Hussain, who could take off his volunteer cap and put on his medical one and go straight to surgery.

Wasel said the original board was honoured when Lieutenant Governor Yvon Dumont attended the foundation's inauguration in 1995.

Bill Findlater was the second chairman, from 2002-2003, an important time in the board's history as Findlater continued momentum building the organization.

Gail Bodman became foundation chair in 2004, and, as she recalled, they were four members short.

"The movers and shakers who started the Foundation had left and new blood was needed," Bodman said.

Four new members were appointed and they set about their work. Bodman said the late Bobby Jefferson was a board member and she "made him work to be there". Of course, 'Bobby J' would go on to be a huge supporter of the Foundation, establishing a golf tournament that to this day raises funds.

During Bodman's tenure the Foundation acquired an office, telephone and answering system, computer and office furniture. They also hired Executive Director Bev Clegg in 2005. Assets grew from $1.8 million in 2003 to $3.5 million in 2008.

Next up in the Chair's seat was Michael Buhr, whose term ran from 2010-2012. Buhr said the Foundation experienced exponential growth in its second decade of existence with both endowment funds and community grants exploding.

"This was not only due to the tremendous work done by the staff and board at the time, but more importantly by the solid foundation laid and the philanthropic seeds planted by the original directors," Buhr said.

Indeed, it was during Buhr's time at the helm that the Foundation received a million dollar gift from Jim and Betty Anne Gaynor – a sure sign that he, and all who had come before him, had earned the respect and confidence of the community.

Frank Wellink became Chair in 2013. He said there were milestones during his two-year term, including increasing to about $7.7 million, but what stands out in his mind is the dedication of the board.

"I would say I still can't get over the commitment of the members of the board," Wellink said.

"They're such a committed group. And also the people in Selkirk who supported the Foundation."

Wellink said he greatly benefitted during his term from the knowledge of Treasurer Bill Bodman, or as Wellink calls him, 'the Financial Wizard'.

Today's Chair, Kelly Lewis said she's witnessed incredible growth during her 6 years on the board, and marvels at the fact the Foundation has been around for 22 years.

The Foundation has gone from being a very hands-on organization, even within Lewis' time, with board members folding letters and placing stamps on envelopes, to one with three staff members and new committees to accommodate all they do today.

"I look back on it, how far we have come in the 22 years. All the hard work, all those volunteers have worked so hard and have helped transform our community," Lewis said.

"Because of the donations that we received, we are able to connect those donors to our grant recipients and we have made a difference in our community."

Community Fund for Canada's 150th grant recipients

The Selkirk and District Community Foundation, together with the Community Fund for Canada's 150th, the Government of Canada and extraordinary leaders from coast to coast, are proud to announce three local recipients of Canada's 150th Awards.

The community volunteers from Homes for the Holidays: House and Heritage tours will bring Lighting the Night for 150 to Selkirk's Manitoba Avenue East the first week of December and turn it into Holiday Alley.

"This will be a legacy project so that there will be lighting available to local shops every year starting on Canada's 150th," says Homes for the Holidays co-founder Shirley Muir.

A $15,000 Canada 150th grant will allow businesses on Manitoba Ave. East to buy outdoor Christmas lights through Holiday Alley and decorate their store front for Light the Night.

Charley Waters of the Selkirk Community Arts Centre says their project, 4 Doors Aboriginal Arts & Film Festival, will bring people together to watch several films, including – "Elder in the Making" and "Two Scoops."

The films were created by Aboriginal artists and offer their view of traumatic events in their, and our, Canadian history.

"It's Canada's 150th, so it's a birthday for Canada but it's not necessarily a celebration for our Indigenous people. We're a community arts centre and art is about growth and change and finding deeper meaning," Waters says.

"We felt this would be a perfect time to share with the community, expand our relationships within our community, and with each other through education. These films are educational, but they're also about connection."

The film festival, which received $6,100, takes place June 16-18. It includes a showing for students at the High School and the public showing at the Gaynor Family Regional Library.

The Marine Museum of Manitoba received $8,900 to create exhibits on the passenger deck of the historic ship Keenora.

"The Canada's 150th grant provides the Marine Museum an opportunity to develop more effective interpretative exhibits to portray the maritime heritage of our community," says Fraser Stewart.

"This region was initially developed on the fishing and water transportation industries of our waterways. We plan to tell more stories of the Indigenous and the newly immigrated peoples who had a major influence on who we are today," said Stewart.

Fight continues with PED virus

By Harry Siemens

The count now is up to 10 cases so far of the PED virus in the Manitoba hog industry.

Dr. Glen Duizer of the Office of Manitoba's Chief Veterinary Officer said there are multiple factors in play with the recent spread of PED in the southeast.

"There are certainly linkages to things such as staff movement to transport, potential contaminations on areas such as load outs," he told a telephone town hall Friday. "We also have some external service providers that may be a link, and we're following up with some of those."

"So far, I would say that things such as feed and feed movements and deadstock have not been linked to the spread of the disease, but we're continuing to follow up. As far as the bigger areas, maybe not associated with movements particular to a given premise, we've looked at things such as drainage and weather patterns, equipment movements, manure application, shared areas such as transport scales.

"We're following up on that type of situation as well. There may be some linkages there."

Duizer said the industry has some risks associated with movement of partial loads where a load is filled at one site then moved to another to complete the load.

"Transport routes themselves, because these areas are close to high-risk high traffic sites such as provincial packing plants and assembly yards, but even then, the transport routes associated with those sites that we did a fair bit of work changing last year, they don't quite match up to the full pattern here either," he said.

Duizer said definitely they're looking at a spread that appears to be happening primarily within geographic areas.

"Six of those farms are in one rough geographic area in what we call roughly a five-kilometre boundary from each infected farm," he said. "That five-kilometre boundary encompasses 33 other premises. Of the six farms in that area, two are farrowing operations and four are finisher operations."

"This is the same area that broke with PED ... relatively close to the same area that broke with PED in the spring of last year in 2016."

Duizer said there is a second area that has three farms break in it. Those are two farrowing operations and one finisher operation, and there are 12 other operations in that area.

"Three of them are cell operations, but I would also add that four of the 12 operations in that area are currently empty. They don't have any pigs in them. This second area is an area that broke with PED in the fall of 2014 and the fall of 2016. We have one additional premise that is outside either area but has a direct animal movement from one of the cell barns in the second area before that cell barn observed clinical signs," he said.

"We actually linked that finisher operation that's outside the two areas back to the second area. We don't consider it a third outbreak area."

Duizer said currently all sites are under biocontainment and control procedures. They are at various stages of cleanup and moving forward with taking infected animals off those sites.

In the cases of the finisher operations, the vast majority of those animals are being moved to the U.S. for slaughter to avoid contaminating packing plants here in Manitoba. As well, the weanlings from the farrowing operations are being moved directly to packing plants in the U.S. and not moving into any assembly yards here in Manitoba.

"Life would be a lot easier if we fully understood how this organism is getting into the farms," said Andrew Dickson, general manager of Manitoba Pork.

"It doesn't walk in itself. It's being brought in. It's being brought in by humans in some way, and of course, there's always this thought of rats bringing it in. Or is it getting in in bird droppings, in feed or something," said Dickson.

"The thinking right now is that it's in the environment somehow, and it's being walked into the barns.

"The producers are stepping up the whole security issue around their barns, like where employees park their cars and that sort of thing ... the whole procedures of going into a barn in terms of the various stages that you go through to get clean. Then there is the issue of how do employees in multiple farm sites move around the facilities without bringing contamination in."

The industry is setting up a disease management area that could involve 30 to 40 farmers in the area between Niverville and Steinbach.

Golf program gives youth a chance to learn the game

By Maggie Wysocki

Most people think of golf as a sport for those who are retired, but the Selkirk Golf and Country Club thinks otherwise.

The local club is hoping to break that stereotype with the Parkers Eagles Youth Program — an opportunity for four elementary school students at Daerwood School to participate in the game all in memory of Parker Sutherland.

“Parker wanted the gift of golf to be passed along to younger generations ... this is exactly that,” said the club’s golf pro, Brad Poleschuk.

Sutherland was involved with the club since the 70s, going on to be the superintendent for 14 years and playing a large part in maintaining the greens during the floods it suffered throughout the 90s.

Because of Sutherland’s commitment to the club and his involvement in the Selkirk community, it made sense for the youth program to be named after him, said Poleschuk.

When the idea was brought to Daerwood School students, four girls jumped at the opportunity.

this season, a set of clubs and weekly lessons with Poleschuk.

“I thought it would be really fun when I heard and I think once I get good enough I’ll play with my grandparents,” said Crowell.

The girls are all friends at school and say they’re excited for a summer filled with playing golf together.

The seventh annual Selkirk Food Bank Golf Tournament is set for Thursday, July 20, at the Selkirk Golf and Country Club. The annual golf tournament is the local food bank’s largest fundraiser each year.

Those interested in being involved either as a participant and/or sponsor is being asked to contact Marv Terhoch at 204-781-4415 or 204-757-4791.

The annual event is the local Rotary Club’s largest fundraiser of the year. Organizers say they will have a better idea of what they raised sometime this week. Last year’s event served up lobster to more than 500 guests and helped raised about $25,000 for the Selkirk Rotary Club and their local projects.

Catfish Carvers create award-winning pieces

By Maggie Wysocki

For some people, wood chips and saw dust come to mind when they picture wood carving.

But for the Catfish Carvers, a group who meets weekly at Selkirk's Gordon Howard Centre, wood carving is all about precision, detail and relaxation.

"It's very calming here and you can just let your imagination run wild," says Iris Bidinosti, who specializes in intricate wood bark carvings.

The Catfish Carvers' creativity paid off in April at the Prairie Canada Carving Championship in Winnipeg where five of the 15 group members brought home ribbons.

The three-day competition has been running for more than 30 years, showcasing talent from across North-America.

This year, the judges examined more than 280 entries that fell into separate categories depending on size, skill level and wood types.

Bidinosti won first place in three categories for a wood bark carving, which she said isn't a wood many carvers work with because of how delicate it is.

Gordon Kanne, who the other members have deemed the "guru" of the club, took home third place for his sculpture of a hand holding a bag of marbles, which he says took him three months to finish.

"You want to think of something you've never seen anyone else do before and your mind is your only barrier," said Kanne, adding that birds are the most common wood carving.

Some of the unique carvings the group saw throughout the competition included dragons and life-size sea turtles.

But the Catfish Carvers say for their group, competing isn't about winning but rather pushing themselves to keep making great art.

"The competition gives us so many great ideas of what to do next. As soon as we leave we're already thinking about what we can create next," said Kanne.

According to the Catfish Carvers, Manitoba has the second-largest community of wood carvers in the country and they hope to keep growing.

"Carvers are very generous in their advice," Bidinosti said with a smile, encouraging community members and the surrounding area residents to join their group, who meets on Tuesday afternoons.

It was the late Dr. Ian Reid, a well-known surgeon in Selkirk, who started the Catfish Carvers more than 25 years ago. The club says he's remembered for his sculptures of realistic human bodies.

"He was our mentor. He was actually the one who encouraged us to compete and we're trying to honour his memory," said Kanne.

"He's still with us in spirit," added Bidinosti.

Miss Teen Manitoba looks to support local communities

By Maggie Wysocki

Miss Teenage Manitoba 2017, Genavieve Greene, may not be from the Selkirk area, but she says that won't stop her from using her platform to support the community.

"I'm representing Manitoba and that's a big deal so I really want to get involved in whatever way I can in different communities," Greene said.

Whether it's a fair, festival or fundraiser, Greene says she'll make an appearance in the hopes of making a difference.

Greene's hoping to reach out to Manitoba's youth, spreading the world about pageants to young girls.

"I totally recommend it to anyone in the area," she said, adding that it was nothing like she had seen on TV.

"I want every girl to embrace the concept that myself and the other ladies I competed with were continuously reminded of throughout the pageant, 'Be your own kind of beautiful.'"

The 17-year-old received her title in April at the pageant hosted at the Holiday Inn Hotel. It was Greene's first time competing and she said the interview segment of the competition was her favourite.

"I've always liked interviews and I like to talk about what I'm passionate about," she said.

For Greene, that passion is found in advocating for animal rights and fundraising for congenital heart disease.

"Both of my dogs had heart disease and I want to make people more aware that it's something that happens to animals too."

She'll put her passion to action on June 25 at the annual Paws in Motion Walk put on by the Winnipeg Humane Society.

Support from local businesses is another task on the agenda, Greene says.

She's looking for sponsors to help finance her trip to Toronto in August where she'll compete against girls from around the country for a national title.

For updates about Greene's community work, follow her blog missteenangemanitoba.com.

Selkirk loses in high school lacrosse consolation final

By Brian Bowman

The Selkirk Royals lost 8-7 to Glenlawn Collegiate in the Division 2 consolation final of the high school lacrosse playoffs last week in Winnipeg.

Selkirk started its playoffs with a hard-fought 6-4 loss to River East and then defeated Westwood 10-7.

"We had some very good games," Royals' head coach Chris PoPONICK said. "I can't complain about the guys that were there. We were pretty short staffed – a number of people had work commitments and we had lots of injuries."

The Royals finished their first game on Sunday with no spares and then just had two extra players in their final game.

The lack of spare players does affect a team a lot, said PoPONICK.

"We have to be strategic," he said. "When you do get possession of the ball, you kind of work it around and control your energy. It's tough on the (midfielders) because they go both ends of the field."

Despite a lack of players, the Royals did a real good job on the offensive end last weekend. Selkirk scored 21 goals in the three games but, at times, was guilty of taking too many penalties.

"If it wasn't for a lack of discipline in the first game, I think we probably would have won that game," PoPONICK said confidently. "I think they put in three or four power-play goals of their

Steelers select talent in MJHL draft

By Brian Bowman

The Manitoba Junior Hockey League's annual draft of 15-year-old players took place last Sunday in Winnipeg.

The Selkirk Steelers' first-round pick (eighth overall) was Oakbank centre Caiden Gault. Gault played last season for the Eastman Selects.

In the second round (19th overall), Selkirk selected Winnipeg forward Adam Krestanowich, who played last year for the Monarchs.

With their third pick (fourth round, 41st overall), the Steelers grabbed Oakbank defenceman Ethan McColm. McColm was a teammate of Gault with Eastman.

Selkirk then looked west to pick Oakville's Cody Blight in the fifth round. Blight, a centre, played last season for the Rink H.A. Nationals Bantam Prep team.

With their final pick of the draft, the Steelers snagged Winnipeg Hawks' forward Tyrone Willan.

The Steelers' two local auto-protect players were Carl Ingalls of St. Andrews and Jordan Donald of Selkirk. Both played last season with the Winnipeg Hawks.

This year's No. 1 overall pick belonged to the Waywayseecappo Wolverines, who selected right-winger Jake Poole of the Yellowhead Chiefs.

The MJHL draft consisted of six rounds with each MJHL team allocated one pick per round with the draft order being based on the order of finish by teams in last season's standings.

The team that finished last in the standings received the first pick in the draft and the selections followed in that same order for the rest of the draft.

The MJHL draft is very important for teams to stock up their talent pool for future years.

"The annual draft for the league is always a special event in that it propels teams forward when they select young players who will develop into stars on their MJHL clubs," MJHL commissioner Kim Davis said on the league website.

"The draft is also the final major event in the league's annual calendar so it's a great way to wrap up the season."

Blue Jays chirping loudly in junior baseball league

By Brian Bowman

With summer finally here, the birds outside have been loudly chirping.

So, it was only fitting that the Interlake Blue Jays did a whole lot of chirping last week in the Manitoba Junior Baseball League.

The Blue Jays capped off a tremendous week – which saw the club roll to three straight wins – with an impressive road sweep over the Pembina Valley Orioles on Sunday.

Interlake doubled Pembina Valley 6-3 in Game 1 and then pounded the Orioles 13-3.

“It was a pretty good week for us,” said Blue Jays’ head coach Adam Kirk. “We had a real rough start (to the season) while we were trying to figure some things out and trying to find our identity.”

In Game 1, Pembina Valley scored a run in the fourth and then added two more in the sixth. But Interlake battled back with six runs in the seventh for the comeback win.

Derek Petrasko led the Blue Jays with four hits while Baily Proctor and Martin Knutson had two hits apiece.

Emerson Klimpke pitched all seven innings for the win, scattering six hits while striking out four.

Game 2 saw the Blue Jays trail 3-1 after three innings but their offence caught fire in the final three innings. Interlake scored twice in the fifth and then added five runs in both the sixth and seventh innings.

Interlake hosted the Brandon Marlin last Friday but that game was postponed due to inclement weather with the score tied at 2-2 in the fourth inning. That game is scheduled to resume June 23.

The Blue Jays won their first game of the season May 31 after they edged the St. Boniface Legionaires 6-5 in a thriller in Stonewall.

St. Boniface took a 5-3 lead with a pair of runs in the top of the seventh but Interlake came right back with three in the bottom half of the inning for the walk-off win.

“Instead of rolling over and losing the game, the boys came back and had a walk-off win,” Kirk said proudly. “The St. B game boosted everyone’s confidence. The guys were pretty down on themselves after we got pumped pretty bad by a couple of teams.”

St. Boniface started the game by scoring three runs in the first inning but Interlake came back with runs in the second, third and fifth innings.

Lane Holden and Brennan Cheasley led the Blue Jays with two hits apiece. Holden also scored a run while Klimpke (two), Chayce Topolnitsky, Ethan Garrett and Tanner Good each crossed the plate.

Petrasko pitched the final inning – giving up two runs – but still picked up the win.

Brennan Cheasley is safe at first after a close play against the St. Boniface Legionaires on May 31 in Stonewall. Interlake won the game 6-5 and are now on a three game winning streak.

With the three victories last week, Interlake improved its record to 3-5 and the Blue Jays were four games back of first-place Brandon (8-2) heading into this week’s action.

Interlake hosted the Carillon Sultans (5-3) last night (no score was available) and then the second-place Elmwood Giants (6-2) will visit Stonewall on Friday. The Blue Jays will continue their five-game homestand by hosting the Altona Bisons in a doubleheader this Sunday (1 p.m. and 4 p.m.) and then Carillon will be here again next Wednesday. First pitch is 7 p.m. for the Carillon game.

Selkirk Dolphins sighted in Vancouver

By Brian Bowman

Dolphins can often be seen swimming off the coast of beautiful British Columbia.

But a pair of Selkirk Dolphins was located in Vancouver recently.

Dolphins’ coach Michelle Stamm and 15-year-old swimmer Jillian Friesen of Arborg were in the big city last month to participate in Team Toba Prospects West and the Mel Zajac international swim meet.

The local duo was part of Manitoba’s contingent of four male and four female swimmers, along with two coaches, that took part in the annual Prospects West camp.

“The first three days was training camp, so we stayed at the UBC campus,” Stamm explained Tuesday afternoon. “We competed at the new pool at the University of B.C.”

The training camp was for elite swimmers and coaches from Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Swimmers learned quite a bit in a short period of time.

“They worked on some technical aspects of racing,” Stamm explained.

Friesen, a member of the Canada Games Target Squad for Manitoba, also participated in several camps throughout the year in Winnipeg.

“(Jillian) is getting better all of the time,” Stamm noted. “They live in Arborg and it’s a lot of commitment travelling. The drive alone every day is two-and-a-half hours there and back.”

The camp was followed by the Mel Zajac swim meet, which included swimmers from the Canadian Junior and Senior National Teams and the U.S. Junior National Team.

“It was very entertaining,” Stamm said. “It was a well-run meet and it was really good. It was nice to see because we don’t get to see that type of competition much.”

Friesen swam very well at the Mel Zajac meet, said Stamm.

The Dolphins, as a program, have had a great year in the pool. And they will be hoping to continue their success when they have “13 or 14 swimmers” compete at the provincials June 24.

After that, Selkirk will have swimmers compete at Man/Sask in Winnipeg from July 5-8.

“We have had a really strong 11 and over group (this year),” Stamm said. “And our strongest group is our 12, 13, and 14 year olds.”

Locals reach the podium at national judo championships

Submitted by Brian Jones
Four Selkirk Judo Club members competed at the Canadian National Championships in Calgary on May 26-28.
There were over 800 entries in this competition from across Canada.
Sarah Ekosky, 13, won a silver medal in U16 girls under-52 kg. Ekosky was granted special permission to compete at the nationals as she was below the age requirements for the U16 division.
In her category of 12 fighters, she won her first three matches in impressive style before dropping a hard-fought gold-medal final to Emma Waldwell from Alberta.
Meanwhile, Damien Ekosky, in his first year in the U21 age division, won bronze in the under-73 kg weight category. There were 15 competitors in this division.
Damien won his opening match again Daniel Marjerrison from Ontario. He lost his second match to a fighter from Quebec, before regaining his form and winning three straight matches to claim bronze.

Damien defeated long-time nemesis, Mitchell Wolfe from B.C., in the bronze-medal match. Damien's bronze medal adds to a growing collection of national medals (gold in 2014 - U16 and 2016 U18) and bronze in 2013 (U16).
Damien also competed in the Senior Men under 73 kg division but did not place. Selkirk teammates Aaron Haak (U18 under-81 kg) and Justin Ekosky (U18 under-66 kg and U21 under-66 kg) fought well in their divisions but did not reach the podium. Justin finished ninth out of 28 competitors in his U18 division.
"Our athletes had a strong performance at nationals after a year of hard work preparing and developing their judo," said one of the Selkirk club's coaches, Brian Jones.

Lough commits to Minot State

Staff
Former Selkirk Steelers' forward Rhett Lough has committed to the Minot State Beavers for next season.
Lough, a Winnipeg product, recorded 45 points (16 goals, 29 assists) last season split between Waywayseecappo and the Winnipeg Blues. He began his MJHL career with the Steelers.
"Rhett is a very talented playmaking forward," Minot head coach Wade Regier said in a statement. "He is a player who has had a tremendous career in the Manitoba Junior League. With the loss of important forwards to graduation, Rhett fills a big need up front in our lineup."
Lough is expected to make a big contribution in his first collegiate season.
"It is often tough to ask a lot out of your freshman, but we fully expect Rhett to step in and make an impact as soon as he arrives in Minot," Regier said. "Rhett is also a very smart individual and (we) look forward to adding him into our locker room next season."

The MJHL was well represented on the Beavers' roster last season with seven players - Craig Fournier (Waywayseecappo), Robby Moar (Neepawa), Sam Briscoe (Neepawa), Dylan Gejdos (Waywayseecappo), Johl Swedlo (Waywayseecappo), Carey Morrison (Selkirk) and goaltender Josh Bykowski (Portage) - on the roster.

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

OBITUARY

Stan Bilinski

December 22, 1915 – May 27, 2017

Peacefully at Red River Place in Selkirk, Manitoba, Stan Bilinski passed away on Saturday, May 27, 2017 at the age of 101 years.

Stan was born on December 22, 1915 in Hazelridge, Manitoba, the third youngest of nine children. Adopted at an early age, he would be reunited with his biological siblings later in life. Stan grew up on the farm and went to school in the Rosedale area of Manitoba. He was a very hard worker and worked many jobs in his lifetime. His first job was shoveling snow at the CPR Transcona yards, and he went on to work at Riedle's Brewery, Northwest Brass, Dominion Foundry, Princess Tire and Fort Garry Tire. Stan also farmed all his life and it was while he worked with a travelling harvesting crew that he met Frieda Schimunek. They dated, fell in love, and were married on July 15, 1950. Their love and devotion to each other was like no other. Stan enjoyed farming and together they worked a small farm in Cloverdale for many years. It was here they made a home and raised their family—a daughter Lorraine, and a son, Allen. They eventually moved into Selkirk in retirement. They shared many adventures together, including a trip to Hawaii, camping in Thief River Falls, trips across Canada and spending many winter months in Arizona.

Stan also enjoyed working with his hands and being on the farm; there was always something to fix. Stan also drove Bus # 24 for the Lord Selkirk School Division for 21 years, and after his retirement continued his love for driving and drove the bus for Gordon Howard Seniors Centre. Stan gradually lost his eye sight due to glaucoma and when he could no longer drive, he turned to his love of old time music, especially fiddle and polka music. In his younger years, Stan and Frieda could always be found on the dance floor, and hosted many New Year's Eve parties in their home for friends and neighbours. After Frieda's sudden passing in 2012, Stan moved to Red River Place in Selkirk and lived for the "Polka Party" program on CFMY radio, where he could listen to his favorite polka tunes every Saturday night and mentally relive his love of music and dance. He also lived for and enjoyed having his favourite home-made meals brought to him.

Stan will be remembered and missed by his children Lorraine (Fred), Al (Carol); grandchildren Karyn (Russ), Karla (Mike), Chris, Jaime (Mason); and great-granddaughters Natalie and Isabelle. Stan was predeceased by his wife of 62 years Frieda in 2012; as well as all eight siblings: Dora, John, Carrie, Minnie, Tony, Frank, Beatrice and Annie.

The family would like to thank the staff at Red River Place who cared for Stan, and also to Dr. R. Lindenschmidt for his care over the years.

A funeral service will be held on Friday, June 9 at 3:00 pm. in the Gilbart Funeral Home, 309 Eveline Street, Selkirk, Manitoba, with interment to follow the service in the Selkirk Lutheran Cemetery. A gathering of family and friends will follow the interment.

Condolences may be left at www.gilbartfuneralhome.com
